HOUSE OK'S FARM RELIEF BILL

FRAMEUP TO AID INSULL CHARGED BY ETTELSON

Attacks "Friendly Receivership."

(Picture on Back Page)

Samuel A. Ettelson, former corporation counsel, charged yesterday at a federal bankruptcy hearing that Samuel Insull and a group of Chicago and New York bankers had "framed" the receiverships of the various Insull utility and investment companies now being administered in the court of Federal Judge Walter C. Lindley.

Mr. Ettelson declared that Insull and the bankers had joined in a scheme to name as receivers and attorneys for the insolvent Insull companies a group of men known to be friendly to the deposed utility magnate, who, subsequent to the failure of his companies, was indicted on a charge of embezzlement and is now a fugitive in Greece.

Names Former Partner.

He added that Daniel J. Schuyler, once his own law partner and personal attorney for Insull and now attorney for the receivers of the Middle West Utilities company, had joined Attorney Lawrence Allen, former county judge at Danville, Ill., to carry out the program which he said Insull had laid out. Mr. Allen is attorney for Calvin Fentress, receiver for Insull Utility Investments, Inc.

In alluding to Mr. Allen, Mr. Ettelson said he intended no reflection on Judge Lindley, a fellow townsman and old friend of the former Danville county judge. Messrs. Schuyler, Allen, and others in the case, he maintained, were "imposing" on Judge Lindley.

In the course of his statement Mr. Ettelson made an attack on Attorneys Lewis F. Jacobson and Harold F. White, counsel for the petitioning creditors of Insull Utility Investments, Inc., bankrupt 250 million dollar holding company. These attorneys, he charged, had spent nine months "wrangling over collateral with New York and Chicago banks without making a single effort to unearth the corruption practiced by Insull himself."

Overruled by Referee.

Stung by the Ettelson charges, Mr. Jacobson tried repeatedly to interrupt, but was overruled each time by the referee, Garfield Charles, Judge Lindley's appointee. The accusations, said Referee Charles, were "of such a nature that they could not be overlooked, but demand investigation and submission of proof."

The charges were made at a meeting called by Referee Charles in his chambers at 100 West Monroe street for election of a trustee by the creditors of Insull Utility Investments, Inc. The courtroom was crowded with investors, small and large. Attorney White had proposed the name of Receiver Fentress as trustee, when Mr. Ettelson arose.

Ettelson Makes Protest.

"I desire to protest against the selection of Mr. Fentress," he announced. "I charge that the filing of these proceedings was a frameup in the interest of Samuel Insull and that Mr. Fentress was selected through the influence and by direction of Samuel Insull, who is the real bankrupt in this case."

The courtroom buzzed with excitement as Ettelson uttered his charge. Investors stood up to get a better view as he launched into a recital of a meeting he said was held between Insull, Abner J. Stilwell of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, Edward E. Brown of the First National bank, and a group of New York bankers in New York a few days before the companies went into receivership. It was at that meeting, he charged, that Insull and the bankers agreed on the roster of receivers and attorneys.

"Like Witches in Macbeth."

"Like the three witches in Macbeth, the Middle West Utilities company, Insull Utility Investments, and Corporation Securities company, they all go along together and sing over this caldron pot," Mr. Ettelson remarked.

"There are two billion dollars involved in these three cases, and hundreds of thousands of people have been ruined by the machination, skullduggery and fraud of the men who ran these companies, and more havoc wrought through these receiverships than in any other in history."

Mr. Jacobson broke in: "If your honor please."

"Mr. Jacobson can't shut me off, not before this referee," Mr. Ettelson snapped. The referee instructed him to proceed.

"I contend that the malign influ

PICKETING WILL CEASE; TROOPS TO RULE FIELDS

Unionists, Police to Surrender Arms.

BY PARKE BROWN.

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—A big stride toward the restoration of peace in the Christian county mining district was announced at midnight tonight at the close of a series of conferences held in the executive mansion at the call of Gov. Henry Horner.

The governor had devoted every moment of the day to this task and succeeded first in a conference with spokesmen for the United Mine Workers' union and the Progressive Mine Workers in effecting a truce between those two rival organizations.

Then, calling in the officials of Christian county and of Kincaid, Taylorville, Tovey, and Jerseyville, an agreement was brought about for carrying out the terms of the truce.

Basis of Truce.

The basis of the truce was stated in exact terms—that there shall be no picketing, that special deputies and special policemen shall be disarmed, that unionists shall surrender all arms in their possession, and that no one shall bear arms except National Guardsmen, who will have complete charge of maintaining law and order.

Four companies of the Guard are now on duty in the county and, with the disarmament policy in effect, it is believed that force will suffice. If more troops are needed they will be called out.

In the truce conference the state participants, in addition to Gov. Horner, were Adj. Gen. Carlos E. Black and Assistant Attorney General Montgomery S. Winning. The miners' spokesmen were Fox Hughes, John H. Walker, Walter D. Nesbit for the United Workers, and Claude Pearcy, William Keck, and George N. Dowel for the Progressives.

Formal Satement Issued.

The formal statement issued by the conferees was as follows:

"Pending the result of efforts on the part of the governor to settle the differences that have arisen among the men engaged in the mining industry of this state, he has been assured in a conference with the state officers of two mine unions of their full coöperation. During these negotiations the National Guard is to assume full charge of maintaining peace and order in Christian county.

"To accomplish this the sheriff of Christian county has agreed to discharge all special deputies and the mayor of Taylorville and the respective village presidents of Kincaid, Tovey, Bulpitt, and Jerseyville have agreed to discharge all special policemen appointed by them and to turn over to the commanding officer of the National Guard, during negotiations, all arms in the possession of the special officers.

Call for All Arms.

"The governor has been authorized by the officers of the two mine unions to call upon all members of their respective organizations to turn over to the commanding officer all arms in their possession and to coöperate with the National Guard in maintaining order.

"The governor has been also authorized by the officers of the Progressive Miners' union to direct their members to refrain from picketing the mines during negotiations.

"The governor is greatly encouraged by the disposition which has been manifested by the officers of the two state unions. He believes they have taken steps which will encourage all good citizens to work with him to restore normal conditions in the mining regions. With their coöperation law and order will prevail, and thus one of the conditions which has tended to delay the return of normal conditions will disappear.

Will Maintain Order.

"The governor is determined to maintain law and order throughout the state and to prevent bloodshed and the destruction of property and will use all means properly within his control to that end."

"Do not say that peace has been restored," Gov. Horner asked the reporters to whom the statement was given, "but that the way has been opened for it."

AN ARGUMENT IN FAVOR OF SOUND MONEY

Write an End to 34 Years of Trust—In Jail

Thirty-four years ago an eager boy of 13 years walked into the law office of Attorney Patrick L. McArdle and asked for a job. McArdle had just opened his office and his budget did not include an office boy, but impressed by the boy's alert manner he hired him.

For a time the boy did nothing but help McArdle wait for clients. During the hours of leisure McArdle freshened his knowledge of law by instructing the boy, who proved an apt pupil. As the business grew the boy performed his duties ably until he won the affection of his employer.

Sends Boy to Law School.

McArdle looked upon him as a younger brother and later as a son. He sent the boy through law school. When the boy completed his course and became Attorney Anthony J. Schmidt, McArdle gave him space in his suite at 30 North La Salle street, although he did not enter into partnership with him. The attachment grew with the years.

Yesterday McArdle appeared in the office of Chief of Detectives Schoemaker. He asked for two policemen to make an arrest. When he attempted to tell why he wanted the men his voice broke with sobs. The chief sent Detectives Benjamin Englesman and John Braigel with him.

McArdle went to his suite, flung open the door to Schmidt's office and said, "Arrest that man." McArdle sank into a chair. Schmidt bowed his head. . . . .

Hears Stories of Fraud.

"Several weeks ago people came to see me about Schmidt and told of being victimized by him," McArdle said. "At first I would not believe them, but at last even I was convinced. The final proof was a real estate mortgage which he sold me four years ago for $2,500. On investigation I learned that no such property existed."

Among other complainants against Schmidt is Roy M. Getschow, 32 West Austin avenue, who gave Schmidt $2,200 with which to pay taxes. The taxes have not been paid. Mrs. Anna Blazek, a scrubwoman, 1624 String street, said she lost $4,000 on a fake mortgage. Elizabeth Herman, 2435 North Springfield avenue, and Victor Sibore, 105 South La Salle street, said they gave Schmidt money to pay taxes.

"Look at this," McArdle said to the policemen. He produced his will, which included a bequest of $5,000 to Schmidt. He tore up the will as Schmidt was led away by the detectives. Later he was charged with embezzlement and obtaining money under false pretenses.

4 WOMEN SEE BAKER KILLED BY HOLDUP MAN

Paul Frankenhauser, 54 years old, was shot and killed by a young robber yesterday in his bakery at 3438 Southport avenue. Frankenhauser's wife and three other women saw the slaying. The bandit, apparently a novice, fled without looting the cash register.

The robber entered the store twice. The first time he said something about his car and walked out. A minute later he returned. Frankenhauser was in the rear of the bakery with his sister-in-law, Mrs. Nettie Streh. Two customers, Mrs. Eva Russell and her niece, Miss Eva Kerver, both of 3433 Janssen avenue, preceded the bandit into the store.

Mrs. Frankenhauser, who was at the front of the store, called to her sister to aid her in waiting on the customers. At this moment the robber reached for his pistol. Frankenhauser walked toward him and the bandit fired twice. One shot hit the baker in the abdomen and the other went into the floor. The robber fled.

Bomb Home; Link It with Cab Arrests

Damage of several hundred dollars was caused early today by a bomb exploded in a doorway at 3722 Ogden avenue. The first floor is unoccupied, and it was assumed the blast was directed at Joseph J. Killackey, paving inspector employed in the board of local improvements, who occupies a third floor flat. The second floor is vacant.

Killackey said he is a cousin of Police Lieutenant James J. Killackey, head of the public vehicle license bureau of the city, who obtained warrants yesterday for sixty chauffeurs of the Public Taxi Service company, alleging they were operating without licenses. On these warrants about twenty drivers were arrested last night on the north side.

Thought Mistake in Identity.

One theory advanced by investigators was that there had been a mistake in identity and the bomb was intended to frighten the police lieutenant.

Killackey and his wife were at home when the bomb was set off. Fifteen minutes later he received a telephone call. The caller said, "You know what that's for." The paving inspector traced the phone call to a public booth in the North Western station.

According to Killackey, he had no known enemies. He said that he had been with the board of local improvements for several years and was previously a field supervisor for the bureau of internal revenue.

Sergt. Timothy Donovan of the detective bureau was unable to determine the motive for the blast after Police Lieutenant Killackey denied relationship to the south side Killackey. The lieutenant resides at 148 North Mason avenue and insisted that if any one wanted to bomb him it was easy to get the right home.

More Warrants to Be Served.

Warrants for the Public Cab drivers not served yesterday are to be served today, it was said. They were all issued at the lieutenant's request yesterday by Judge Robert J. Dunne. Some of the men arrested last night complained that they had been granted licenses by Killackey's bureau.

The Public company, which charges lower rates than the Yellow and Checker Cab companies, recently was given permission to operate 24 cabs pending the redrafting by a city council subcommittee of the city's taxicab regulation ordinance. According to Lieut. Killackey, the company has violated its agreement with the aldermen to operate only 24 cabs by putting 44 cabs on the street. Some of the cabs are operating on double shifts, thus giving employment to the sixty men named in the warrants.

Idle Men Get Hotel Service, Weber Finds

A doorman, five ushers, and a number of shelter leaders are among the employés necessary to minister to the comforts of the inmates of Chicago's relief shelters for idle men, according to a report prepared yesterday by County Commissioner Charles Weber. He recently was appointed chairman of a committee to investigate expenditures in the shelters.

His report also disclosed that Socialist meetings are encouraged by the shelter officials; that the pay rolls of the shelters were increased 33 per cent on Dec. 1 by the creation of at least thirty-five new jobs. Commissioner Weber also charged that large waste is caused by the duplication of federal, state, and county agencies providing work for idle men.

Ushers for the Shelters.

"The residents of our shelters get service which can only be duplicated by the finest hotels or by the city's moving picture palaces," Commissioner Weber said. "They have ushers and doormen, moving picture operators, five physicians, two dentists, a foreman of handicrafts and his assistant, a physical instructor, and a brace of orderlies.

"No wonder that bums and hobos from all over the United States come to Chicago. We give them food, shelter, baths, clean and new clothing, entertainment, and—if I do not mistake the import of the pay rolls—we even make it easy for them to earn money while they are getting all this for no charge."

The examination of the pay rolls of the Chicago Clearing House for Men, which is directed by Robert E. Beasley, under the Illinois Emergency Relief commission disclosed that salaries for last November totaled $2,926, the report showed. In December the same rolls aggregated $3,913, according to the report.

New Jobs Are Created.

Among the new jobs which were created for the shelter inmates during the latter month and the monthly salaries paid for each were the following:

Jobs—	Salaries.
1 messenger	$ 37.50
1 movie operator	34.00
5 shelter leaders, each	28.00
5 shelter physicians, average	130.00
1 foreman of handicraft	33.50
1 assistant foreman of handicraft	27.50
5 ushers	23.50
1 tailor	45.00
1 dentist	130.00
1 assistant dentist	39.50
1 physical instructor	23.00
3 case recording clerks	32.50
2 orderlies	30.50

The pay rolls also show that, in addition to two engineers and a janitor each shelter has a building superintendent, a plumber, a day and a night fireman, and a carpenter. These jobs, along with most of the newly created positions, constitute pay roll padding the commissioner charged.

Many Not Illinois Residents.

A questioning of a number of residents at the shelters disclosed that most of the shelter jobholders are not residents of Illinois. Director Beasley the report discloses, is a native of Great Falls, Mont.

Many shelter men informed Commissioner Weber that socialistic tendencies among the residents are fostered by the shelter officials. Meetings of socialistic and communistic groups are allowed at the Newberry shelter. The report charged that among the shelter inmates is Philip Moscovitch, a communist agitator who has been arrested by police many times.

Cites Duplication of Bureaus.

An investigation of the agencies which provide the idle men with jobs reveals, according to the report, a manifold duplication of effort and expense. The following agencies are listed:

1. Illinois Emergency Relief Employment bureau, 310 West Madison street.
2. Federal Employment agency, 116 North Dearborn street.
3. State Employment agency, 116 North Dearborn street.
4. Special Work Division bureau for families, 310 West Madison street.
5. Special Work bureau at the Clearing House for Men, 58 West Harrison street.
6. Work Ticket bureau at the same shelter.
7. Four Day Week Employment bureau at the same shelter.

These staffs could be cut by two-thirds, according to the Weber report, and still render the same service to the idle men. A consolidation of the seven bureaus into one would effect a saving of $500 a month, the report asserts.

Find 33 Blizzard Victims Frozen Dead in Rumania

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The bodies of 33 frozen peasants, who lost their way in a blizzard while en route to a rural polling place in western Rumania, were found by rescue parties today. In some places the snow in that section was 20 feet deep.

DEMOCRATS GET REPUBLICAN AID ON ALLOTMENT

Measure Now Goes to Senate.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—By a vote of 203 to 151 the house, under its Democratic leadership, today passed the domestic allotment bill, claimed by its supporters to be a means of farm relief.

The measure, which was dictated in large part by the major farm organizations, has the support in principle of President Elect Roosevelt and is intended as the chief answer to the Democratic campaign pledge of help to agriculture.

House approval of the measure will carry the bill, it is believed, on its first step toward a veto by President Hoover, which will force the Democrats to pass the bill again at the almost inevitable special session when Gov. Roosevelt and his party will be in full control.

Urge Hyde Plan Drive.

Republican leaders in congress and other advisers have urged the President to start a backfire by recommending farm legislation along the lines of the Hyde plan for government lease of agricultural lands taken out of production. The plan has the backing of packers, millers, and the implement industry. Its supporters believe it would succeed in curtailing production by giving the farmer, say, $5 an acre for land allowed to lie fallow. It is estimated that it would cost the treasury $65,000,000 a year, as against the estimated billion and a quarter dollars which somebody must pay if the domestic allotment plan should go into effect.

No evidence, however, has yet been seen of any effort to push the leasing plan, and this is said to be because President Hoover has let it be known that he wishes the Democrats be allowed to work out their own plan and take the consequences.

Four Commodities Added.

The vote in the house on the allotment plan closed a heated three days of debate and amendment, and found three commodities added to the wheat, hogs, cotton, and tobacco originally covered in the bill. As the result of amendments based largely on sectional demand, butterfat, rice, and peanuts were put into the measure.

Though the final ballot followed the party line in general, it also saw members of both parties bolting on the issue of urban versus agricultural interests.

Representatives from the city districts, claiming that the bill's tax on the processors of wheat, hogs, rice, cotton, tobacco, peanuts, and dairy products will raise the retail price of these commodities, voted in large numbers against the measure. Members from the farm districts on both sides of the aisle cast their ballots for its passage.

63 Republicans for Bill.

A breakdown of the roll call showed that 63 Republicans deserted their party ranks to vote with 139 Democrats for the bill. On the other hand, 101 Republicans cast their ballots with 50 Democrats in opposition to the plan.

As the farm bill goes to the senate it grants to the secretary of agriculture new powers, which opponents of the bill declare are tantamount to authority to fix prices, limit production, and dictate the method of using farm lands.

Aim at Purchasing Power.

The basic idea of the measure is to restore to the basic crops the purchasing power they enjoyed before the world war.

Upon the processors of the seven commodities the bill levies a tax equal to the difference between a "fair exchange value" to be stipulated by the secretary of agriculture and the price now received for these products in local markets. The bounty would be collected by the government and distributed by means of so-called "adjustment certificates" to farmers who could prove they have reduced their production of these commodities by 20 per cent.

The farmer, however, will be entitled to the government bounty only on that portion of his crop to be used in domestic consumption. The secretary of agriculture will estimate what percentage of the various crops are to be consumed in this country. The farmer will be eligible to receive the bounty only on that percentage of his produce.

During what the bill calls "the initial marketing period"—the period from date of its enactment to the beginning of the new crop year—arbitrary "fair exchange values" are fixed on each commodity contained in the measure. Wheat is fixed at 75 cents; cotton at 9 cents a pound; hogs at 5 cents a pound; rice at 75 cents a bushel; peanuts at 3 cents a pound, and butterfat at 26 cents a pound.

The bill likewise raises the tariff duty on short staple cotton imports by five cents in order to prevent processors from turning to imported cotton rather than pay the bounty on domestic produce. For the same reason, the tariff duty on animal, vegetable, and marine oil imports was raised by five cents to protect the dairy farmer, and a tariff duty equal to the so-called adjustment charge to be levied on domestic products was placed upon imports of wheat, hogs, tobacco, and rice and long staple cotton.

Tariff Issue Debated.

It was this tariff provision in a Democratic measure which aroused the most caustic comment of the three days of debate. Representative Heartsill Ragon [Dem., Ark.], veteran member of the ways and means committee, accused his party of protectionist policies which put the Republican party to shame. Mr. Ragon's antagonism was directed particularly at a proposed tariff on jute imports which was later stricken by a vote of 114 to 34.

"If this tariff item remains in the bill," said Mr. Ragon, "I am willing to apologize for every word I ever said against the Smoot-Hawley bill. I thought this measure was sponsored by the Democratic President elect. He certainly must not approve it now. It was pretty bad when my old friend from Arkansas insisted on putting rice in the bill. It was worse when the little peanut boys from Georgia and the Carolinas came along to get their peanuts in. It was pretty near intolerable when the dairy boys, for no reason on God's earth, got butterfat in. But this tariff item is absolutely insufferable and I declare now that I will not vote for this measure unless it is stricken."

FLAMES SWEEP HISTORIC ARMORY IN BALTIMORE

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 13 (Friday).—(AP)—The Fifth regiment armory was swept by flames of an undetermined origin early today and a general alarm brought all of Baltimore's fire fighting apparatus to the scene.

Residents of the vicinity of the historic structure fled from their homes, as considerable ammunition was stored in the building.

The first alarm was sent in about 2 o'clock (eastern standard time) and six more alarms followed within five minutes.

The heat from the fire was intense, being felt for several blocks, and the flames soared high above the surrounding buildings.

The armory, scene of the Democratic national convention in 1912 and Franklin D. Roosevelt's campaign address here last year, was damaged by fire last October.

S. AMERICA PLANS BLOC TO RESIST EUROPE'S TARIFFS

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

RIO DE JANEIRO, Jan. 12.—Brazil will "support to the utmost" a Chilean plan for a South American economic bloc to combat discriminatory European tariffs against South American goods, Finance Minister Osvaldo Aranha said today.

No details of the plan have been made public here, but it is understood that reciprocity will be sought and retaliation urged against those countries putting up tariff barriers against South American goods.

CABINET QUITS IN RUMANIA IN ROW WITH KING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUCHAREST, Rumania, Jan. 12.—King Carol accepted the resignation of the entire Rumanian cabinet today. Although the dispute between the king and the cabinet over police personnel seemed settled yesterday, differences arose again today.

Carol sent for the former premier, Alexander Vaida-Voevod, to attempt to line up a new government.

Foreign Minister Nicholas Titulescu, who was also Rumanian minister to London, resigned the latter office, and M. Radulescu, formerly undersecretary of the foreign ministry, was appointed as his successor.

ALLOTMENT PLAN TAX ON BREAD PUT AT $213,000,000

Other Levies to Cost Public Billion a Year.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A tax of about $213,000,000 will be levied on bread and other wheat products consumed by the United States public during the course of a year if the domestic allotment bill for farm relief passed by the house of representatives should be adopted by the senate and signed by President Hoover.

Estimates made by Chicago statisticians last night as to the added taxation that would result from the proposed levies on cotton, hogs, rice and dairy products, put the aggregate at, roughly, $1,000,000,000 a year.

Tax 42 Cents a Bushel.

The bill in substance proposes among its provisions to levy a tax on wheat ground by American mills and consumed in this country equal to the amount of the tariff, 42c per bushel. According to the division of statistical research of the U. S. department of agriculture, domestic consumption of wheat as food in this country for the 5 year period ending June 30, 1931, averaged 506,000,000 bushels. The Food Research institute, Leland Sanford university, estimated the consumption during the same period of 502,000,000 bushel and the tax theoretically would apply to all this grain except that milled for the personal use of the producer.

In addition to the tax on wheat, which would be paid by the mills and passed along to the public in the way of an advance of $2.50 to $4 a barrel on flour, as estimated by returns to the Millers' National federation, the tax on cotton would result in an increase of 8c in the cost of the sack used to contain 98 pounds of flour.

Expect "Bootleg" Flour.

"Bootleg" flour is expected to make its appearance on the market if the bill becomes a law. Under its provisions farmers can have wheat milled, without paying the tax. With a crop of 727,000,000 bushel harvested in 1932, and the tax to apply only on the 506,000,000 bushel used for domestic purposes, there is plenty of wheat left for distribution in the form of flour on which the tax need not be paid.

A leading Chicago milling journal in this week's issue will carry advertisements asking for offers of small flour mills, such as were in considerable vogue during the war.

According to reports received in Chicago yesterday Canada would like to try the same brand of farm relief in the way of a tax on wheat flour. The scheme already is in effect in England, and presumably in New Zealand.

Canada Seeks $1.25 Price.

Premiers of the three Canadian provinces, who are scheduled to confer with officials of the dominion government at Ottawa, are expected to propose that a price of $1.25 per bushel be established for that country, presumably to be collected from the mills and passed along to the public. Winnipeg May wheat closed last night at 46¼c per bushel, or 78½c per bushel under the proposed set figure. The department of agriculture recently estimated around 41,000,000 bushels of wheat was consumed for food in all provinces of Canada, so that the tax, if adopted would be equal to about $32,000,000.

English farmers have been guaranteed a price of $1.30 a bushel for wheat up to 50,400,000 bushels. The 1932-'33 crop is expected to be about 37,000,000 bushels. The difference between the market price for wheat and the fixed figure is being met at present by a tax of 19¼c per 100 pounds on flour, as established by the ministry of agriculture and fisheries in its order of June 16, 1932. The added impost on flour amounts to around $22,000,000.

Movement World Wide.

Cables from New Zealand this week reported the wheat pool in that country had established a domestic price equal to $1.06 per bushel—figuring exchange at par—while the export price was set at 60c per bushel. The actual price figured on a gold basis, is about 30 per cent under the figures given.

An almost world wide tax on bread in some form or other is now being levied, as shown by the report of the department of agriculture giving data as to restrictions and regulations on consumption of wheat in 39 countries of the world. Of these the Netherlands, South Africa, and Switzerland have established minimum prices for wheat as an aid to farmers, Switzerland paying $2 per bushel. Norway Spain, Latvia and Portugal also are mentioned as having minimum price levels, while in Hungary a direct tax is levied on bread to secure funds to pay an export bounty to the producer.

FILIBUSTER GOES ON WITHOUT LONG —WHEELER HELPS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The filibuster against the Glass banking bill was going on with unabated intensity when the senate recessed at 6:32 p. m. today, but under a new leadership.

Senator Long had been temporarily displaced ninety minutes earlier when, deserted on the floor by practically all of those he had considered his friends, he was able to rally but fourteen votes on a motion that would have given him a chance to rest until tomorrow.

When the test came at 5 o'clock to determine his strength, Mr. Long was weary from exertion and his voice was husky.

Senator Wheeler, who earlier had announced himself prepared to oppose all other legislation in the cause of currency inflation measures, came to the rescue. He put a motion to recess. A vote was taken and the motion went down to an overwhelming defeat, 50 to 14.

It was the final blow, and the member from Louisiana surrendered the floor. Senator Thomas of Oklahoma then took charge and the filibuster was on again.

HOUSE GETS BILL FOR 344 MILLION TO KEEP UP ARMY

Abandon Training Camps, Cut Other Costs.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The smallest war deparment supply bill reported to the house since 1926 was sent to that body today by the house appropriations committee. The measure carries a total of 344 millions for army pay, subsistence, new equipment, army posts, river and harbor, and other activities financed by the war department. The purely military activities are allowed 273 million dollars. While no cuts were made in army personnel, the bill eliminates the citizens' military training camps for 1934.

Although the supply bills runs 194 million dollars under last year's abnormally high total, the scalpel of the house appropriations committee accounted for but $6,695,000 of this reduction. The rest of the decrease is due to the elimination of nonrecurring items and cuts made by the budget bureau. Last year's army expenditures carried $60,000,000 for emergency relief and construction.

Net More than 100 Millions.

On the basis of reductions made by the house appropriations committee on the army bill and other supply measures thus far disposed of the total savings effected through trimming the Hoover budget will not net more than 100 million dollars, if that much.

To balance the budget a gap of 492 million dollars must be bridged through economies or revenue increases. Taxes on beer and gasoline are expected to raise 262 million dollars. If these were passed and the congressional cuts increased to 100 millions, the Hoover budget still would be 132 millions out of balance.

Whether the 100 million dollar cuts are achieved or increased will depend upon the success of the Democratic house and the senate in combating the horde of veterans, federal employés, and sectional groups now fighting cuts in federal pay, reductions in the sums paid out to veterans of past wars and their dependents, and other suggested costs in government.

Oppose Government Pay Cuts.

National organizations fighting for reductions of 400 millions in the veterans' billion dollar annual bill are opposed by the American Legion, Spanish war groups, and certain other veterans' organizations. The organized federal workers are vociferously opposing further reductions in government pay and at the same time working for restoration of privileges such as the annual 30 day vacation with pay. Governors of states are fighting proposed decreases in federal aid for public roads construction. The house naval affairs committee is on record as opposing further cuts in the marine corps.

As submitted to the house, the army bill takes better care of the National Guard than was provided for in the Hoover budget. The budget allowed funds for but 22 drills a year. The house bill allows for 48. The bill also permits the National Guard to motorize all field artillery units with light commercial vehicles. The funds are to be derived through "savings that would ensue from displacing old wartime vehicles and horses." The regular army can do the same thing if it desires.

Stating that nothing has been brought forward better than the Christie tank, the committee stipulated that tanks of the Christie or other equally satisfactory type be purchased with a fund of $180,000 voted for army modernization.

Further Modernization Move.

As a further modernization move, the committee entirely eliminates an estimate of $220,375 for the purchase of additional horses and mules by the army.

The committee cut recruiting expenses in half and withdrew appropriations heretofore made for the construction of gymnasiums, recreation halls and clubs at various military posts which have not yet been commenced. It stated the belief that $523,300 voted last year for construction work at Chanute Field, Ill., should be held in abeyance. Discussing the elimination of citizens' military training camp funds, the report stated:

"The bill makes no provision for C. M. T. C. activities. The budget includes $1,000,000 for this component, which would occasion a reduction in the number of trainees from 37,500 to 13,000."

The bill provides 273 millions for purely military activities and $72,753,944 for nonmilitary. For rivers and harbors work the bill carries $39,388,129. Last year's river and harbor appropriation was $90,000,000.

SENATE CHANGES FEDERAL TAX REFUND METHOD

Would Curb Power of the Treasury Secretary.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—By act of the Democrats and the radical bloc in the senate today, control over all refunds of income, inheritance, and gift taxes of more than $5,000 was placed in the hands of the joint congressional committee on internal revenue taxation.

The significance of the 51 to 26 vote by which such a provision was attached to the first deficiency bill lies in the fact that it will mean that for the next two years at least the final approval of tax refunds will lie with a committee subject to unquestionable Democratic control.

Will Increase Staff.

It also will mean the probable doubling of the committee's present staff of 13 experts, who now draw a total of some $45,000 a year—in other words, the creation of a new set of jobs for the horde of Democratic job seekers. It will, on the other hand—or so its Democratic advocates claimed—place a check on a practice which both parties have long and loudly charged has been employed for political purposes.

It will also cure such a situation as that which was made much of during the debate. It was charged that Ogden L. Mills, as executor of his father's estate, had a six million dollar abatement and refund of taxes approved by Ogden L. Mills, secretary of the treasury. In its amended state the deficiency bill was passed.

The amendment was offered by Senator Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.]. His activities in behalf of government economy have been matched of late by his interest in jobs for "deserving Democrats."

The item to which he sought to attach his proviso carried an appropriation of 28 million dollars for tax refunds, leaving only 3 million for other purposes carried in the deficiency measure with its 31 million total.

Text of Amendment.

"No refund or credit of any income or profits," the amendment said, "estate, or gift tax in excess of $5,000 shall be made after the enactment of this act until a report thereof giving the name of the person, corporation, or partnership to whom the refund or credit is to be made, the amount of such refund or credit, and all the facts and papers in connection therewith are submitted by the commissioner of internal revenue to the joint committee on internal revenue taxation and action thereon taken by said committee.

"The said committee or its duly authorized staff shall have full access to all the papers and shall examine into and pass upon the case de novo, and no refund or credit shall be made until the joint committee on internal revenue taxation or its duly authorized staff shall have so passed on such refund, fixed the amount thereof, and made its report to the commissioner of internal revenue; and no refund shall be made without the approval of said committee or its duly authorized staff."

The new method was characterized by Republicans as the setting up of a congressional internal revenue bureau, where politics would be the controlling factor. It would be possible, it was pointed out, through the parliamentary rule permitting any committee to ask its house for instructions, for tax cases to be brought up on the floor for debate.

Though the deficiency bill must go to a conference committee of the two houses, there is virtually no chance that the house Democratic majority will strike out such an amendment.

On Jan. 6 the treasury announced that an abatement of $5,869,000 and a refund of more than $45,000 had been ordered for the benefit of the estate of Ogden Mills, who died on Jan. 29, 1929, and who was the father of the present secretary of the treasury. The total comprehended a credit of more than five millions for the payment of estate taxes paid to states and a refund based on a ruling that certain gifts made by the elder Mills were not made in contemplation of death.

Censure for Secretary Mills.

"No good secretary ought to want to pass on a case in which he is interested," Senator McKellar declared in debate. "No bad secretary should be permitted to do so."

Senator George W. Norris, Nebraska radical, joined in and helped carry the fight along.

Senator McKellar also referred to a refund made "to Samuel Insull, national fugitive from justice, through the Middle West Utilities company." In this case a tax of $324,399 was assessed and a refund of $266,008 in principal and $131,243 in interest was later made, or $82,852 more than was originally paid to the treasury.

Cites Other Refunds.

The Democratic senator also pointed out that refunds totaling $986,207 had been made to the Willys-Overland company, of which John N. Willys, a regular and generous Republican campaign contributor, is head.

"Mr. Willys made his returns before he was appointed ambassador to Poland," Senator Norris interposed.

"Evidently he did not know at the time how much his expenses for entertainment were going to be. He had to get some of the money back."

"It's too bad that poor old Insull was not appointed minister to Greece," suggested Senator McKellar.

Arthur, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Buy a load of corn to burn was the slogan adopted here today to help increase the price by eliminating the surplus. The Douglas and Moultrie counties farm bureau says that 40,000 bushels probably will be burned in these two counties. They will try to make the movement nation-wide.

POLICE DECIPHER PHONE CODE OF 'TED' NEWBERRY

Ald. Arvey's Number One of 56 on List.

A private telephone directory in code taken from the pockets of the slain Ted Newberry after the body of the north side gang leader was found on a country road near Chesterton, Ind., last Saturday, has been deciphered at the detective bureau, it was learned last night.

One of the fifty-six numbers on Newberry's list was that of Jacob M. Arvey, Democratic leader and alderman of the Twenty-fourth ward. The number is Central 9760, the alderman's law office at 33 North La Salle street.

Another number in the book was that of Charles T. Sullivan, an "engineer" at 1 North La Salle street, in whose office last Nov. 3 the police arrested "Three Fingered" Jack White, Marcus [Studdy] Looney, Murray Humphries and five other well known hoodlums. Newberry had listed the number Franklin 7118 opposite the name of "Doc" White.

How to Reach Humphries.

Humphries, generally regarded as leader of the Capone syndicate since the imprisonment of Al Capone, had a separate listing. Newberry could reach him, the directory indicated, by calling Whitehall 6580, office of the Warehouse Terminal and Warehouse company, 444 West Grand avenue.

Another of Newberry's numbers was Andover 2244, headquarters of the Democratic county committee in parlor L of the Hotel Sherman. "Moe" was the name written opposite this number. The only "Moe" known in parlor L, it was said, is Moe Rosenberg, former sanitary trustee.

Newberry made frequent use of the long distance telephone, his directory indicated. Among the out of town numbers on his list were: "Ben Mar. Ash. 9990, New York City"; "Jim Murphy, Red Bank 3836, Philadelphia"; "Max, 38000, Elizabeth, N. J."; "Al, 9573, Kenosha, Wis."

Other Local Numbers.

Other local numbers on his list were the Waiters' alliance, local 25, 180 West Randolph street; Tri-O-Lene Oil company, 400 West Madison street; Ingleside Cleaners and Dyers, 948 East 67th street, and the La Salle Washington Employment agency, 306 West Madison street.

The code, as worked out at the detective bureau, consisted of a substitution of certain letters of the alphabet for the telephone numerals, the order of the letters to be reversed in deciphering. The key to the code is as follows: I-1, V-2, E-3, D-4, P-5, B-6, S-7, H-8, G-9, and O-0.

With this key the detectives deciphered Humphries' number, Whitehall OHPB, to read Whitehall 6580; White's number, Franklin HIIZ, to read Franklin 7118.

Hunt and Pierce in Indiana.

Sam Hunt, golf bag gunman of the Capone gang, and Ralph Pierce, another Capone hoodlum, were in northern Indiana on the day Newberry was taken for his ride, it was disclosed yesterday at a habeas corpus hearing on behalf of Hunt and Pierce before Chief Justice Physalski.

Assistant State's Attorney Euclid Taylor said Chief of Detectives Schoemaker had learned that Hunt and Pierce were motoring in the vicinity of Gary early Saturday, a short time before Newberry's body was found in a ditch near Chesterton, fifteen miles away. Over the objection of the hoodlums' counsel, Tyrrell Richardson, the judge continued the hearing until 2 p. m. today, leaving Hunt and Pierce in the cells they have occupied since their arrest Wednesday night.

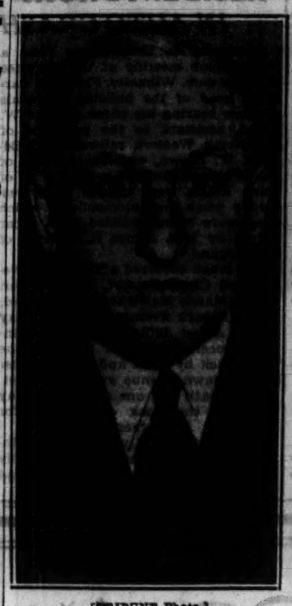
Judge Opposes Paying Back Alimony



[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Municipal Judge Howard Hayes and his first wife, Mrs. Grace Houston, as they appeared yesterday in court of Judge Finnegan. Judge Hayes had been cited for contempt for failure to pay back alimony.

Former Wife in Furs, Demands Alimony Cell for Judge Hayes

Municipal Judge Howard Hayes yesterday appeared before Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan to answer a petition charging him with contempt of court for failure to pay alimony. He answered the citation by presenting a bill in the nature of a bill of review asking that the alimony provision of the divorce decree granted his first wife, Mrs. Grace Houston, 1400 Lake Shore drive, be amended.

It was revealed at the hearing that Mrs. Houston has been receiving alimony from two divorced husbands. Her first husband, Sherman Houston, also was in court ready to testify that he had paid from $225 to $365 a month to Mrs. Houston at the same time that she was receiving $225 a month from Judge Hayes, her second husband.

Ex-Wife Lives in Luxury.

Judge Hayes, who has remarried and has two daughters to support, asked that the alimony of $225 a month be reduced to $135 a month. He asserted in his bill that his former wife is now living in luxury and has an automobile, is a member of many social clubs and does much traveling. Since their divorce in 1918 he has paid Mrs. Houston, who resumed her first husband's name, $34,000, and he has fallen $1,350 in arrears because his salary has been reduced from $9,000 to $7,500, he said.

Mrs. Houston, who is asking that Judge Hayes be sent to jail if he does not pay up his arrears in alimony, appeared in court in a sable coat.

Attorney Edmund Adcock, representing Judge Hayes, said that Mrs. Houston, receiving nearly $600 a month in alimony at times from her two divorced husbands, was getting alimony far in excess of what the law intended should be paid to a divorced wife.

Judge Finnegan took no action on either petition, but continued the hearing until the afternoon of Jan. 25 when evidence will be heard in full from both sides.

Demand Working Wife Pay.

In a case in the Superior court yesterday Judge Joseph Sabath was asked to decided that a wife with an income as well as a husband should contribute to the support of her children when the two have separated.

Stephen Boor, 2119 South Halsted street, was cited to show cause why he should not be sent to jail for contempt of court for failure to pay $100 attorneys' fees and being $100 in arrears in alimony on an order instructing him to pay $18 a week to Mrs. Anna Boor.

Two Sons Help Mother.

Boor, who formerly was not represented by a lawyer, appeared yesterday with Attorneys W. W. O'Brien and T. J. McCormick, who presented a petition showing that the two oldest sons of the family turn part of their salaries over to their mother and that she herself is working and making $22 a week. Boor's salary is $37 a week.

"Under the circumstances, Mrs. Boor should contribute at least $8 a week to the support of the three younger children," the lawyers argued. "Boor will make up the remaining $10 a week. The wife in this instance should share the responsibilities of the family with her husband."

Judge Sabath reserved decision on the petition.

DIVORCED WIFE SEEKS HELP FROM RICH EX-HUSBAND

Mrs. Marion Keller, 35 years old, 1245 Jarvis avenue, appeared yesterday before Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court seeking support money from her divorced husband, Theodore P. Keller, retired broker and heir to part of the $2,500,000 estate of his father, Theodore C. Keller, a former official of the Indiana and Illinois Coal corporation. Mrs. Keller told the court that she and her two children are destitute.

She was granted a divorce in 1927 and was given custody of the two children, Lloyd, now 14 years old, and Edith, 9 years old. At that time a three apartment building in which she lives was placed in trust for Mrs. Keller and the children. She was to receive the income estimated at $250 monthly.

Mrs. Keller charged yesterday that her former husband collected in advance the rents from July to December, 1927. Since that time, she said, the building has continued to lose tenants until she was unable to pay the 1930 taxes. Keller, who is living in Springfield, Mass., with his second wife, has an income of $15,000, the first Mrs. Keller charged. She said that under the provisions of his father's will Keller is receiving the income from one-fifth of $1,500,000. Judge Sabath gave attorneys for Keller and the estate of his father 10 days to answer the petition. He indicated he would hold that Keller must make a new financial arrangement for his children.

JOE LOSES A PROTECTING ARM.

An automatic pistol, purchased several weeks ago by Joseph Cheshek, 4929 Barry avenue, to protect his home against thieves, was stolen from the home early yesterday by burglars.

SEEK BANDSMAN MURDER CLEWS FROM MUSICIANS

Stege Presses Hunt for Schildhauer Slayer.

Musicians were being questioned by detectives yesterday in the hope of finding a solution of the murder of Edwin O. Schildhauer, bandmaster of Austin High school. As described by Schildhauer's pretty widow, Frances, the killing had gangster aspects in that Schildhauer was taken for a ride. However, when love tangles and private affairs of the Schildhauers failed to disclose a clew to the murderers, police turned to members of Schildhauer's profession for aid.

Capt. John Stege said the status of the case had not changed any as a result of the police search of the Schildhauer home Wednesday night. Blodostains found on the stairway of the home led to the decision to make a thorough search inside the home on the possibility that the bandmaster had been killed in his own home and the body carted to Cicero.

Slight Support for Theory.

Dr. Clarence Muehlberger, coroner's chemist, reported to Stege yesterday that none of the articles examined furnished anything to support such a theory. Residents in the neighborhood of the Schildhauer home at 3435 Fulton street had made statements that did not coincide with Mrs. Schildhauer's story of what happened the night of the murder, Dec. 10.

Mrs. Schildhauer's alleged extramarital relations had opened an avenue of possibilities, Stege said, and in her admitted romance with Carl Bradberry, a former deputy sheriff, the detectives found a subject for considerable work. They investigated also Mrs. Schildhauer's reported romance with Paul Walton, a disbarred lawyer.

"We know as much now as we care to about the personal affairs of Schildhauer and his wife," Stege said yesterday. "We are still of the belief Schildhauer was murdered because some other man was in love with Mrs. Schildhauer.

A Faithful Husband.

"We are convinced that Schildhauer was a man of excellent character who was faithful to his marital vows while his wife was not. Implications that he had wronged one or several girls have been discarded by us.

"Mrs. Schildhauer suggested that intense rivalry between the bands of Austin High and other schools might have furnished a motive for his murder. We have always taken that into consideration as a possibility, however remote it may be.

"Mrs. Schildhauer told us her husband left home on the evening of Dec. 10 to go to a stag party given by a group of musicians in Mirror hall, Western avenue and Division street. Her story that she saw him abducted and that she and her mother hastened to Mirror hall to inquire about him has been carefully checked. They did go there and inquire for Schildhauer and were told he was not present.

"We now want to talk to those who were there. Perhaps some of the musicians can give us some help. We want them to tell everything they know and have heard about Edwin and Frances Schildhauer."

Policeman Gets $1,000 for Capture of Bandit

Policeman Richard Hoffman of the Chicago avenue station was given a check for $1,000 yesterday in Police Commissioner Allman's office by Herbert Brown, superintendent of the Western Union Telegraph company. The award was in recognition of Hoffman's bravery Monday night when he shot and captured James Kenny, 352 North Clark street, who had robbed the Western Union office at 110 East Ohio street of $288. The policeman lives at 2519 North Oak Park avenue, is a widower and has two children. He has been a member of the force for ten years.

Philadelphia, Pa., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Mrs. Libby Holman Reynolds' father—ready to aid his daughter's fight for the $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 estate of her late husband, Smith Reynolds—arrived here today to see his grandson.

The former Broadway torch singer, friends say, will claim two-thirds of the estate for her son and the remainder for herself.

Alfred J. Holman, a Cincinnati lawyer, reached Philadelphia accompanied by a young man, said to be Libby's brother. With Mrs. Holman, who has been staying in Philadelphia since the baby was born Tuesday night, they walked to the hospital.

Mr. Holman carried a blue and orchid satin quilt, evidently a gift for the baby, while the younger man had a woman's leather hatbox and several other packages.

Hospital physicians assured Mr. Holman that his daughter and her son are "doing nicely." They were shown the baby, which is being kept in a "hot bed," a form of incubator.

Mr. Holman was believed to have gone later to New York to confer with Arnold J. Brock, who announced that his law firm was retained last October to protect the interests of Mrs. Reynolds and her child.

COOLIDGE WILL, 23 WORDS, GIVES WIDOW ESTATE

Estimates Range Up to Half Million.

Northampton, Mass., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Calvin Coolidge's will written in his own hand and containing just twenty-three words was filed for probate in the Hampshire county Probate court today. The entire estate was left to the former President's widow.

While no figures were given in the will, recent estimates have ranged all the way from $250,000 to $500,000. One of the latest guesses was $400,000.

The will, written while Mr. Coolidge still was in the White House and dated Dec. 30, 1926, read:

"Not unmindful of my son, John, I give all my estate, both real and personal, to my wife, Grace Coolidge, in fee simple."

The explanation of Mr. Coolidge making no provision in his will for his son John is found in the fact that he established a trust estimated at from $50,000 to $100,000 for him at the time of his marriage to Florence Trumbull.

Secretaries as Witnesses.

Besides Mr. Coolidge's signature, the will bore those of Everett Sanders and Evart Clark, White House secretaries during the Coolidge administration, and Erwin C. Geisser, White House stenographer, as witnesses.

Mr. Coolidge died Jan. 5 of heart disease. He had spent a part of the forenoon at his law office and returned home apparently in the best of health. Shortly after 1 o'clock Mrs. Coolidge, returning home from a downtown shopping trip, found the former President lying dead on the floor of his bedroom. The family physician, called in, said that he had been dead about thirty minutes.

Ex-Partner Files Will.

The document was filed by Ralph W. Hemenway, lifelong friend and former law partner of the ex-President. It probably will come up for probate before Judge Henry P. Field, in whose office Mr. Coolidge began his law studies.

A petition asking that the widow, Mrs. Grace Coolidge, be given letters of administration without surety was filed with the will.

SPANISH POLICE BURN HOUSEFUL OF REBELS; 20 DIE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Spain, Jan. 12.—Unrest aroused among the peasantry in Andalusia by the anarchist revolt resulted today in the massacre of nineteen rebel villagers in the lonely mountain hamlet of Casa Viejas, 30 miles from Cadiz. The villagers perished in a burning house fired by hand grenades after resisting Spanish police and civil guards for twelve hours. One policeman who had been captured by the rebels was killed and several were wounded.

More than seventy persons have been killed since the extremist disorders began last Sunday, according to calculations tonight.

When news of the recent Barcelona rioting reached Casa Viejas, the only access to which is by a rough cart road, peasants hastened to proclaim the triumph of the extremists. Armed with scythes, clubs, and a few guns, men, women, and children joined in the manifestations.

Barricade House.

Police reinforcements, armed with machine guns and hand grenades, stormed the village last night, driving back the rebels, most of whom broke and fled. A handful, however, resisted, barricading themselves in a house. All through the night a running fire was kept up. When called upon to surrender, the peasants retorted by placing in a window the body of a dead policeman and inviting their attackers to fire at this target.

Early today police bombarded the house with hand grenades until it burst into flames. No one was seen to escape and it is presumed that the nineteen rebels, who are believed to include one woman, perished in the burning house.

Might Have Received Land.

Ironically there was a good chance that these poverty stricken peasants might soon have become small landholders under the government's new land reform scheme. Casa Viejas is situated at the edge of a 40,000 acre estate belonging to the duke of Medinaceili, one of Spain's richest grandees. The estate will be expropriated and colonized when the necessary formula is completed.

Guards Gird for Drive.

CADIZ, Spain, Jan. 13.—[Friday.]—(AP)—Civil and assault guards were concentrated last night and early today near Medina, Sidonia, and Casa Viejas in preparation for an intensive drive at dawn against extremist rebels believed to be concentrated in the mountains near the towns.

It was reported in official circles that airplanes from the Sevilla airdrome would join in the search at daylight. The rebels cut communication between Cadiz and Casa Viejas and dug trenches across highways to impede the movement of reinforcements.

A civil guard motor patrol on the Casa Viejas highway had a long gun fight with rebels hidden in the hills. The guards, whose motor car was riddled with bullets, retired when their ammunition was exhausted.

Border Town Raided.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Jan. 12.—Two were wounded today when parties of armed anarchists and syndicalists clashed with police and troops in raids on the frontier town of La Linea. Shop windows were smashed and an attempt was made to set fire to the town hall, the alcalde's residence, and other buildings.

One Killed in Canary Isles.

TENERIFFE, Canary Islands, Jan. 12.—(AP)—In the town of Buenavista today one civil guard was killed and several extremists were wounded in an affray between the authorities and extremist strikers.

BERLIN CHEMIST WINS LEAVE TO FIGHT DIVORCE

Gregor Seldowitsch, Berlin chemist, was given leave yesterday to present evidence on March 14 to show that the divorce granted his wife, Alexandra Seldowitsch, the daughter of an admiral in the imperial Russian navy, was fraudulently obtained. Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court ordered Attorney Benjamin Ehrlich, representing Seldowitsch, to produce his client or depositions taken in Berlin.

"If depositions are taken," Judge Sabath said, "present them in the German language. The meaning is often lost in a translation."

The petition to set aside the divorce, which was granted last summer, charged that Mrs. Seldowitsch caused notice of the divorce proceedings to be sent to an incorrect address in Berlin. Attorney Ehrlich said that Mrs. Seldowitsch knew the correct address.

The petition also alleged that Prof. Vladimir N. Ipatieff of Northwestern university and his wife conspired with Mrs. Seldowitsch to get the divorce.

NO. SHORE SUITOR FINED FOR WOOING GIRL WITH PISTOL

Charles Weckerle, 28 years old, of Milwaukee, a medical student at the University of Wisconsin, was fined $25 and costs last night by Magistrate Clarence Brown of Waukegan. The charge was disorderly conduct. Weckerle was arrested Wednesday in Lake Forest after, it is alleged, he compelled Miss Lorraine Hoppe, 22 years old, of Milwaukee to leave her home with him at the point of a pistol. After paying his fine he said he still wants to marry the girl but would use less violent means of persuasion in the future.

Aurora Church Seeking Overtures for a Merger

The board of the New England Congregational church of Aurora yesterday announced it would welcome overtures for consolidation from any Protestant church in the city. The Rev. W. E. McCormack, pastor of the church, said the action of the board was prompted by the belief there are more churches in Aurora than are needed and because the differences in ritual and beliefs of the Protestant sects are not as important today as they were years ago. There are forty Protestant and 11 Roman Catholic churches in Aurora.

REDRAFTS BEER BILL TO KEEP IT FROM HIGH COURT

Senate Group Will Vote on 3.2 Measure Today.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—As a result of discussions among senate and house wet leaders tacit agreement has been reached to confine the current drive to modify the Volstead act to the passage of a bill permitting the sale of legalized beer. No move, it was said today, is to be made drastically to amend the Volstead act or to delete from it the injunction section under which hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of private property has been closed by court order.

Inquiry among congressional wets disclosed that no move is on foot looking toward repeal of the Jones 5 and 10 law, which greatly increased penalties for certain classes of violators of the national prohibition act. Wet leaders said the plan now was to concentrate on legislation giving the country real beer.

Specific Terms Not Revealed.

Chairman John J. Blaine [Rad., Wis.], of the senate judiciary subcommittee handling the Collier beer bill, said the revamped measure would be drafted and voted on tomorrow. While declining to outline its specific terms, he said no attempt was being made by his group to rewrite the whole Volstead law. He said his subcommittee would only deal with the constitutional phases of the bill.

In brief, the plan of the Blaine subcommittee is to take beer of an alcoholic content of not to exceed 3.2 per cent by weight from the field of federal enforcement. The Volstead act originally provided penalties for the sale or manufacture of beer with an alcoholic content of more than one-half of 1 per cent. The Blaine bill will simply provide that the penalties will not apply to 3.2 per cent beer.

The net effect of the change will be to make possible the manufacture and sale of 3.2 per cent beer without fear of punishment by the federal government. Sponsors of the Blaine plan point out that such a bill would have nothing to fear from the United States Supreme court, as it would not come before it for action. As one wet said today: "We are simply going to repeal a portion of an act which we passed ourselves."

Affirms It's Not Intoxicating.

In a word, the Collier bill approaches the beer question from the affirmative point of view, the projected senate bill from the negative. The Collier bill affirms that 3.2 per cent beer is not intoxicating and therefore can be manufactured. The proposed bill will repeal all federal penalties on 3.2 per cent beer. The purpose of the senate changes is to remove all danger of the Supreme court holding the act unconstitutional.

Under the new senate bill as proposed the federal government could not apply either the fine, jail, or injunction penalties of the national prohibition act against persons manufacturing or selling beer providing the product did not exceed 3.2 per cent alcoholic content by weight. A retailer of 3.2 per cent beer could not be proceeded against under the injunction or padlock section. All the penalties for beverages with a higher content of alcohol than 3.2 per cent would remain in force.

From the judiciary committee the revised bill eventually would go to the senate finance committee. There an attempt is to be made to insert a section permitting brewers to advertise their products. No such section is to be inserted by the judiciary committee, it was said.

ENGINEER'S ASHES SCATTERED FROM CAB OF HIS LOCOMOTIVE

The ashes of Charles M. Smith, engineer for the Pennsylvania railroad, who died on Labor day, were scattered yesterday from the cab of engine No. 8152, which he had piloted for many years, as it rounded the Beverly curve at 87th street. He had asked in his will that the simple ceremony be performed by his fellow workers to symbolize the end of his career.

"I desire that my body be cremated," he wrote in his will. "I wish to have my ashes scattered from the cab of my engine as it makes the Beverly curve. In my life I knew my day's work was done as I rounded the curve. In death I will know my life's work is done if my ashes are scattered at the curve on my last ride."

Engineer Herman Siebold executed the wish of his lifelong friend as the train entered the city. He then sounded a low blast of the whistle. Fireman Michael Walsh tolled the locomotive's bell. The ceremony was witnessed by Harry Samuels, road foreman; A. E. Jacoby, train master H. B. Orrviller, assistant train master and John Binschip, engineer.

ROBBERS HERD 7 ON BALCONY, ROB FUR SHOP OF $5,000

Three gunmen herded seven persons into the balcony of Ganson's fur shop at 4107 West Madison street last night and escaped with 12 fur coats valued at more than $5,000. They also took $150 from the cash register and $20 from a doctor who was in the store.

The bandits entered singly. The first walked to the cashier's cage and pointed a revolver at Gene Hamilton, the bookkeeper, and Ruth Ganson, daughter of the owner. Then t' other robbers entered and ordered all in the store to go to the balcony. Besides the bookkeeper and Miss Ganson they were Louis Ganson, the owner; his wife, Mrs. Lena Ganson; his son, Henry; Mrs. Winnie Weinstein, 3800 Wilcox street, a customer, and Dr. Maurice Knopp, 4207 West Madison street. Dr. Knopp was robbed of $20.

INDIANA SENATE ASKS CONGRESS TO VOTE BEER

Repeal of Dry Amendment Is Also Urged.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The Indiana legislature, which in 1925, driven by the powerful lobby of the Anti-Saloon league, passed one of the most fanatical bone dry laws ever enacted, today began a rapid return to more liberal ways.

The sentiment in the state senate for modification of the Volstead act and repeal of the 18th amendment was clearly demonstrated when a resolution memorializing congress to take such steps immediately was adopted by an overwhelming majority. The resolution now goes to the house for concurrence. Today's action was the first decisive wet victory in the senate since the prohibition law became effective.

Michigan Repeal Bill Offered.

Lansing, Mich., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—A mass of proposed legislation was dumped upon the lawmakers today as the first active week of the session drew to a close. Included in the batch of bills were measures to repeal the state prohibition law, to legalize race track betting, to place a new "emergency" tax upon every source of corporate or personal income, to repeal the malt tax, and to repeal the small loan acts.

Senator Ray Derham, Iron Mountain Republican, offered the prohibition repeal measure, the initial move to carry out the mandate imposed when a two to one majority was rolled up Nov. 8 for substitution of a liquor control commission proposal for the present bone dry amendment.

W. Alfred Debo, new pardons and paroles commissioner, has announced that Gov. William A. Comstock, has sent for a list of prohibition law violators serving terms in state prisons in order that he may consider executive clemency.

Maine Acts to Legalize Beer.

Augusta, Me., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Manufacture and sale of beer with an alcoholic strength not exceeding that fixed by congress as nonintoxicating would be legalized in Maine, oft-heralded as "the birthplace of prohibition," under a bill introduced in the house today by Representative Audet [Dem.] of Lewiston.

Municipalities would have the right of local option and the power to license and regulate such sales with an annual excise tax to be set by each municipality, but not to exceed $1,000 for one establishment.

Asks Modification in Georgia.

Atlanta, Ga., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Modification of the Georgia bone dry law is provided in a bill introduced in the Georgia legislature today by Representatives Cartledge of Richmond county and McLeod of Baker.

The bill would authorize sale of beer of 3.2 per cent alcoholic content, under a county option program similar to one formely operated in Georgia.

The measure provides a state tax of 6 cents per barrel. The counties also would be allowed to levy a tax.

ROOMER SHOOTS WOMAN WHEN ASKED TO LEAVE

Mrs. Jennie Lent, 30 years old, owner of a rooming house at 6018 South Sangamon street, was shot four times yesterday by John Chegelnik, 43 years old, an idle carpenter, after she had asked him to leave the rooming house. Chegelnik shot himself in the left hand, drank poison, and then leaped from the second floor rear porch of the building to the back yard.

Both were taken to the Englewood hospital. Mrs. Lent may recover. Chegelnik is not expected to live. In his fall he fractured four ribs, one of which pierced his lung.

Chegelnik's room was wanted to make way for a couple. A note asking him to leave had been left for him in the morning. He returned in the afternoon, announcing he was going to kill every one in the home.

He drew a revolver and fired four times at Mrs. Lent. Other roomers rushed from their rooms to see Chegelnik swallow the contents of a bottle, turn the gun upon himself, and leap from the porch. Police found him staggering in the alley.

3 PARK RIDGE RESIDENTS HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Returning to their homes from a Rotary club meeting at the Shawnee Country club, Wilmette, Frank D. Farnam, head of the building materials concern bearing his name; George W. Hand, assistant to the president of the North Western railway; and Edward W. Brown, western manager of the Whitlock Cordage company, all of Park Ridge, were injured early yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding collided with a car driven by Mrs. James R. Casover of Waukegan.

Mrs. Maude McMicken, 64 years old, 6528 Kimbark avenue, died yesterday in the Albert Billings hospital of injuries received on Dec. 21 when she was struck by a hit and run motorist at Woodlawn avenue and 55th street.

TRUSTEES AGREE TO CUT SCHOOL COST 11½ MILLION

Put "Paper Surplus" Up to Sargent Group.

Six school trustees, a majority of the board of education, pledged themselves yesterday to cut the $11,500,000 paper "surplus" out of their 1933 budget if the citizens' committee on public expenditures recommends that they do so.

Only by regarding the "surplus" as part of the board's income for the year can the budget be balanced at its present figure of approximately 74 millions. If the $11,500,000 is cut out of the estimates of revenue the appropriations now proposed will have to be cut by that amount.

Public Hearing This Morning.

The board will hold its public hearing this morning on the preliminary budget estimates, drawn up by department heads under the direction of Howard P. Savage, business manager of the board. This hearing will be largely a formality. The real work starts Monday, when President Lewis E. Myers will call the board together as a committee of the whole to start trimming the department heads' requests for appropriations.

Minor changes which were still being made yesterday made it impossible to arrive at an exact total of these department requests. Roughly, however, they are as follows:

Educational fund	$56,000,000
Free textbook fund	000,000
Building fund	7,000,000
Bonds and interest fund	8,000,000
Teachers' pensions	1,318,000
Playground fund	750,000
Lunchroom fund	119,000
Special funds	21,000
Total	$73,365,000

The "surplus," which is the occasion of the present controversy and of some bewilderment on the part of the trustees, has as its principal item about 8 millions in uncollected 1928, 1929, and 1930 taxes.

Seek $750,000 in Rent.

Other items in the surplus consist of various account receivable and back rentals. The item which the board is most likely to collect, its attorneys say, is $750,000 in ground rents which have been in dispute for some years with owners of loop properties on school lands.

"I don't think the 'surplus' represents an asset," said President Myers yesterday. "To assume so is to make a pure guess. I'm not in favor of appropriating against it to any point beyond the recommendation of the citizens' committee."

Expressions of other trustees on the question follow:

Ernst Buehler: "I don't think it wise to appropriate against the 'surplus.' If we do we will be appropriating against an unknown quantity and will end up at the close of the year with a deficit. We would be carrying something on paper which we shall probably never have in our treasury."

Joseph P. Savage: "I think the board should call in the citizens' committee and get its recommendation. At present the committee leaves us in the position of not knowing what we should do. If it tells us to cut out the whole 'surplus,' I'm in favor of going along with the committee."

William D. McJunkin: "I don't think it possible to appropriate against that 'surplus'. We'd only be fooling ourselves if we did."

Orville J. Taylor: "I want more chance to study the 'surplus,' and I think the citizens' committee should give us a hearing on the matter. I don't think we should change if we are right in our computations. However, I'm willing to accept their recommendation in the matter."

H. Wallace Caldwell: "It is a question of deciding between fact and fancy. We can't look for taxpayers to come swarming in and pay all of the back taxes. The sooner we reduce taxes the sooner they will come in. We might as well face the music now."

Fred W. Sargent, chairman of the committee, is expected back in the city today from a business trip and the committee, it is expected, will take immediate action on any request from the school board for advice on the matter.

Costumes of the 19th century were worn yesterday by members of the Chicago Woman's club to illustrate a book review given by Mrs. Alexander N. Jerrems of Mrs. Ruth Finley's book, "The Lady of Godey's." The book is a biography of Josepha Hale, who was editor of the famous Godey's Lady Book from 1837 to 1878. Mrs. Hugh L. McWilliams, modeling fashions from the Godey book, wore a gown which her mother-in-law, Mrs. Lafayette McWilliams, wore at the White House for the inauguration of her cousin, the late President McKinley.

Tax Warrant Sales Enable Harvey to Reopen Schools

The elementary schools of Harvey closed since Dec. 23 because of lack of funds, will be reopened on Jan. 30. The reopening is made possible by the sale of tax anticipation warrants by a citizens' committee, it was announced yesterday by Norman Gallett, a member of the school board.

SARGENT RESCUE PLAN IMPERILED BY TAX DELAYS

1931 Bills Held Up by Personalty Protests.

The plan to collect both 1931 and 1932 real estate and personality taxes within a 16 month period, upon which the Sargent committee and civic leaders base their hopes of rescuing Cook Country from its tax muddle has been endangered by delays in completing the 1931 personality assessment. These delays, County Treasurer McDonough announced yesterday, probably will prevent collection of the first installment of the 1931 taxes for two months.

The penalty date for the first installment of the 1931 real estate taxes is March 1, under the present plan. In the past tax bills have been sent out at least eight weeks before to the penalty date.

May Extend Penalty Date.

A canvass of the officials heading the tax assessing machinery, however, disclosed yesterday that it will be impossible to send out the bills before Feb. 15, if the work of completing the personality assessment is carried forward with the utmost speed. If the bills are sent out at that date the penalty date may be extended to May 1, which is the deadline for 1931 personality taxes.

Should the first installment of the real estate taxes be delayed a month, the officials said, the second payment for which the deadline is set for July 1, probably would be delayed thirty days also. The same delay would be extended to the first installment of the 1932 real estate taxes which become due on next Nov. 15, it was said.

Any delay in sending out the tax bills is expected to delay the 1931 tax collections which, it is believed, will be even slower than they were in 1930, when only 53 per cent of the total extension was collected on the penalty date.

Protests Delay Work.

The reason for the slow progress in the personalty assessment, it was explained, was the unexpected number of protests. While the volume has not exceeded 4 per cent of the 800,000 schedules placed on the books by Assessor J. L. Jacobs, the board of appeals has been unable to hear the objectors and return the assessment books to the assessor on time.

Most of the country town assessment books already have been returned, certified, and sent to County Clerk Robert M. Sweitzer, whose clerks extend the taxes and fix the rates. A few of the city town books have also been sent to the county clerk's office, but at least five books, including Lake View, North, South, Jefferson, and West, are not completed.

Mrs. Laura Weibler, in charge of the tax extension and billing department of the county clerk's office, said yesterday that the first of the country town bills could be sent out within a month if the tax rates were fixed. County Clerk Sweitzer said that the rates in Cook county would not be fixed until his office had complete knowledge of the final real estate, rail road, and personal property assessed valuations.

Yesterday afternoon the county treasurer called a conference with officials of the major governmental bodies to discuss methods of speeding the tax collection.

Deficit Seems Rare Dessert Reserved for Taxpayers in U. S. Senate Restaurant

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Considerable mystery surrounds the matter of the deficit in the restaurant in the United States senate, where the elder statesmen gather at the noon hour to fan soup and rest from their labors on behalf of the people.

I am advised that it costs the citizens about $50,000 a year, or $1,000 a week, give or take a few dollars, to make up the difference between the amount which the senators pay for their meals and the cost of setting the provisions before them. There is a statement entitled "Kitchens and Restaurants" in the report for the year ending June 30, 1932, but the recapitulation is confusing to any one who is not an expert in accountancy and, moreover, the statement does not include any mention of accounts receivable.

Cuffs' Length Is Limited.

It is my information that there are accounts receivable in the senate restaurant, where it is customary to permit the statesmen to put their board bills on the cuff, so to speak, but it may be only natural that the brothers should not wish to print a public document revealing that certain members have run their cuffs clear up to the shoulder, if they have.

There are no figures to show what it costs to feed a statesman of the senate, above the price which he pays for his meals, and to lather and shave, water and bathe him. The mineral water account alone comes to something appreciable, but it is scattered through the secretary's report in much the same way that I try to space my own taxi bills in my expense account instead of just lumping them as taxis, so much, which would make a rather brutal total and might give the auditor pause.

Pump vs. Corkscrew.

On their home grounds and on their own expense, of course, the statesmen are strictly sink and pump water drinkers. French Vichy and some of the American sparkling waters are considered good for mixing with other beverages, but in my expense accounts I always list them as "to repairing typewriter which fell off Pullman steps" or "to hire of messenger" so much. However, our auditor is very narrow-minded and suspicious, and has no awe of my dignity.

I first approached the office of the disbursing clerk of the senate, a Mr. Pace, but met a friend of the Washington corps of journalists who said, "Do you know where you are going?"

"O, yes, thank you very kindly," I said, "I am going to see Mr. Pace about the deficit, and cuff, of the senate restaurant."

At this my friend exclaimed, "Are you armed? Because Mr. Pace resents impudent curiosity by our set and only recently he shagged one of our set around the building with a big pistol which should have had artillery wheels on it. He will not give you any information on this matter and if you are lucky he will just refer you to Senator Moses."

My offices does not supply me with a torpedo or bodyguard, so I went to the office of Senator Moses and said I would like to get some information about the deficit in the restaurant of the United States senate. I was referred to the office of Senator Porter H. Dale of Vermont as he was said to be in charge of the subcommittee in charge of the restaurant. But Senator Dale was not in that day nor the next day, so I went to Senator Otis Glenn of Illinois, whom I had met on a trip to Italy two years ago, come April.

Glenn Estimates $50,000.

Senator Glenn said he understood the deficit was $50,000 a year—that is where I got that figure—but he could not understand why there had been a deficit, "unless," he said, "the boys are dropping in too many appointees as waiters and what not on the restaurant pay roll. And, possibly," he said, "some of the members are just so busy that they do not remember to pay their bills. I cannot see why the public should pay for our meals," Senator Glenn said, "and anyway, they charge enough in that restaurant to make money, much less run a deficit.

"They do not have any expense for rent, heat, or light. They tell me it is because they serve only one meal a day and serve that one all of a sudden, but I know restaurants in Chicago serving one meal a day which charge less for food and pay rent, heat, light, and fuel bills and all, and still make a profit. Why don't you ask Senator Moses?" Mr. Glenn suggested.

I told Senator Glenn of my previous experience and he said, "Why, that seems peculiar, because this information relates to public funds and the public is entitled to it. Let us ask Senator Dale. I am sure Senator Dale will tell you all."

Senator Dale left the floor where Senator Huey Long was entering the third day of his discourse on one thing and another and reading funny papers into the record.

"Why, I cannot give out those figures," Senator Dale said. "They would give me hell if I should go and blab to the papers about this matter."

"Who would give you hell?" I inquired.

"My colleagues," Senator Dale said. "I tell you what you do. You go and see Mr. Pace."

"Yes," I said, "and Mr. Pace will send me to Senator Moses and Senator Moses will send me to you. And anyway," I said to Senator Dale, "I am not going to see Mr. Pace. If he happens to get sore, why bankety-bang-whango. I think I will just go ahead and write about the deficit of $50,000, because everybody seems so bashful and reticent about this that I think it makes a pretty good story just as it is."

"Are you threatening me?" Senator Dale demanded.

"Me threaten you, with what?" I asked. "No, I am just a legitimate fellow, minding my own business, but here is a figure in this report on the restaurant, and I can't make out what it means. I am just asking you to tell me."

More Senatorial Courtesy.

I showed Senator Dale the figure, but he said he couldn't say just offhand like that, what it meant. They would give him hell.

"I can get it for you," he said. "I can get it for you in due time, but I can't give it to you now."

But this report was issued last June, and although I realize that the senate is the greatest deliberative body on earth, I thought this was due time. Deliberation can be carried to extremes.

But I might get the figures on the deficit, and cuff, after all, because Senator Glenn called up later to say that Senator Dale had just told him it was all a big misunderstanding. He didn't know what I meant. He is just in charge of the menus and so forth, but he can get the figures and he will give them to me.

I hope Senator Dale does not get too much hell for this.

6 STATES JOIN CHICAGO FIGHT FOR DIVERSION

See River Navigation Peril in Court Decree.

Six Mississippi valley states seeking greater diversion of water from Lake Michigan at Chicago, in the interests of navigation, yesterday were granted permission to participate in the hearing which has resulted from the receivership action brought against the sanitary district by six other states. The hearing was begun in the courtroom of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, before Edward F. McClennen of Boston, special master for the United States Supreme court.

Participation of the Mississippi valley states was granted by the master over the objections of counsel for Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Ohio, New York and Pennsylvania, which brought the receivership action against the sanitary district and the state of Illinois.

See Peril to Navigation.

They seek the appointment of a commissioner to take over the affairs of the district, and allege delinquency on the part of the district officials in the carrying out of the United States Supreme court's decree of April 21 1930, which limits ultimate diversion of water from Lake Michigan by the district to 1,500 cubic feet a second.

Coincident with the opening of the hearings in Chicago, counsel for the Mississippi valley states—Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky—filed a motion with the Supreme court in Washington, asking that the master be permitted to hear evidence regarding the necessary diversion of water for the safeguarding of navigation. Cornelius Lynde, Chicago counsel for the Mississippi valley states, informed Master McClennen of this action and stated that the rivers and harbors act of July 3, 1930, whereby the government took over the Illinois waterway and the Calumet channel, might affect the decree of the Supreme court previously entered.

Seek Peril to Navigation.

"The Mississippi valley states contend that the diversion of 1,500 cubic second feet after Dec. 31, 1938, prescribed by the Supreme court, will not serve the requirements of navigation in the new Illinois waterway Master McClennen permitted their participation, pending a ruling on the motion by the Supreme court.

Yesterday's hearing began with a demand by Attorney William Rothman, counsel for the sanitary district, that the six states asking a receivership be required to prove their charges of "disregarding and defying the government" against the district.

"Attorneys for the lake states have made serious assertions that reflect upon the character of public officials," said Mr. Rothman. "Responsible attorneys should not make such charges before the highest court unless they can prove them."

Blocks Lake States' Reply.

Ray T. Jackson of Cleveland, chief of counsel for the lake states, jumped up, but the master refused to hear him.

"I realize the gravity of the charges," he said, "but I am requesting the defendants to proceed first because I presume they will try to show what has been done regarding the construction of disposal plants in accordance with the court's decree. I make this request in order that we may be expeditious."

Master McClennen then read into the record correspondence between the war department and the sanitary district regarding the construction of control works at the mouth of the Chicago river and outlined the limitations of the inquiry as ordered by the Supreme court.

The hearing of evidence, unless increased diversion for navigation's sake is later permitted, will follow three major lines. The district must show why work has not been started on the control works and the master must determine what steps should be taken. The district must show what it has done toward acquiring a site for and erecting a southwest side disposal plant, and the master will determine what should be done in this respect.

Then the general financial condition of Chicago, the sanitary district, Cook county and the state of Illinois will be inquired into, so the court may determine what can be done toward raising funds to carry out the construction program it prescribed. A total of $100,544,000 already has been expended by the sanitary district in the construction of treatment works, and it must raise $154,350,000 more if it carries out the Supreme court's decree by Dec. 31, 1938.

The control works at the mouth of the river, designed to prevent reversal of the river's direction of flow in the event of storms, have not been constructed because there is a question whether this is not a problem of the federal government, in view of the rivers and harbors act, and because no approval of plans has been obtained from the war department, the correspondence read by Master McClennen indicated.

The hearing was adjourned at noon at the request of Attorney Rothman and his associate, Joseph B. Fleming, to permit the master to make a tour of inspection of the north and west side treatment works. This invitation was accepted.

Demand Case Be Reopened.

The Mississippi valley states seeking intervention were intervening defendants in the original diversion case which resulted in the 1930 decree. Briefs were filed on behalf of these states, opposing the plea of the lake states that diversion be halted, but the Supreme court later threw out their answers. It ruled that, since there was no direct authority from congress for a waterway from Lake Michigan to the Mississippi, the states had no material interest in the litigation.

Now it is contended by the Mississippi valley states that the entire matter of diversion should be reopened and the 1930 decree modified, in view of the rivers and harbors act and the construction of the waterway.

INCOME TAX LAW AND DEMANDS ON YOU EXPLAINED

Below is the second of a series of ten concise articles on the income tax prepared for THE TRIBUNE. The articles explain provisions of the new income tax law, known as the revenue act of 1932, under which income tax returns are to be filed in March.

BY WILLIS NANCE.

ARTICLE 2.

[Filing of Return.]

All income tax returns for 1932 made on the basis of the calendar year must be filed on or before March 15, 1933, and those returns made on the basis of a fiscal year must be filed on or before the fifteenth day of the third month following the close of the fiscal year.

Individual returns must be filed with the collector of internal revenue for the district in which is located the legal residence or principal place of business of the person making the return or, if he has no legal residence or principal place of business in the United States, then to the collector at Baltimore, Md.

If for any such reason as sickness or absence from the country a taxpayer finds himself unable to properly prepare and file his return by March 15 he should make application to the collector for an extension of time to file his return. The collector is the judge as to whether the reason assigned is a good and sufficient reason for granting the extension.

If an extension is granted the taxpayer is required to file a tentative return and pay one-fourth of the estimated tax due. At the end of the extension period, when the final return is filed, interest at 6 per cent must be paid on any balance of tax which was underestimated on the tentative return.

If a person finds himself temporarily away from home on March 15 he should mail his return to the collector in his home district or, in exceptional circumstances, he may file his return in the district in which he finds himself with the request that his return be forwarded to the collector in his home district.

If a person is under disability and thus is unable to file his own return the return should be made by a duly authorized agent or by the guardian or other person charged with the care of the person or property of such taxpayer.

The tax due as shown on the return must be paid at the time of filing the return unless the taxpayer elects to pay the tax in four equal installments, in which case one-fourth of the total tax must be paid at the time of filing the return. If any installment is not paid on the date fixed for payment the whole amount of tax unpaid becomes due and payable upon notice and demand by the collector.

EX-PRESIDENT OF HUNGARY NABBED ON RETURN HOME

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Jan. 12.—After 14 years in exile, Johann Hock, once president of the short lived Hungarian republic, arrived in Budapest today from Vienna under arrest. Hock, who is charged with libeling the Hungarian nation, had taken a chance of winning amnesty.

As soon as he crossed the frontier Hock was arrested. He was not allowed to speak to anyone, and the windows of the car in which he rode were covered. Thousands of supporters of the liberal Kossuth party were waiting to welcome Hock, but police would not permit demonstrations.

SANITARY BOARD VOTES 77 MILLION BUDGET FOR 1933

The sanitary district's 1933 budget containing appropriations of $77,531,637 was passed unanimously at a meeting of the board yesterday afternoon. Recommendations of the Sargent committee on public expenditures were adopted.

This year's budget is $10,930,522 more than the appropriations bill for 1932. Ross A. Woodhull, finance chairman, explained that the increase was necessary in order to cover bond redemption and interest payments on which the district defaulted last year.

The corporate fund tax levy for 1933 was set at $4,000,000, the figure proposed by the Sargent committee. Other levies included: principal on bonds, $9,493,500; interest on bonds, $5,473,738; interest on defaulted bonds, $170,625; interest on defaulted bond coupons, $112,941; and annuity and benefit fund, $309,100.

Of the appropriations set up in the budget the trustees expect to spend $52,600,000 during 1933 and the remainder in the first six months of 1934.

BARBOUR ASKS TO TESTIFY IN WAR RISK QUIZ

State Senator James J. Barbour, whose law firm filed the war risk insurance suit of Richard Birdwell, Negro veteran, now under investigation by the federal grand jury, voluntarily appeared yesterday at the office of United States Attorney Dwight Green and requested an opportunity to testify before the grand jury.

The request was taken under advisement by Mr. Green, who said he first wanted to confer with his assistant, Francis J. Kennedy, who is in charge of the investigation.

The grand jury inquiry into Birdwell's suit was begun after Federal Judge John P. Barnes informed the district attorney's office that the action bore evidence of perjury. Prosecutor Kennedy yesterday took Birdwell from the county jail, where he was sent on a citation for contempt of court, to the Negro's home to examine Birdwell's records.

Senator Barbour, after his conference with Mr. Green, told reporters he was eager to clear up the matter as soon as possible. The Birdwell suit, he said, was handled by his associate, Attorney Edward H. S. Martin.

NEW GOVERNOR OF IOWA URGES SLASH IN TAXES

Herring, Democrat, Hits Bureaucratic Waste.

Des Moines, Ia., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Iowa's Democratic governor, Clyde L. Herring of Des Moines, in his inaugural address today, demanded that the government live according to the means of the taxpayers.

The governor's message to the legislature was brief and based on the statement that "these are times of action, not words." It was delivered to a crowded house chamber.

Rebuild State Government.

Overhauling and rebuilding of state and local government was indorsed by the governor again, as in his campaigns of 1920 and 1932. He spoke of "bureaucratic wastefulness and political extravagance" and declared that a "compact and efficient method" of handling public affairs must be set up in Iowa as in other states.

Warning the legislature that a careful study of state government will come before this session, Gov. Herring said there are many more or less independent boards and commissions whose abolition he has recommended.

Asks Wisconsin to Economize.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The vital need of strict economy and drastic reductions in the cost of state government today was stressed by Gov. A. G. Schmedeman in his message to the 61st Wisconsin legislature.

In a 45 minute address the governor called upon legislators to help him hold expenses to a minimum. He pointed out that the primary function of the legislature is to balance the state budget, and cautioned assemblymen and senators against consideration of new tax laws until after they have concluded deliberations on methods of fitting biennial expenditures into anticipated revenues from existing laws.

Wants to Balance Budget.

Gov. Schmedeman urged legislators to concentrate first upon balancing the state budget and then upon providing adequate relief for the idle. This he qualified by declaring that the primary responsibility for relief rests upon local governmental units.

After the legislature performs these two primary functions it should adjourn in the interests of economy, the governor said. He recommended a "conspicuously short" session concerned with only imperative issues as one of the best methods of capturing the confidence and good will of Wisconsin's populace.

BRIDE IN CUBA

HELENE COSTELLO.

HAVANA, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Helene Costello, moving picture actress, and Arturo del Barrio, member of a prominent Cuban family, were married here "about ten days ago," relatives said tonight. The wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Cora del Barrio, the bridegroom's mother. Miss Costello, sister of Dolores Costello, has been twice married and twice divorced.

CUBA TO CENSOR U.S. PAPERS PUT ON SALE IN HAVANA

HAVANA, Jan. 12.—(AP)—All United States newspapers and magazines must be approved by the government censor in the future before they may be placed on sale at Havana news stands, it was learned this afternoon.

Whether the copies of American publications received directly by subscribers will be subjected to restrictions could not be determined.

Chief of Police Pedro Ainciart yesterday ordered the confiscation of all Spanish language newspapers published in the United States. Both Spanish and English language newspapers published here are under the strictest censorship.

U. S. Intervention Seen.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Intervention by the United States government in Cuba will be necessary unless the Cuban government accepts an offer of mediation by this country. Representative Fish of New York made this assertion today as he protested against the "dictatorship" of the Machado régime.

CHARITY COAL CHEATING HELD AN 'OLD CUSTOM'

Cheap Fuel Known as "County Nut."

The practice of delivering a cheaper grade of coal than the county was paying for to families on the relief rolls has been going on for years, Edward L. Ryerson Jr., chairman of the Illinois Emergency Relief commission, told President Emmett Whealan and other members of the county board, at a joint meeting called to settle the charity coal scandal yesterday.

Victor A. Olander, member of the relief commission and secretary of the Illinois Federation of Labor, said the substitution is such a well established practice that coal dealers have coined a name for the cheap fuel, "County nut." That term is used in derision, he said, because of the difference in quality of fuel contracted for and that actually delivered.

Whealan Protests Publicity.

President Whealan protested that Mr. Ryerson had made public a letter to him in which the county board's specifications on charity coal were criticized before he received the original. Whealan did not deny Mr. Ryerson's charges.

An agreement was reached at the meeting to refer the question of specifications to a new group of six experts, three to be appointed by the commission and three by the county board. That group will meet at the commission's office today.

Commissioner William Busse suggested that pending the award of new contracts County Supervisor of Public Service Frank H. Chambers be authorized to buy coal on the open market for charity use, at no more than former contract prices. The meeting approved that proposal, which is expected to afford a considerable saving while the new specifications are being drafted.

Order Economy Plan Study.

A committee is to be appointed by Mr. Ryerson to study the economy measures proposed by Commissioner Walter La Buy, who suggests using persons on the relief rolls to investigate more frequently the families to whom relief is given. Joseph L. Moss, director of the bureau of public welfare, was authorized to establish a new office at Union park to receive delegations of organized idle groups to hear their protests against relief policies.

An audit of the coal deliveries of F. Bieschke & Sons, a former charity coal contractor who was detected delivering cheaper coal than specified in his contract, was turned over to Assistant State's Attorney William A. Rittenhouse by the commission's auditors yesterday. The audit reveals that the Bieschke company delivered 6,099 tons of Indiana coal, when the contract specifically stated Franklin or Williamson county, Illinois, coal.

Charge $6,762.41 Coal Fraud.

The audit further points out that by delivering the cheaper Indiana fuel the Bieschke company defrauded the commission of $6,762.41 by taking advantage of a price differential between the two coals of from 20 cents to $1.45 a ton. During the period of the audit, from last April 1 to Dec. 21, the Bieschke company paid $31,310.76 to the Wisconsin Lime and Cement company and the Consumers company, affiliated companies, for coal.

During the same period the Bieschke company paid $7,060.02 to the Material Service corporation for coal, and lesser amounts to smaller companies. Coal bought directly by the Bieschke company from Indiana mines was tabulated as from the Allendale and New Hope mines, 3,131 tons; Concord mine, 1,401 tons, and Midland mines, 1,567 tons.

5 Other Audits Under Way.

The commission's auditors told Mr. Rittenhouse that audits of five other former charity coal contractors will be completed in two weeks. He decided to hold the Bieschke audit until they are finished before making his report to State's Attorney Courtney. He said that Theodore A. Spence and John A. Cervenka Jr., lawyers for the Bieschke company, told him that the former contractor is ready to make restitution.

The Indiana Coal Operators' association will meet today to draft a request to the Reconstruction Finance corporation, at Washington, that no more loans be made to states or counties when the money is to be used to restrict interstate commerce. The operators object to the charity coal specifications limiting bidding to Illinois coal operators.

COUNTY VOTES TO PLACE CHARGES AGAINST QUINLAN

Commissioners Aroused by Paving "Deal."

A committee of county commissioners voted to place charges of gross malfeasance in office against Supt. George A. Quinlan of the county highway department. The board members also voted to discharge all attorneys employed in the highway law department, and order their work taken over by State's Attorney Courtney. The charges against Quinlan would be heard by the civil service commission.

The action took place at a special meeting of the board's highway committee, called by Commissioner George A. Miller, one of the two Republican members of the group. He reported that a paving contract let by Quinlan and approved by the attorneys of the highway department, had cost the county twice as much as was necessary. The contract called for the paving of a 40 foot highway in 67th street from Cicero to Crawford avenues. It was recently completed at a cost of $57,000.

Receives Favor from City.

Commissioner Miller informed the board that the Belt Line Railroad company had been granted a favor by the city of Chicago in 1913, and in return agreed to pave a 20 foot highway in 67th street between Cicero and Crawford avenues. This work was never done.

A year ago, Miller said, when the paving of 67th street was approved by the board, the plans called for a 40 foot highway, the county to bear only half the cost. The other half, the commissioner said, was to be paid by the railroad in accordance with the promise made in 1913. Commissioner Miller asserted that he had written to Supt. Quinlan last fall informing him of this fact.

"Now I discover," Commissioner Miller said, "that the whole strip has been paid for by the county. I want to know why the railroad was not forced to pay $18,000, its share of the contract.

Wants Quinlan to Explain.

"The highway department knew of the railroad's promise and had an opportunity to make the contracts binding on the railroad officials. Yet the county is left holding the bag. I have asked Quinlan to appear and explain it."

When Supt. Quinlan did not appear at the meeting a telephone call to his office disclosed that he had "left for the afternoon." When the board was informed of this fact Commissioner Miller said:

"This case seems a worse 'gyp' that the Bellwood case. As an attorney I don't believe the railroad can now be forced to pay its share of this project."

The Bellwood case involved half a dozen damage suits of property owners in Bellwood whose property fronted on Harrison street at the Belt Line railroad tracks. The county built a viaduct under the tracks and lowered the street in front of the lots. Damages of $159,286 were awarded by three appraisers, whose findings were uncontested by the highway department attorneys. The commissioners learned that the award was 700 per cent above the value of the property as appraised for the 1928 reassessment. Later Circuit Judge Thomas J. Lynch set aside the award and ordered the cases to jury trials, which are still pending.

Deception Is Charged.

"It appears that the board was deliberately deceived by the highway department. I move that we place charges with the civil service commission against Quinlan," Commissioner Grace Fleming said.

"I'm for such action," said Commissioner Amelia Sears. "This is not the first mistake made by the highway department. I also suggest that the attorneys for the department be fired and their work taken over by the state's attorney."

The motion passed. Then Commissioner Daniel Ryan demanded that the railroad be asked to pay for half the paving. This motion also passed. The commissioners then ordered Quinlan to appear at the regular highway committee meeting today.

Supt. Quinlan Explains.

Supt. Quinlan said last night that the railroad had been consulted when the paving project was begun, and that F. E. Morrow, chief engineer for the road, agreed it would pay half the costs. When the paving was practically completed, Quinlan said, the engineer demanded that the railroad be allowed to discharge its obligation to the county by paying for half the paving cost on 67th street, although another paving project was involved in the original agreement.

When he refused to agree to Morrow's proposal, Quinlan said, the railroad declined to bear any of the cost of the paving. Morrow informed him, Quinlan said, that the railroad had no funds on hand to pay its share of the project even though agreement had been reached.

ETTELSON MAKES FRAMEUP CHARGE IN INSULL CASE

Aims Attack at "Friendly Receivership."

ence of Samuel Insull is hovering over and permeating every one of these receiverships," Mr. Ettelson went on. "He wrote the program and I will prove it. There was a conference in New York, attended by the Chicago and New York bankers, wehere Samuel Insull wrote the ticket as to who should be the receivers and who should be their attorneys.

"The program was presented to a distinguished federal judge, who lives in Chicago. He would not take it and they saw fit, somehow, to bring another judge here from Danville and, mind you, I am not going to criticize Judge Lindley. I say that he has been imposed upon and I cannot conceive that when he knows the facts that he will be a party to maintaining receiverships if they are dominated by Samuel Insull."

Sets Own Loss at $150,000.

Mr. Ettelson alluded to the fact that he had filed a petition on behalf of a group of common stockholders in the Middle West receivership, which petition was denied. He said he had lost $150,000 personally in Middle West. In the Insull Utility Investment case, he said, he was acting for his wife, who had lost $10,000.

"Now in this case," he went on, "these distinguished gentlemen have been examining witnesses and filled the columns of the press with the wonderful cross-examination conducted by Mr. Jacobson and Mr. White, all intended to take from the bankers some collateral they are said to have in violation of the bankruptcy law. But, Your Honor, not one syllable has been directed against Samuel Insull, not a thing about fraud, not a word. It shows there is a deal and I saw these counsel were selected for their jobs by the counsel for Samuel Insull."

Names Attorneys and Receivers.

Ettelson proceeded to "call the roll" of Insull receivers and attorneys. Patrick J. Lucey, attorney for the Elevated Lines, was named co-receiver for Corporation Securities and resigned. George A. Cooke, attorney for the Peoples Gas Light and Coke company, was named co-receiver for Insull Utility Investments and also resigned. Daniel J. Schuyler was named attorney for receivers of Middle West Utilities, and is still holding that appointment.

"Insull and the New York bankers got together," Ettelson repeated. "They said, 'Well, gentlemen, we have got to put these companies into the hands of receivers. What are we going to do? Well, we are going to have Ed Hurley and Charles McCulloch as receivers for Middle West and Samuel Insull will be another receiver himself.' And Insull said, 'Well, gentlemen, that is very nice. If I am receiver there are three men I have to have associated with me—Pat Lucey, George Cooke, and Dan Schuyler.'"

Attacks Insull Attorney.

"Dan Schuyler has been Insull's attorney since 1915, and I can show that he and Lawrence Allen of Danville framed these proceedings. They were active before the proceedings were filed, carrying out the program adopted in New York, and submitted it for the O. K. of the judge. As I say, I believe the judge was imposed upon."

Alleging "travesty" in the proceedings, Mr. Ettelson declared that when Attorneys Jacobson and White put Samuel Insull Jr. on the witness stand there was much discussion about debentures and collateral, "but not one word about the money he was reported to have carried to Europe to help his father fight extradition and obstruct American justice."

Cites Opinion by Taft.

Ettelson began reading from a long line of opinions of state and federal judges, holding that receiverships of the kind typified in the Insull case were against the public interest. He cited one from the late Chief Justice Taft of the Supreme court of the United States, as follows:

"The desire of those representing an embarrassed corporation to seek refuge from urgent creditors under the protecting arm of an officer of the court leads to strenuous efforts to frame a case which may under equity practice justify a receiver. More than this, circumstances which should have no influence lead the parties in interest to prefer one court to another court in the selection of the person to be appointed as receiver, with the hope on behalf of the embarrassed corporation that the appointment may fall to one whose conduct will be in sympathy with, rather than antagonistic to, the previous management of the corporation, in the hands of which the embarrassment has arisen. As the Court of Appeals says, there should be no 'friendly' receivership, because the receiver is an office of the court and should be as free from 'friendliness' to a party as should the court itself."

Lawyer Seeks to Reply.

"It might save a little time," interrupted Mr. Jacobson. "We are familiar with the cases, the principles of law. There is no dispute. I would like to reply to counsel."

THE REFEREE: I will give you your chance.

MR. JACOBSON: I think he has said enough to give me a chance.

THE REFEREE: No. Go ahead, Mr. Ettelson.

"I want to tell you about Lawrence Allen," Mr. Ettelson proceeded. "He was counsel for half a dozen motor bus companies, one or more of which were controlled by Samuel Insull, and never practiced law in Chicago. Shortly before this receivership he became very active here and is now attorney for Mr. Fentress. He formerly resided in Danville and now has his sign on Dan Schuyler's office, so that from the office of this attorney for Middle West every document in that case is O. K.'d."

As Mr. Ettelson concluded some of the spectators broke into applause. Attorney Jacobson suggested that Mr. Fentress be called in. Ettelson, he charged, had slandered the court.

"What court do you mean?" demanded the referee.

"I mean Judge Lindley's court," said Attorney Jacobson. "He has charged us with a connection with a corrupt conspiracy. My clients are a tubercular doctor, who invested $3,000 in the Insull company, and two women who invested $45,000. My petition was filed by creditors who lost all their money, not by a politician.

"I never sat in the state senate, as did Mr. Ettelson, and I never knew Insull, as did Mr. Ettelson, who is grandstanding to get his name in the papers. I will stand by my reputation and record as against that of Senator Ettelson. There is no semblance of excuse to drag the name of Fentress in the mud.

"Judge Lindley was the most fearless man in the United States to go against the bankers, who hold $30,000,000 wrongfully pledged. As for Mr. Schuyler, wasn't he a partner of Mr. Ettelson most of the time? Is the senator sore against his former partner because of some controversy about fees? It was Ettelson, as senator and corporation counsel, who helped make Insull powerful. You never saw my name on an Insull syndicate list, as a favored investor, but you saw Ettelson's on the very first page."

In the interval Mr. Fentress came in, attended by Attorney David S. Warfield. Mr. Fentress declared that when he was suggested as co-receiver with Attorney Cooke he declared it a "mistake."

"Although I knew Mr. Insull slightly, I never had any business connection with him," Mr. Fentress said. "I never held or traded in any of his securities and knew very little of his affairs. They told me that was the reason I was asked to serve. I am not seeking the trusteeship but will accept if it is offered me."

THE REFEREE: I suggest you read the charges and then conclude whether you want the trusteeship. I want harmony.

MR. FENTRESS: It is your duty to find out if the charges are true.

ATTORNEY WHITE: The only charges made were those of Senator Ettelson.

THE REFEREE: I know Senator Ettelson. He is the kind of man I can listen to and believe. I certainly do not have to look behind his statement to find plenty.

With this remark the referee adjourned the meeting to 2 o'clock next Monday. Election of a trustee will be held in abeyance meanwhile.

Design for New Type of Trans-Oceanic Airplane

Artist's sketch of the Sikorsky S-42, designed to carry fifty passengers, mail and freight over long water hops on Pan-American airway routes.

To Carry Fifty

The second design for the large flying boats that Pan-American Airways plan to put into operation on trans-oceanic routes which will have Chicago as an alternate terminal was made public yesterday. The design is that of the Sikorsky S-42, which will carry 50 passengers, mail and freight. The plane is designed to fly the Atlantic and the Pacific.

The Sikorsky S-42 was designed to the specifications of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, head of the Pan-American technical committee. Engineering work on the design, which involves revolutionary improvements, is under way at the Sikorsky plant at Hartford, Conn. The plane is to be a high wing monoplane powered by four radial air cooled motors.

The Sikorsky is being designed to fly the overwater stretches between the North American, European and Asiatic continents. The type will be placed in service first on the 25,000 miles of airways flown by Pan-American around South America. The first design for the transoceanic flying boats, the M-130 Martin type, was announced last month. It is being engineered at the present.

RUSSIA FACING A CRITICAL YEAR, ASSERTS HARPER

U. of C. Professor Won't Predict Outcome.

Whether the soviet system will stand or fall depends largely upon developments of the current critical year in Russia, Prof. Samuel N. Harper of the University of Chicago declared yesterday at a luncheon of the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations at the Palmer house. The speaker, son of the first president of the university, recently back from his sixteenth trip to Russia, addressed an audience of 700, the largest of the season at the luncheon series.

In balancing the numerous plusses and the emphatic minuses of the soviet system to date, Prof. Harper, who occupies the chair of Russian language and institutions on the Midway, finds himself unwilling to hazard a prediction as to which way the experiment will move. He said that on some of the important phases in which he interested himself he came to the conclusion that he had returned to that country too soon, that another year might reveal definite trends not now perceptible.

Progress in Education.

"In my particular field of education," he said, "I found that important changes have been made in the subject matter adopted and definite improvement shown. I was told that these changes had been contemplated from the first, but that they could not be introduced heretofore because of the necessity for changing the attitude of the peasants toward schools.

"It was of special interest to me to discover what was happening in the development of the youth that is the product of the revolution and is now taking hold in the production end. It was here that I found I had looked too soon to determine whether this generation will sustain the system or whether it will eventually abandon it. For that is the real test of the entire structure.

Enthusiasm Still There.

"I found that there still remains tremendous enthusiasm in the ranks of these young people, though there are marked changes since my last visit. There is a different social attitude, a sort of economic patriotism in the country. At the same time I found more talk of silk stockings, of better living conditions, of cultural topics generally. In a year, I believe the trend may be marked.

"Despite harsher living conditions, despite the shortage of food and the important points in which the program has failed to keep to the five year schedule, progress has been made. There has been no retreat from the program of the revolution. Right now the plan is facing its hardest test—the winning of the peasant. The soviet union is economically independent of other countries."

Prof. Harper said the most serious breakdown in the five year plan was the failure of the collectivism of agriculture to function as outlined.

BELLOWS BACK IN U. S.

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Charles A. Bellows, assistant state's attorney of Cook county, Ill., who with Assistant State's Attorney Andrew J. Valchos went to Greece two months ago in an attempt to have extradited Samuel Insull, former Chicago utilities magnate, returned today on the liner Champlain.

Valchos, Bellows said, remained behind in case there might be developments in Chicago which would furnish grounds, other than those already presented, for Insull's extradition. He said:

"I don't think we received the right coöperation in Athens. The five judges who sat on the matter of extradition could not among them speak six words of English; yet they did not hesitate to pass upon the application of American laws."

Bellows said he would go directly to Chicago.

MOSCOW FINDS NEW 'TRAITORS'; FIRES 3, WARNS 3

Red Leaders Hit by Party Action.

MOSCOW, Jan. 13.—(AP)—Discovery of a new "right" opposition within the inner councils of the communist party was announced tonight with publication of resolutions of the joint plenary session of the party's central committee and central control committee. The resolutions warned Michael Tomsky and Alexi Rykoff, two old offenders, that if they continued their present behavior they would be subjected to "strictest discipline."

The resolutions also summarily expelled P. Smirnoff, vice commissioner for agriculture of one of the seven soviet republics, from membership in the central committee, and dismissed at least two other party and government leaders from the ranks of the party.

Warned to Become More Active.

Tomsky now is head of the state publishing society and Rykoff at present is commissar of communications. Both of them are members of the central committee.

Together with Vassili Schmidt, chairman of the state arbitration committee and a candidate for membership in the central committee, they were admonished they had not been sufficiently active in the party's fight against anti-soviet elements.

Charges Subversive Contacts.

It was charged further that they even had maintained contact with other more subversive elements.

This is the second outcropping of right opposition in recent months, the other having involved Gregory Zinovieff and Leo Kameneff, who, along with Tomsky and Rykoff, probably are the most widely known dissenters from present party policy.

BOMBER CAUGHT IN LOOP IS GIVEN 5 TO 25 YEARS

Charles Caulo, 38 years old, an ex-convict, yesterday was sentenced to 5 to 25 years in the state penitentiary by Judge Francis Allegretti in the Criminal court for possessing explosives.

Caulo was arrested last Oct. 28 at Monroe and Clark streets by Lieut. Frank Johnson, who searched him and found two vials of nitroglycerin, six percussion caps, a quantity of soap, and a length of fuse in his pockets.

Assistant State's Attorneys Mal Coughlin and William Crilly recommended a severe penalty, asserting that Caulo was a most dangerous type of bomber. His criminal record dates back to 1918.

CHINESE TROOPS GET WAR LORD'S ORDER TO FIGHT

Japanese Are Ready for War in Jehol.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Jan. 13 [Friday]. — The Tokio Asahi in a dispatch from Hisinking [Changchun], Manchukuo, today reported that the situation in Jehol province is rapidly becoming worse. The dispatch added that Marshal Chang Hseuh-liang, deposed warlord of Manchuria, has issued orders to reattack Shanhaikwan and Mukden.

Mukden was the starting point of Japan's military conquest of Manchuria on Sept. 18, 1931, and the capture of Shanhaikwan by Japanese troops on New Year's day, launched a campaign against Jehol province. Jehol marks the last spot remaining in the three eastern provinces where organized opposition to Manchukuo still exists in a military form.

Heavy troop movements have been ordered and fighting is expected to begin almost at once. The war office will demand the withdrawal of Chinese forces recently brought into Jehol.

"If China's resistance in Jehol continues, the frozen ground, which will give mobility to Japan's automobile corps, tanks and motorized artillery, makes conditions suitable for a rapid military cleanup," a government official said.

A dispatch to Asahi from Nanking reports that China is floating a $20,000,000 government loan in the United States with the idea of using the money as a war fund. Asahi states that T. V. Soong, treasurer of the national government, is negotiating the loan.

Japanese Capture City.

CHINCHOW, Manchuria, Jan. 13 [Friday]. — (AP) — A Japanese cavalry column, following the occupation of Chiumenkow, continued mopping operations to the northeast yesterday and seized Yunganpao, routing a considerable force of Chinese irregulars, the Rengo [Japanese] News agency reported.

Japanese planes bombed the fleeing Chinese at Yunganpao, which is just outside an angle in the great wall at the junction of Jehol, Fentien and Hopei provinces. It was the base of the volunteer leader, Cheng Kuei-Lin.

ROB JAP POLICE HEAD

BY JOHN POWELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

CHINWANGTAO, China, Jan. 11.—[Delayed in transmission.]—The Japanese chief of police, attached to the Japanese concession at this Chinese seaport, about ten miles southwest of Shanhaikwan, yesterday visited the railway station which was previously occupied by Japanese police. He was clad in civilian clothes. As soon as Chinese troops recognized him they tore off his clothing and took his revolver and money.

The local British railway officials, W. A. Shellam, E. E. Cawley, and Robert Hall, fearing serious trouble, immediately notified the headquarters of the Chinese commander, Gen. Ho Chu-kuo. The Chinese military officials ordered the Japanese police chief released and tendered an apology to Lieut. Sumeya, commander of the small Japanese garrison. At the same time they warned the Japanese not to permit their nationals to approach the railway station which is now controlled by Chinese troops.

Although reports from Tokio indicate the Japanese have instructed Lieut. Gen. Nakamura at Tientsin to open negotiations with Chinese authorities for a settlement of the Shanhaikwan incident, the Japanese have declined to commit themselves regarding terms.

China "Intends to Fight."

GENEVA, Switzerland, Jan. 12.—(AP)—A growth of sentiment among Chinese here in favor of intensifying military resistance against Japan was indicated today with the publication of a statement by Wang Ching-wei, president of the executive Yuan of the Nanking government, asserting China's intention to wage a stubborn fight in the Shanhaikwan region.

Dr. W. W. Yen, China's representative to the league of nations, also confirmed that he and his colleagues had been urging the authorities at Nanking to use all possible military forces against the Japanese at Shanhaikwan.

Recalling that the league's conciliation committee of 19 is to meet on Jan. 16, Wang Ching-wei declared that the committee must "adopt effective means for settlement of the conflict."

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—Beautiful Dorothy Knapp, who was on the verge of entering a convent when she was starred as "the most beautiful girl in the world," by Earl Carroll, became a bride yesterday at the age of 28, she admitted when she was discovered on her honeymoon here today.

The husband of the girl, who formerly was known as "the American Venus," is Jack Edmond, Montreal radio announcer. They were secretly married "just south of the border line," the bride admitted, but revealed no other romantic details. A Chicago girl, the actress won a professional beauty contest at Atlantic City in 1922 and then entered a Ziegfeld show. Earl Carroll raided the show and Dorothy was one of the beauties he carried off. Under Carroll she became one of the best known Broadway show girls.

In 1925 her engagement to Fehner [Chick] Chandler, young nephew of Howard Chandler Christy, for whom Dorothy had been a model, was announced. But Miss Knapp broke the engagement.

ROOSEVELT TOLD OF GOOD ILLINOIS FEDERAL TIMBER

Lewis Proposes Names for High Recognition.

BY JOHN BOETTIGER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12. — [Special.] — Sons of Democracy in Illinois who are rated as timber for high federal posts in the Roosevelt administration were lauded to the President elect today during a visit paid him by the senior senator from Illinois, James Hamilton Lewis.

Senator Lewis revealed, after spending a half hour with Mr. Roosevelt, that he had sung the praises of Mayor Cermak, Melvin A. Traylor, and Carter Harrison as being well worthy of high recognition for their services to the party, but he declared that he did not propose their names for any specific positions.

Bruce Campbell of East St. Louis, who has been actively put forward by Illinois for the attorney generalship post in the Roosevelt cabinet, was indorsed heartily by Mr. Lewis, the latter said, and the senator also proposed Judge Louis FitzHenry of Bloomington, federal judge in the southern district of Illinois, for promotion to the Circuit Court of Appeals, the post to which Judge James Wilkerson had been elevated by President Hoover, only to have the United States senate judiciary committee refuse to confirm him.

Dallman for Navy Post.

Mr. Lewis also proposed to President Elect Roosevelt as one worthy of an appointment to the navy department, possibly as an assistant secretary, the name of Vincent Dallman, editor of the Illinois State Register. The senator said Mr. Dallman had long been active in the study of naval affairs.

Senator Lewis did not discuss possible appointments to the two vacancies now existing on the federal bench at Chicago, explaining that the proprieties call for the nominations to be submitted first to the attorney general in the Roosevelt cabinet.

But the senator did reveal that he favors appointment of County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki and Circuit Judge Philip L. Sullivan to these vacancies. Senator Lewis, it is said, desires that the Poles of Chicago, constituting a large proportion of the population, and being without representation on the federal bench, be honored with the appointment of Judge Jarecki to that office. The senator praised Judge Sullivan's record on the state bench in Cook county and as a veteran of the world war.

May Support Green and Johnson.

Senator Lewis gave strong indication that he will favor the appointment by President Elect Roosevelt of Dwight Green as district attorney at Chicago, and of George E. Q. Johnson as federal judge. Both men, who directed the successful prosecution of Al Capone, now hold those positions through a recess appointment by President Hoover, but the appointments have been held up, with many other Republican nominations, by the Democrats in the senate.

The senator praised both Mr. Green and Judge Johnson as "clean and competent" men, and he declared somewhat significantly that he had no doubt Mr. Roosevelt would recognize worthy Republicans in his deliberations over appointments. The senator remarked that Mr. Roosevelt's election was not accomplished through the support of Democrats alone, but by the votes of millions of Republicans also, and he is said to believe that Republicans who have demonstrated their fitness and integrity in office should not be disturbed during the course of the terms they are to serve.

Collaborates with Dieterich.

"I spoke both for myself and for my colleague, Senator Elect Dieterich, in presenting the names I did for the consideration of the President elect," Senator Lewis declared, indicating that he and Mr. Dieterich are in full accord on matters of federal patronage. The senator gave the impression that the state may be divided in patronage control, with Mr. Lewis presenting nominations for the federal posts in the northern district, and Senator Dieterich for the southern district. In the past similar arrangements have worked well, the senator observed.

Senator Lewis in his conversation with the President elect, discussed at length the problems raised by the depression, and he advocated strongly that the government economize in drastic fashion, rather than press inflationary measures and higher taxes.

The senator urged Mr. Roosevelt, it was learned, to bring about cessation of all work on many costly federal improvements, waterways, new buildings, power developments, until a recovery provides sufficient revenues to continue the works.

Visited by Creamery Men.

Among the other visitors who called upon the President elect today were members of a delegation from the American Association of Creamery Butter Manufacturers, headed by W. F. Jensen of Chicago, secretary-manager.

Declaring that the association represented 70 per cent of the creamery manufacturers in the country, Mr. Jensen told newspaper men that he had asked Mr. Roosevelt to take steps after he becomes President to protect American dairy farmers from importations of foreign oils and fats.

The delegation expressed a belief that this protection could be given by a tax on food products into which the foreign vegetable oils were included.

"We also notified Mr. Roosevelt of our opposition to government subsidizing business activities in competition with ours," Mr. Jensen said.

Mr. Jensen asserted that his industry was opposed to including butter fats in the farm bill now before congress.

The other members of the creamery delegation included L. B. Kilbourn and W. F. Priebe of Chicago and Samuel Schlosser of Indiana.

Mr. Roosevelt's conference with Senator Elect William G. McAdoo was postponed until the end of the week.

President Elect Roosevelt discussed the farm relief bill also with former Gov. Harry Woodring of Kansas, who is considered a strong possibility for a key position in the department of agriculture. Gov. Woodring informed Mr. Roosevelt that amendments to the farm bill, which altered the original purposes of the plan, made the bill subject to criticism, and he said also that new amendments should be added.

Gov. Horner's Appointment of Hodes Causes a Tangle

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—One of Gov. Henry Horner's first major appointments was thrown into the air today by complications in the Chicago political field. Nobody knows now whether this particular appointment will be made.

It is that of Ald. Barnet Hodes of the Seventh ward as a member of the state tax commission. A membership was offered the south sider by the governor, and as a result Hodes has been here several days looking over the situation for the governor as well as for himself.

Surprise to Him.

Word of this situation was carried back to Chicago, and James W. Ryan, Democratic committeeman for the Seventh ward, called a meeting of the organization and he was indorsed for the council seat now held by Hodes. Ryan has been chief deputy in County Clerk Sweitzer's office for many years, and, if he wished, could dictate the decision of his ward organization.

"I talked with Ryan over the phone yesterday," he said, "and it was my understanding there would be no action on the aldermanic candidacy until this matter was settled. This forces me to decide at once whether I shall run for alderman or accept membership on the commission."

Ald. Hodes said his decision would be made tomorrow morning, and that he probably would be back in Chicago by Saturday morning. Then, he said, if he has decided to run for alderman again he may call a meeting of the precinct captains of the ward to choose between him and Ryan.

Gov. Horner absented himself from his office all day, spending his entire time at the executive mansion, where he occupied himself with the mine strike situation. He had no announcement to make concerning his program in his effort to meet that problem.

Many Callers Disappointed.

During his absence a large number of callers and several delegations were disappointed when they called at his statehouse office. Possibly the largest of these was a group of newspaper men, representing the Illinois Press association and the Illinois Democratic Press association. S. P. Preston of Gillespie is president of both organizations, and the combined delegation called to urge his selection for the office of state printer, vacated by the resignation of H. L. Williamson.

Notified by phone of their presence, Gov. Horner asked that they return next Tuesday, when he would see them. It is reported that his selection of a state printer is to be a personal one, and that he already has chosen a friend of his for the post.

He waited in the court for three hours. At noon his case had not been called. CORONER'S JURY CLEARS SLAYER IN CAFE FIGHT

CRIMINAL COURT.

William Johnston, receiving a stolen automobile, sentenced to 1 to 20 years in the penitentiary; Charles Caulo, possessing dynamite, sentenced to 5 to 25 years in the penitentiary by Judge Francis Allegretti.

Frank De Mere, 6409 South Winchester avenue, who surrendered to the police Wednesday night and confessed that he shot and killed William Stanley, colored, in the Rendezvous restaurant at 5039 Indiana avenue on Jan. 1, was absolved of blame yesterday by a coroner's jury.

Testimony at the inquest showed that Frank Buglio, a companion of De Mere, was shot and killed by Stanley and that De Mere fired to avenge his friend and to save his own life.

PAIN DEADENED CHEST COLDS LOOSENED WITHOUT DRUGS

Get quick relief from neuralgia pain, sciatica pain, neuritis pain, rheumatic pain, lame back, stiff neck, headache, drains and chest colds by rubbing plenty of Baume Bengue (pronounced Ben-Gay) on the spot. It doesn't blister or stain. Rub it in till it sinks down and soothes the pain or breaks up the chest cold. Take no drugs, for any drug that is powerful enough to "deaden" pain or loosen a chest cold may not be good for you.

But beware of imitations. Ask your druggist for Baume Bengue by name (called "Ben-Gay" in English). There are many analgesic baumes, mostly cheap imitations of Ben-Gay made out of synthetic drugs. That is why they are cheap. That is also why they are ineffective. Insist on Ben-Gay and you will get real results.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any coughs or colds, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

PICCARD PLANS AIR ASCENT FROM THIS CONTINENT

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Prof. Auguste Piccard, the man who has been farther from this earth than anybody else who ever lived on it, arrived today on the S. S. Champlain and was greeted by the question whether he had pulled the teeth of a neighbor's dog to keep the animal from biting his own children.

He denied it emphatically, to the great relief of a manager, worried because a widespread report to this effect had threatened the success of Prof. Piccard's lectures on cosmic rays, mail delivery by skyrocket, and his ascent ten miles from this planet to land on a Swiss glacier.

Thorns, Not Dog's Teeth.

"I am a great lover of animals," the professor explained in today's ship interview. "Original story is I pulled thorns from garden rose bushes so children would not be scratched. Imaginative and insatiable journalists substituted dog for rosebush and teeth for thorns."

With the canine canard disposed of Prof. Piccard turned prophet. He predicted that another higher ascension into the stratosphere will be made from American soil, probably with his strange container, dubbed the "nacelle."

Cigarets—That's Different.

As the professor was about to enter the children's dining room a reporter started to smoke a cigaret. Prof. Piccard would not go in until the portholes had been opened and the air was purified. It was explained that Prof. Piccard becomes ill in the presence of tobacco smoke.

From Dubendorf, near Zurich, Switzerland, Prof. Piccard and his assistant, Max Cosyns, ascended in an airtight cabin, with compressed air reservoirs, to a height of 53,672 feet. He said today that he did not expect to make another ascent, but that he expected Cosyns to go up.

Next Trip from Canada.

"The magnetic pole is in America," he said, "and therefore I believe that the next ascent should be made from a point somewhere near Hudson Bay. I hope to have conferences with scientists on this subject. I've come to your country to see the United States and to visit my twin brother, Jean."

He predicted that mail will be sent by rocket from here to the Arizona desert and that later, when the safety of this method has been demonstrated, trans-Atlantic mail will go in this way.

PICTURE TAKEN IN DARK WITH INVISIBLE LIGHT

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Photographs taken in absolute darkness by means of invisible light generated by the heat rays of two ordinary electric flatirons attached to the regular house current were among the scores of new devices developed during the depression described and exhibited tonight at the science forum of the New York Electrical society.

The photographs taken in the dark are the latest stage in the development of the art of infra-red ray photography by Dr. C. E. K. Mees, director of the research laboratories of the Eastman Kodak company.

The heat rays of the flatiron contain infra-red rays, located beyond the visible red light of the spectrum, just outside the range of the visible spectrum. A special photographic film, sensitive to infra-red, is all the equipment necessary in addition to the hot flatirons.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE— WITHOUT CALOMEL

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

If you feel sour and sunk and the world looks punk, don't swallow a lot of salts, mineral water, oil laxative candy or chewing gum and expect them to make you suddenly sweet and buoyant and full of sunshine.

For they can't do it. They only move the bowels and a mere movement doesn't get at the cause. The reason for your down-and-out feeling is your liver. It should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily.

If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas bloats up your stomach. You have a thick, bad taste and your breath is foul, skin often breaks out in blemishes. Your head aches and you feel down and out. Your whole system is poisoned.

It takes those good, old CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." They contain wonderful, harmless, gentle vegetable extracts, amazing when it comes to making the bile flow freely.

But don't ask for liver pills. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills. Look for the name Carter's Little Liver Pills on the red label. Resent a substitute. 25c at all stores. © 1931. C M Co.

U. S. FIGHTS BAIL PLEA OF 5 GUILTY STONE OFFICIALS

One Plans to End Life, Says Prosecutor.

The charge that one of the five officials of H. O. Stone & Co., defunct real estate concern, sentenced to 20 years in prison, intends to thwart justice by committing suicide, was contained in an answer filed yesterday by the government to oppose the granting of bail to the prisoners. All five officials have been prisoners in the county jail since Jan. 6, when they were sentenced.

The answer, in reply to a motion by defense attorneys requesting bail, was filed in the court of Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward by Assistant District Attorney Joseph A. Struett. He listed the reasons for the prosecution's opposition to the bail motion as follows:

"1. Prosecutor Thomas Dodd Healy has received information that one of the prisoners intends to thwart justice by committing suicide.

"2. There was no error in the trial.

"3. The assignment of errors by the defense is frivolous.

"4. The prisoners are convicted felons and have no constitutional right to bail."

Assistant District Attorney Healy, who assisted Mr. Struett in the prosecution of the case, in which seven Stone officials were convicted of using the mails to defraud, said that he would appear before Judge Woodward today and request that, if bail is granted, the five prisoners be required at once to pay their fines of $15,000 each.

The five, each of whom received a twenty year prison sentence, are Henry F. Norcott, who was president of H. O. Stone & Co.; W. Scott Carroll, controller; Harold D. Bennett, executive vice president; Charles D. Packer Jr., treasurer, and Leslie A. Needham, general counsel for the company. Two others convicted got lighter sentences and have already been freed on bail. Judge Woodward indicated he would hear the prisoners' motion for bail on Saturday.

Before its acquisition by the Norcott interests H. O. Stone & Co. had been a reputable Chicago realty investment house for nearly a century. Under the Norcott management the company failed for $14,000,000.

Baby's "Lockjaw" Due to Eating Crockery Cement

LAWYERS DRAFT COMPROMISE IN BRUNKER FIGHT

A compromise settlement seemed likely yesterday in the fight between Albert R. Brunker, wealthy reformer, and his divorced wife over the custody of their two children. The settlement plan grew out of a meeting of attorneys representing Brunker and his former wife, who is now Mrs. Frederick Ruppel of Pasadena, Cal.

The suggestion was made at the meeting that the children, Barbara, 6 years old, and Robert, 4 years old, be allowed to remain with their father in his home at 190 North Ahwahnee road, Lake Forest, until next June in order not to interfere with their schooling. At that time, the attorneys agreed, the children could be sent to Pasadena to spend a year with their mother.

The plan was reported acceptable to Attorneys T. J. Shaughnessy and John J. Byrne for Brunker and to Attorney John Bloomington for Mrs. Ruppel. The attorneys agreed to submit the plan to their clients and present the decisions at another meeting.

The meeting followed a court action in which Judge Charles A. Williams of the Superior court took jurisdiction over the matter. Attorneys for Mrs. Ruppel appeared to press habeas corpus proceedings to force Brunker to take the children into court. Mrs. Ruppel brought the action on the charge that Brunker failed to grant her custody of the children on Jan. 1, as directed by the terms of their Reno divorce.

Under the terms of the divorce granted Mrs. Brunker in 1931 each of the parents was to have custody for alternate six month periods. On Tuesday, the same day that Mrs. Ruppel brought the habeas corpus proceedings in Cook county, Brunker obtained an injunction from Circuit Judge Ralph J. Dady of Lake county restraining Mrs. Ruppel from taking action to get possession of the children. Mrs. Ruppel succeeded in getting service on Brunker and managed to evade process servers of her former husband.

Mrs. Ruppel failed to appear yesterday before Judge Williams and her former husband went to court without the children. Brunker announced that the children were ill and unable to appear. A deputy sheriff waited in the corridor outside the courtroom prepared to serve Mrs. Ruppel with the papers issued in the Lake county court. Judge Williams ordered attorneys for Brunker to file an answer today in the habeas corpus case and continued the hearing until Monday.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

THE VOICE OF THE CORN BELT.

The fighting temper displayed at the annual meeting of the Illinois Taxpayers' association at Bloomington is a fair reflection of the sentiment of the people of Illinois. The delegates demanded sharp reductions in public expenditure and corresponding reductions in taxation. Only by those means, they argued, can the American system be preserved.

As Delegate J. B. Jiskra of Bloomington well said:

"All of us are paying for more government than we need, local, state, and national. The increase of delinquent taxes is becoming a serious problem. We are making it a luxury to own a home, notwithstanding that the home owning citizen is the nation's best asset.

"There is a notion that the state is above the law and can do outrageous things with impunity. Far from it. The state can no more escape the penalty of its evil deeds than the individual. The evil done today in Illinois by excess taxation of land will not be overcome in a generation."

The sound sense of such opinions needs no explanatory paragraphs. The delegates were justified in asserting that they were corn belt conservatives, intent upon preserving their heritage, in contrast to the corn belt radicals who are determined to aggrandize the state by ruining the citizen. The choice in reality lies between a solvent state supported by solvent citizens on the one hand and an insolvent state attempting in vain to support insolvent citizens on the other.

Most of the resolutions approved at the meeting will have the support of public opinion throughout Illinois. The one proposal which should meet with opposition is the demand for a revision of the constitutional limitation on taxation. The revenue clause of the Illinois constitution leaves much to be desired, but its amendment at this time could lea' only to attempts to maintain the present rate of public expenditure, downstate as well as in Cook county, by excessive taxation of Cook county. Every effort now must be directed at reducing expenditures, not at finding new ways for the tax eaters to satisfy their appetites. As a matter of cold fact, no form of taxation in Illinois today would yield revenue enough to support the extravagant governments which we now have. All that a revenue amendment could do would be to postpone the needed retrenchment by raising false hopes in the minds of a tax hungry officialdom.

The sentiment of the Illinois taxpayers in demanding a deflation of government was echoed in an able address by Senator Pat Harrison of Mississippi before the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The cost of government, he said, has mounted fourfold in twenty years. There are too many government jobs in government bureaus which can be dispensed with without loss to the citizens. Senator Harrison came out flatly for a balanced federal budget and expressed great confidence in the ability of the President elect to bring about the desired retrenchments when he takes office.

The senator's verbal support of retrenchment, it is to be hoped, will be promptly reflected in the action of congress. If the thing can be done two months hence it can be done now. Mr. Harrison's threat of tax increases as the alternative to reduced expenditures suggests that he doubts the ability of the present congress to retrench. If so, the fact reflects little credit upon the sincerity of the Democratic leadership in the house and senate. Let a bill for the reduction of a billion dollars of federal expenditures be introduced at this session and let the nation see how many of its representatives in Washington, Republicans or Democrats, will dare vote against the measure.

STALIN TELLS US.

Dictator Stalin has just made a report to the inner circle of the communist party on the state of the five year plan and other efforts of the dictatorship. So much of the report as he wishes to be made public has appeared in the soviet press. Anything he does not want his proletarians and the rest of the world to know will not get any publicity.

In other words, Stalin's censorship largely controls the press of the world so far as official information of the conditions produced by soviet experiments is concerned. The leakage of facts is considerable, but the censorship makes any such knowledge as other nations permit of their affairs scanty and inadequate.

In the speech as given publicity, Stalin complains that, great as the results obtained by the plans, they were restricted by the refusal of capitalist states to sign peace pacts with the soviet and by complications in the far east. Nevertheless, Russia has accomplished her means of defense and can now proceed to make internal conditions easier for the proletariat. The felicitous state of existence under Stalin's benign rule is contrasted with the miseries of life in capitalist countries.

All of which would be more convincing if the soviet republic were not afraid to let the world see for itself.

THE ALIMONY RACKET.

Willard Edwards' visit to the Alimony club in the county jail is a reminder that going to jail for debt is not a thing of the past, as we imagine. It is true the legal form under which the victims of alimony are shut up is not a suit for debt. They are supposed to be in contempt of court. But the gist of their offense is nonpayment of money.

Willful nonsupport of dependent offspring no doubt deserves the discipline of the law. But alimony has become a racket with unscrupulous women and their lawyers. Women quite capable of self-support use it to graft on or punish husbands from whom they have parted. Equity judges have too often shown little equity in their handling of such cases and the wrong should be corrected. In modern times women are not shut out of profitable employment and honorable means of self-support. Unscrupulous members of their sex should not be permitted to exploit sentiment and live at ease at the expense of men with whom they have broken all ties. The right of alimony should be redefined in conformity with present social and economic conditions and better safeguards should be provided against its abuse.

PUBLICITY FOR R. F. C. LOANS.

The demand heard again in the house of representatives for publicity for the operations of the Reconstruction Finance corporation should be, in our opinion, complied with. It was first objected to on the ground that publicity of loans would endanger the credit of institutions in need of help and thus defeat the purpose of the corporation. The time was one of acute panic and the objection was plausible, if not conclusive. The decision against publicity then was probably on the side of public safety.

But the force of the objection has been greatly weakened with the passing of the situation which may have justified it, while the objections inherent in the secret granting of public money retain their force. Whatever special circumstances may justify in the way of emergency methods, secrecy in the loaning of public money opens the door to improvident, unjust, and even corrupt action, and this danger should be ended as soon as possible. The public has a right to know how its money is being disposed of, and we think conditions at this time call for the application of that principle to the R. F. C.

GOOD WORK.

The fifty-eighth annual report of Secretary Singleton and the directors of the Citizens' association tells the story of the successful prosecution of an electrical contractor and four officials of the department of gas and electricity. The judgment was conspiracy to defraud the city of more than $200,000 by collusion and faulty work in connection with a contract for extension of the lighting system. Prison sentences and fines were imposed.

This public service was the result of months of hard work on the part of the association's secretary and aids and was an important contribution to the cause of honest administration. It is difficult to prevent altogether the waste of public funds through collusion of public servants and private contractors, but the punishment of offenders occasionally must produce some salutary check. The Citizens' association deserves thanks for its watchfulness in this as in many other cases in its 52 years of existence. The oldest of our civic agencies, it has been a faithful guardian of the public's interest in honest administration.

Editorial of the Day

A MONUMENT TO DR. McGUFFEY.

[Illinois State Register.]

Glimpsing through the State Register for 1868 the other day we came across an item which recorded the adoption of the McGuffey Readers in the Springfield public schools. As we recall it, these famous readers were retained in the schools here until the late nineties and possibly a few years later. In any event, they are held in affectionate memory by whole generations of former school children, although the younger element today knows almost nothing about them, due to the vast changes which have occurred in the system of elementary education in the last quarter century.

Now, we read, Dr. William Holmes McGuffey, the noted American educator who was the author of this famous series, is to have a monument at Miami university, where a number of the books were prepared. Lorado Taft has been chosen as the sculptor of the proposed bust of Dr. McGuffey, the design for which includes a group of typical school children of the earlier period, reading from a book, at the foot of the supporting column. It is said that a subscription campaign for this statue has been in progress for some time.

The first McGuffey Readers made their appearance in 1836, a series of six being published a few years later. They were revised five times, the last revision being copyrighted in 1901. Up until a few years ago they were still being sold in certain sections of the country, but the main period of their popular use extended from the time of Martin Van Buren down to the Roosevelt administration. In that sixty year period they attained sales in this country exceeded only by the Bible. One estimate was that 150 million had been sold since they became standard readers in the school.

McGuffey's Readers went far beyond the teaching of children to read. They inculcated in pleasant fashion a wide variety of lessons in character building—relating to piety, obedience, truthfulness, industry, kindness, integrity, and general excellence of deportment. Through the medium of stories, illustrated with woodcuts, the virtues of right thoughts and right living were filtered into the minds of the younger hopefuls, with a lasting influence for good.

In the later readers, for older pupils, the moralizing was less evident. The object was to provide good reading matter and to elevate reading as an art. Many selections from famous writers were included—everything from Æsop's Fables to Shakespeare, Whittier, Longfellow and Bryant, Sir Walter Scott, Dickens, Washington Irving, Oliver Wendell Holmes, Bulwer-Lytton, Macaulay, and Emerson, along with quotations from the Bible. Thrift, industry, and ambition were stressed, as well as patriotism and good citizenship.

The statue of Dr. McGuffey will be an appropriate tribute to his memory and his achievements. Unquestionably his readers exercised a great influence in our national life and, by bringing English literature before millions of Americans, actually helped to account for America's part in the world war. As has been well said, "Every little prairie schoolhouse in America was an outpost of English literature, hardly less potent to inspire recruits when the time came than the British drumbeat itself."

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

By F.P.A.

LIFE IS A WEIRD THING; it is, indeed. Here is a Russian prince whose castle, titles, medals, honors, and haughty smile were all wiped out by the bolshevists and who left Russia very hurriedly about two jumps ahead of the mob and who had to be content with a doorkeeper's job in a department store in New York, marrying a very wealthy American. And if there had been no revolution in Russia he would probably have got indigestion from overeating, hobnailed liver from overdrinking, had a quarrel with the czar and lost his titles, and finally been disowned by his family and driven from his estate for marrying a Viennese shopgirl. No, sir, you never can tell, but, as the Salvation Army says, a man may be down, but he's never out.

CURTAIN!

I saw you there, an hour ago, upon the stage,
And one of you was in a part of wildest rage;
Another, breasting tides of time too strong,
Strove vainly to change life's sorrow into song;
A third, smiling with every movement of her dance,
Struggled to mask the misery of some dead romance;
Leaped the footlights to storm the human heart;
But there was one—the omnipresent clown—
Who laughed at all and watched the curtain down.

I saw each one of you and then the fall
Of the crimson curtain blotted all;
And all the parts you perfectly portrayed,
In gauzy garments with glittering brocade,
Were lost in the shadows of that drop's descent
As when comes night after the day is spent;
For every play must have one farewell act
And, though they shall call you back and back,
There comes a time when you must go
In final bow before a curtain swift or slow.

So let us keep this final curtain down
For heavy villain and gesticulating clown;—
Pray keep it down for all of us who age
And fumble for our parts the yellow page;
For, having played to paupers and to kings,
We make our bow and step into the wings;—
If they shall shout and stamp and call each name,—
Let's not respond—we've had enough of fame;—
We've had our fill of drums and garish nights—
Keep down the curtain and put out the lights!

Perhaps—if we have all our parts played well—
For us again will sound the curtain's bell,
And we'll be chosen for some higher cast
Where the last are first and the first are last;—
Perhaps the Great Director of us all
May lift a curtain that will never fall,
And we shall play again to every one of those
Who on the earth were either friends or foes . . .
I pray that I will play again to one who knew
In all my failures what I really tried to do.

ABORIGINE.

MR. ROOSEVELT wants to have the inauguration ceremonies very simple and no military display. Yes, but if the entire standing army, the marine corps, the navy, the national guard, the West Point cadets, as well as the Boy Scouts and the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Boston, aren't mobilized in Washington March 4, how is the President elect going to get through the seething ranks of Democratic job hunters to the capitol so's he can be sworn in?

Where Are the Platforms of Yesteryear?

Sir: Your last line 'tother day, "Who ever remembers a platform after the election is over?" reminds me of what Lieut. Gov. Thorne of Kentucky said several years ago: "What in Gehenna is a platform for, anyway? Like those on a railway car, a platform is to get on, not to stand on."

SEE WOO.

TERRIBLE GALE does lots of mischief out around Loz Onglaize. As we strolled around in our garden here in the heart of the great midwest yesterday we could not but wonder why people go to southern California for the winter. But in such glorious summer weather as Chicago enjoys during the so-called winter months we could not long harbor such gloomy thoughts, so, culling a few roses and daffodils from the gorgeous blooms all around us, we went in and donned our bathing suit for a plunge in the lake and a romp on the beach.

Oh, Dearie, Get Two Linebooks—But You'd Better Hurry or You Won't Get Any.

Sir: Now, you do want to break up happy homes. "Linebooks delivered with your morning paper," forsooth! Yeah, and then yeah some more. Isn't it bad enough to have the missus look daggers at her lord and master every morning across the breakfast table because he hogs the W. G. N.; or, if she beats him to it, to have him swear the air blue because she will pull said W. G. N. into nineteen separate parts? Isn't that bad enough, I say? No. You want us to have the 1932 Linebook delivered at the rolls and coffee feast, too. All right, all right. But if friend wife doesn't pull friend husband's hair, if any, out, and friend husband doesn't club friend wife into insensibility over who's going to read first the gorgeous jokes and quips and poems in the Linebook, I miss my guess. Always cracking about bridge as a home wrecker, you are—well, you just see what you're going to start with this "Have your Linebook delivered with your morning paper," that's all.

SAM BROWN.

"FOUR MUST DIE for Stealing Soviet Jam in Moscow."—Headline. If we had any doubts before about joining up with the Reds this settles it. For we certainly do like jam. And we simply loathe stone walls and firing squads.

DR. W. A. SETCHELL of the University of California botany department says he found in Samoa a plant called the Iffi, which will make the hair of a human who sniffs it stand right up on end. We don't need the Iffi to make our hair stand on end. No, we just read about government extravagance down in Washington and our hair stands up so straight that it would make the Iffi ashamed of itself.

RADIANT HEAT.

THERE is something about a glowing fire that is very appealing. People like to sit before open fires, to toast their toes, and to feel the shiny heat in their faces. We think of stoves, grates, open fires, and other fires in the room as sources of this shiny heat that, somehow, has a quality missing in other forms. The scientific name for shiny heat is radiant heat. The newer discoveries about light and heat have taught us that this preference for radiant heat is not a creature of the imagination or a hangover of memories of childhood days. It has its feet on a very sure and a very scientific foundation.

An instrument for measuring radiant heat has been devised. Its name is the globe thermometer. This instrument consists of a copper ball, about six inches in diameter, and colored black. In it a thermometer is inserted, the bulb in the center, and the registering part of the stem on the outside. If this is exposed in a room where there is radiant heat it will register that, while an ordinary thermometer is showing the heat of the ordinary kind.

Dr. H. M. Vernon, who has been working on heating and ventilating problems for a long time, says that a room will feel comfortable when the ordinary thermometer registers 49, provided the globe thermometer registers 13.

Of several kinds of radiant heat he gives a gas fire first place. The radiant heat from such a fire is twice as high as that from an anthracite stove and ten times that of hot water coils.

But there are objections to all forms of direct heating. An open fire must have drafts of air or it will not burn. This means cold currents of air on the neck and back. It means cold floors and cold feet.

In the old fashioned gas logs there was considerable leakage of gas into the room and some formation of carbon monoxide due to incomplete combustion. Stoves and heaters were liable to leak, as well as to make some carbon monoxide, and to clear some dust into smelly substances. The heating engineers have sought to get around these objections by providing radiant heat by means of electric heaters. Since electric heating is apt to be expensive, they use this method only for obtaining radiant heat.

The other heating they supply by means of ceiling panels. Behind or above these are steam coils, hot air flues, water coils, or electric resistance wires. In this way the floor of the room above and the ceiling of that below are made warm and they, in turn, warm up the adjacent air. The heating is indirect, it is well distributed, and drafts and cold floors are not sources of discomfort. If this is not enough, if the occupant still does not feel at home, he can step over to a wall switch, throw the juice on the electric heater, buck up to that apparatus as it glows, lift his coat tails, stick his hands in his pockets, and give praise that he is not as other men.

2. Not so far as I know.
3. Enlargement of many lymph glands, debility.
4. No.

GROWING AGE.

G. H. T. writes: I am a boy 17 years old, 5 feet 4 inches. I have a diet including all the vitamins, I exercise, and take yeast—all to increase my height. Some doctors say one stops growing in height at the age of 18, others at 21, and some between ages of 18 and 21.

1. Which is correct?
2. Is basketball a good sport to increase the height?

REPLY.

1. I vote with the one who says 18.
2. Yes. It will do as much as any exercise can.

TAKING STRYCHNINE.

Mrs. P. F. L. writes: I am 73 years old and I take 1-60 of a grain of strychnine every four hours and have done so for years. Some one tells me it is harming me. What do you say?

REPLY.

Several daily doses of that size aggregates a large dose. But strychnine is very soluble and it does not tend to pile up in the system. Since you have taken it for years you can safely continue doing so.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

16 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 13, 1917.

NEW YORK.—New York City, northern New Jersey, and southern Connecticut tonight were shaken for the second time in twenty-four hours by the blowing up of explosive manufacturing plants in New Jersey. The latest shock came when 400,000 pounds of powder exploded in the Haskell plant of the Du Pont Powder company. Half a dozen of the widely scattered buildings which compose the plant were destroyed. The force of the explosion wrecked nearly all the houses in the town of Haskell and several were destroyed in the town of Pompton Lake, two miles away. Two men are missing and twelve were injured, according to reports. Du Pont officials immediately began an investigation, but said they did not know whether the fire was accidental or incendiary. Twenty-five explosions have occurred in the same plant since it began making explosives for the allies.

LONDON.—Great Britain's "loan of victory" was successfully launched today. Stimulated by the speech of Prime Minister Lloyd George in Guild hall yesterda; in which he appealed to all subjects of King George to place their capital at the disposal of the government, the first investors began to pour their funds into the Bank of England today. The premier's declaration that "a well directed check" was now as powerful as shell and shrapnel met with instant response. By noon $500,000,000 had already been subscribed. The greatest single amount subscribed was $100,000,000, for which the Prudential Assurance company sent its check.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—President Wilson decided to transmit to Germany the reply of the entente allies to his peace appeal. He has not decided, so far as can be learned, whether to send with the allies' note an inquiry concerning Germany's attitude toward further peace negotiations, in view of the entente answer. The President denied a few days ago that he contemplated sending another note to the belligerents.

BERLIN.—Extending successes of Jan. 10, the German forces stormed on both sides of the Oituz road several successive positions of the allies. The report says: "The enemy suffered severe losses in casualties and left in the hands of the aggressors prisoners, guns, ammunition, and other booty. In the swampy lowlands between Braila and Galatz we pushed back the Russians farther towards the Sereth. Labortea has been captured."

PETROGRAD.—The official war statement says: "Yesterday the Germans attacked our troops east of the village of Kalnzen. The attack was repulsed. South of the village of Zubilno, between Vladimir-Volynski and Lutsk [Volhynia], south of Kiselin, the enemy directed from his trenches on to our flank a hose similar to a fire hose, after which we heard a pronounced hissing noise and the whistle of escaping gas. At first there appeared a yellowish green, and afterward a white cloud of gas, which, however, failed to reach our trenches, owing to the wind blowing along our front. This release of gas lasted two minutes and was not repeated."

BERLIN.—South of Lake Ochrida, on the Macedonian front, the enemy attacked the Austro-Hungarian-Bulgarian front behind Cerava. The positions were maintained. In the Seres plain Bulgarian patrols penetrated hostile positions at numerous points and brought in prisoners and one machine gun.

WHO WILL PAY THE ALLOTMENT BILL?

Chicago, Jan. 10.—More "Farm Relief" from Washington. Now we have a proposed amendment to the domestic allotment bill which would give producers the difference in price between the market value and an arbitrary figure of 75c per bushel for the wheat remaining on the farm at the end of the current crop year. This amendment also calls for an arbitrary price of 9c per pound on all cotton remaining in farmers' hands. Who is to pay the difference between the market price and arbitrary price—and how?

With 217,000,000 bushels of wheat remaining in farmers' hands and over 13,000,000 bales of cotton in the United States, no doubt the bill for this gift to the farmers will be of considerable size. Of course, not all of the 13,000,000 bales of cotton are held in farmers' hands, but if this arbitrary price is set the farmers will likely be buying their cotton back from the spot dealers. Why not? Isn't the farmer who has marketed his cotton as much entitled to this free gift as the one who is still holding his crop? Certainly, the man who has already sold his is the one who needs help most. He had to sell. It's the man who is a little better fixed who is still holding his crop.

Who is to pay? A tax that will be passed on to the consumer? Who is the largest consumer of cotton and wheat? Not the rich. They can wear silk. It's the workingman who consumes the most bread and wears the cotton jeans, and so we bring the tax right back to the people we are relieving.

We are now exporting large amounts of cotton. Will the foreign nations take our cotton at 9c when they can get cotton grown in other countries at 5c? Foolish question. Look at 1930—when our farm board "stabilized the price." For the first time since America became a dominant factor in the world trade, less American cotton was consumed than foreign growth. Are we exporting our wheat now with our prices above the world level? The farmers were relieved of their markets. During the past two years, 1931, 1932, we have regained these markets for cotton through our price declining to, or below, its normal parity. Are we to lose them again? Can we afford to?

At present some cotton is used to distribute almost every staple the farmer and every household uses. With cotton at 9c per pound, what of the sugar, flour, coffee, bean, and potato sacks made of cotton? Will the manufacturer and shipper continue to parcel out his products in cotton sacks when he can buy paper bags that will serve the purpose for much less money? Eliminate this use for cotton by substituting other products and you are piling up more surplus to our already burdensome supplies—and more distress.

Continue to consume at the higher price and you not only add a tax to flour but to the bag to hold that flour and to the bag that holds your coffee, sugar, beans, potatoes, rice, etc., as well as a tax to clothing, towels, sheets and almost every household necessity. Who will pay the bill? E. H. MILLER,
Statistician, James E. Bennett & Co.

EINSTEIN'S POLITICAL VIEWS.

Chicago, Jan. 4.—The letter appearing in THE TRIBUNE'S "Voice of the People" on Dec. 15 captioned "Einstein's Political Views" is composed of extracts from various pamphlets, which, taken without their context, are both misleading and misinforming.

They give evidence of the fact that the writer has had access to certain files, specializing in this material, used by individuals and organizations to discredit those whose interpretation of patriotism is not in complete harmony with their own.

Einstein, regarded by his fellow scientists as one of the profound thinkers of the time, denounces war as a brutal and futile institution, refusing to participate in it himself and urging others to like resistance.

Since the United States, together with 57 other nations, has signed and ratified the Kellogg pact, renouncing war as an instrument of national policy, Einstein's attitude would seem to be in harmony with the policy of our government.

As to his opinion regarding the soviet republic, freedom of conscience and of opinion are among the rights guaranteed by our constitution.

By what authority does this patriotic lady on the north shore deny to others, in this case a foreign visitor of world renown, this privilege which she claims so unqualifiedly for herself?

ALICE BOYNTON.

DOMESTIC ALLOTMENT.

Minneapolis, Minn., Jan. 8.—The domestic allotment farm relief plan if enacted as a law will cost the consumers of this country approximately one billion two hundred million dollars without in any way relieving the tax question. This so-called emergency bill will levy an average sales tax of ten dollars per capita against every man, woman, and child in this country. Its sponsors show lack of statesmanship and courage in presenting such an unbusinesslike bill. It is so full of loopholes for bootlegging and business disturbance that if it becomes a law it will go down in this country's history as its worst bungle in legislation. In the end they help a few, but will bring disaster to thousands. Surely congress cannot seriously receive favorably a bill of this type. GUY A. THOMAS,
Chairman of Board, Commander Larabee Corporation.

TO PREVENT INTIMIDATION.

Chicago, Dec. 29.—I suggest that the police or state's attorney's office be equipped with a portable moving picture camera and sound recording device. When the crime is still fresh and witnesses have not yet been bribed or intimidated let the camera and sound be turned on and a picture made showing the witness pointing to the criminal and saying, "That is the man that killed John Smith." Thus a permanent and unchangeable record will be obtained. To some extent such a system would also afford protection to witnesses because once the record is made in picture and sound there would be no point in harming the witness except, of course, purely for revenge. COSGRAVE BIDS FOR SUPPORT OF IRISH FARMERS

Pledges to Remit Land Annuities Two Years.

BY HUGH CURRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Jan. 12—William T. Cosgrave, former president, today made a strong bid for the support of Irish farmers in an election campaign speech in County Kildare. President Eamon De Valera in his first campaign address promised the farmers he would reduce the land annuities by one-half and give concession on the payment of arrears.

Cosgrave went De Valera one better. He told the farmers he favored remission of all annuities payments for two years and permanent reductions by one-half of future annuities.

Farmers Cheer Offer.

"If I am returned to power I will then negotiate with Great Britain for the best terms available," he said as the farmers cheered.

Cosgrave said he would deal with Britain only on the farmers' inability to pay due to the world depression and the "conditions brought about by De Valera's ten months' disastrous régime."

"The negotiations would be on the basis of capacity to pay, the principles to which Britain, France, and Italy already have subscribed and which, we hope, the United States will ultimately subscribe," he continued. "On that basis tottering Europe will be given a breathing space and the lost markets which caused such great distress among our farmers will be restored to them."

He complained that De Valera's proposal to collect one-half of the annuities would interfere with his efforts to secure a settlement.

Cosgrave's Trump Card.

The former president's pledge to the farmers is regarded by his supporters as his trump card. They assert that De Valera has declared his proposal is the greatest concession he will make and add that Cosgrave's scheme will swing the farming community to the former president's side.

[Payment of land annuities to the Bank of England was provided in the 1922 constitution creating the Irish Free State. These payments are for land turned over by British owners to Irish tenants. They amount to about $15,000,000 annually.]

ROYAL DAUGHTER BORN IN BULGARIA; PRISONS TO OPEN

SOFIA, Bulgaria, Jan. 13 [Friday.]—(AP)—A daughter was born today to King Boris and Queen Joanna of Bulgaria. It is their first child. The queen, who since early in December had been staying at Varna palace, returned to Sofia yesterday for the event, which monopolized the interest of the nation.

Parliament is planning to rush through a political amnesty applicable to many political exiles, including communists. The government also is preparing a measure for pardoning hundreds of prisoners in Bulgaria in celebration of the birth of the child.

RADIO APPEAL FOR BLOOD TOO LATE; MAN DIES

A radio appeal issued yesterday for volunteers to furnish a particular quality of blood to save the life of James Eisenberg, 1257 Lunt avenue, failed and Eisenberg died late in the afternoon at the University hospital.

He was suffering from a streptococcic infection. The message broadcast specified that a volunteer who had recovered from the same affliction within ninety days must give the blood for transfusion. Apparently the message was misunderstood. Scores volunteered to give the blood, but no one with the proper blood test was found in time. The hospital switchboard was swamped by the calls.

HUNGRY PUPILS' FUND IS CLOSE TO $19,000 MARK

The Hungry School Children's fund lacked less than $3 yesterday of going over the $19,000 mark.

Had contributions been as generous as on the previous day the fund would have reached the new milestone with some to spare. But the amount of donations tumbled to less than a fourth of Wednesday's encouraging total.

Those who administer the Hungry School Children's fund keep an eagle eye on that daily total because it is the barometer that governs the distribution of the money to provide lunches for needy pupils in the public schools.

All gifts help the fund and through it the hungry school children. Don't hesitate to send a contribution because it is small. Remember that 5 cents will give a nourishing, hot lunch to a grammar school child, while 15 cents will provide a lunch for a high school or junior high school pupil.

$7—The Bookhouse for Children.
$5.10—Mabel Youngquist and Catherine C. Breuer.
$5—Anonymous.
$2.35—The Mantel Bridge club.
$2—E. T. H., Anonymous.
$1—J. J. Blackhall, Miriam Hauskneckt, Mrs. J. E. D., For Hungry School Children's Fund, Mrs. L. T. Williams, Elmhurst.

Total	$ 38.45
Previously acknowledged	18,959.07
Grand total	$18,997.52

BULLET TARGET TOSSED IN AUTO, SPEEDED AWAY

An unidentified man, described as about 30 years old and well dressed, was fired upon early today in front of 3724 Fullerton avenue and then forced into an automobile by two other men. The Shakespeare avenue police advanced the theory the victim had been taken for a gang ride.

The first report of the shooting was given by Guy Fabbrocino, 628 South Cicero avenue, a taxicab driver. He said the man who was fired on had been a passenger in his cab and that the shooting and kidnaping happened as he was driving away.

Henry Hendrickson, druggist, who lives on the second floor at 3724 Fullerton avenue, also reported seeing the man thrust into a car and driven away. Two women, one known as Jean Bennette, living at the same address, were absent when the police arrived. The investigators were anxious to question them on the possibility that the victim might have been one of their friends.

BURGLARS LOOT GIRLS' ROOMS.

Burglars early yesterday looted the rooms of Miss Helen Thomsen and Miss Virginia Wilkes, University of Illinois graduates, living together at 1640 Adams street, of coats and dresses valued at $200.

Four High School Boys Plead Guilty to Theft

Four Woodstock high school boys, indicted on charges of larceny and burglary in the McHenry county Circuit court, pleaded guilty to larceny when they were arraigned yesterday. They are John Stafford, John Bokemeier, Benjamin Stedman, and Charles Fay. The case was continued until Monday. State's Attorney V. S. Lumley said he would recommend jail sentences instead of prison terms and would approve probation. The youths admitted breaking into several homes.

4 DIE IN TRAIN CRASH; TRAPPED IN BLAZING CARS

Many Injured as Gasoline Tanks Explode.

Knoxville, Ia., Jan. 12—(AP)—Four trainmen, trapped in flaming coaches, were killed and a score of passengers injured tonight when two Burlington gas-electric trains crashed head on six miles west of here tonight.

The dead were:

Charles Hayes, engineer, Albia, Ia.
J. A. Baker, conductor, Ottumwa, Ia.
J. I. Warren, engineer, of Ottumwa, Ia.
H. G. Halbers, baggageman, of Galesburg, Ill.

Towed by Steam Engine.

Burlington officials said the trains were traveling 30 miles an hour and collided when the gas-electric No. 179 ran past the Donnely station, four miles west of here, where the trains were to meet.

No. 28, bound from Des Moines to Ottumwa, had run out of gas and was being towed by a steam engine. When the trains crashed the gasoline tanks of No. 179 burst and the flaming liquid quickly spread over the wreckage.

Struggles to Free Self.

George MacIntosh of the Knoxville Veterans' hospital was hero of the wreck. As the flaming gasoline spread around the sides of one coach and passengers tried to jump through the windows he battered down a baggage door to free them.

Passengers told of seeing Hayes, the locomotive engineer, wedged between the engine and tender struggling to free himself before the flames closed in. Fire cut off attempts at his rescue. Warren, engineer of the other train, was unaccounted for. His body was believed to be in the charred wreckage.

City Starts Dumping in Bed of Abandoned Canal

That part of the old Illinois and Michigan canal between Western and Damen avenues was utilized yesterday as a free garbage dump by the city. A waste spot in Lincoln park and the Bridewell quarry also are being used for city garbage disposal. All city dumps at which the city paid for dumping privileges have been closed by order of Mayor Cermak in answer to a strike of workmen at the fee dumps.

WOMAN DIES IN GARAGE.

Mrs. J. A. Hague, 59 years old, was found dead yesterday in a garage in the rear of her home at 2527 Burr Oak avenue, Blue Island. Death apparently was due to auto gas.

SHOOTS BANDIT WHEN HE TAKES MONEY TO BANK

Cleveland, O., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—One bank bandit was in the hospital and another, in possession of $35,231 loot, was believed near capture here today as the result of a private citizen's militant objection to their robbery of the Commercial Savings and Loan company at Berea.

Clarence Fox, entering the bank just as the robbers backed out, felled one of them with his fist, snatched his gun from him, and shot five times. One bullet lodged in the bandit's foot and another in his back.

The second bandit escaped with the cash, but identification given them, police said, by his wounded confederate, promised early arrest. The wounded robber was identified as Harvey S. Craig. Police records showed he served reformatory terms for robbery and auto stealing. Police said he told them his companion was Herbert Retzloss, an ex-convict.

The robbers first bound two next door barbers who, they believed, suspected their intentions. Then they entered the bank, forcing W. H. Ames, president, five employés, and four other persons into the basement.

Fox approached the bank to transact some business. One of the robbers met him and told him they were examiners. Fox said he would return later. Then he crossed the street and told the proprietor of a drug store to call police. On his return to the bank he met the bandits backing out.

CHOOSE JURY FOR NOVELIST'S SUIT AGAINST GRAHAM

Woman Seeks $500,000 from Architect.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

A jury was chosen yesterday to hear the $500,000 suit charging conspiracy brought by Mrs. Alma Newton Anderson, a novelist, against Ernest R. Graham, Chicago architect, and Thomas McGuire, a private detective. The trial will resume this morning with the opening statements of attorneys before Superior Judge Paul McWilliams.

Mrs. Anderson, the widow of a former New York cotton broker, began legal proceedings in May, 1931, shortly after coming here from New York. In her declaration she charged that Graham and McGuire had conspired to ruin her "health and career" through constant shadowings. She charged that she and Graham were friends years ago but that the friendship ended with Graham's marriage to the former Mrs. Ruby Leffingwell, an artist, in 1925. Both McGuire and Graham have said that they know no reason for the suit.

Defendants Not in Court.

Neither defendant was in court at the two hour session while the jury was being chosen. Mrs. Anderson was there wearing a tailored ensemble of black, and no jewelry. She chatted with reporters and posed for photographers. While awaiting for the trial to open she told the reporters of her first meeting with Graham, but refused to go into detail as to the particulars of the court action.

"I first met Mr. Graham at a dinner at the Biltmore hotel in New York through a friend, Arthur Williams, a New York public utility official. That was in 1916, just two years after I had been divorced from my husband, James McCulloch Anderson. He died in 1924. We had one son, Newton, who is 22 years old and is here in court with me. He's a student pilot."

When asked what books she had written Mrs. Anderson named seven. Two new ones, she said, have been accepted recently by a New York publisher.

Tells of New Books.

"If you look in 'Who's Who' you'll find all my works," she explained, "such as 'An Old Fashioned Romance,' 'Shadows,' and 'Memories.' The new books are nonfiction. 'Isles of Gold' is a book on political conditions in the Philippines and 'Land of Aristocracy' is on India.

When asked what her feeling is toward Graham Mrs. Anderson replied:

"I don't want to say. But I have a statement already written out that I'm just bursting to give you, and have been for two years. But I've been bound to secrecy until the trial starts."

Selection of the jury, begun shortly before noon, ended at 3:15, when the jurors were sworn in. Judge McWilliams then adjourned court until 10 a. m. today.

Mrs. Anderson is represented by Attorneys Harold J. Sitron and Leo G. Hana; Graham by William C. Graves, and McGuire by Robert Holt.

VON SCHLEICHER WOOS NAZIS WITH $1,500,000 BAIT

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—While the junkers and industrial leaders are pulling wires in efforts to obtain control of Chancellor Kurt von Schleicher's government, the chancellor is quietly using the conflict between the land owners and industrialists to strengthen his own position.

According to authoritative sources, Von Schleicher is preparing to help Adolf Hitler's National Socialists out of their financial difficulties with $1,500,000 loan, by which he hopes to induce them to support him and his government.

Special significance is attached to the interview in Lippe today between Hitler and the Nazi financial expert, Gregor Strasser—both were recently at loggerheads—since it was revealed that Strasser had tried to "stab Von Schleicher in the back" by issuing a manifesto against the Von Schleicher administration.

However, this scheme seemed to act as a boomerang and discredited the junkers in the eyes of President Paul von Hindenburg and won for Von Schleicher stronger support from the president.

Son of Jim Tully Pleads Guilty to Rape Charge

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Thomas Alton Tully, 21, son of Jim Tully, the "hobo author," appeared in the courtroom of Superior Judge Rey Schauer this afternoon and entered a plea of guilty to charges of raping Frances Charboneaux, 21, a waitress. Tully's attorney entered a plea for probation. According to Miss Charboneaux, young Tully drove her into the hills and raped her.

In November, 1931, Tully pleaded guilty to raping Mrs. June Butler, 17. On that occasion the judge granted him probation for one year.

Piles Go Quick

No Salves—No Cutting

Thousands who have piles have not yet learned that quick and lasting relief can only be accomplished with an internal medicine. Neither salves nor suppositories remove the cause. Bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel causes piles. The hemorrhoidal veins are flabby, the bowel walls weak—the parts almost dead. To get rid of Piles an internal medicine must be used to stimulate the circulation, drive out the thick, impure blood, heal and restore the affected parts.

Dr. J. S. Leonhardt, after years of study found a real internal Pile remedy. He called his discovery HEM-ROID and prescribed it for 1000 patients with success in over 900 cases, and then decided every Pile sufferer, no matter how stubborn their case, might try his prescription with a money back guarantee.

HEM-ROID tablets have such a wonderful record of success that Walgreen's invite you to try HEM-ROID and guarantee money refunded if it does not end your Pile misery.

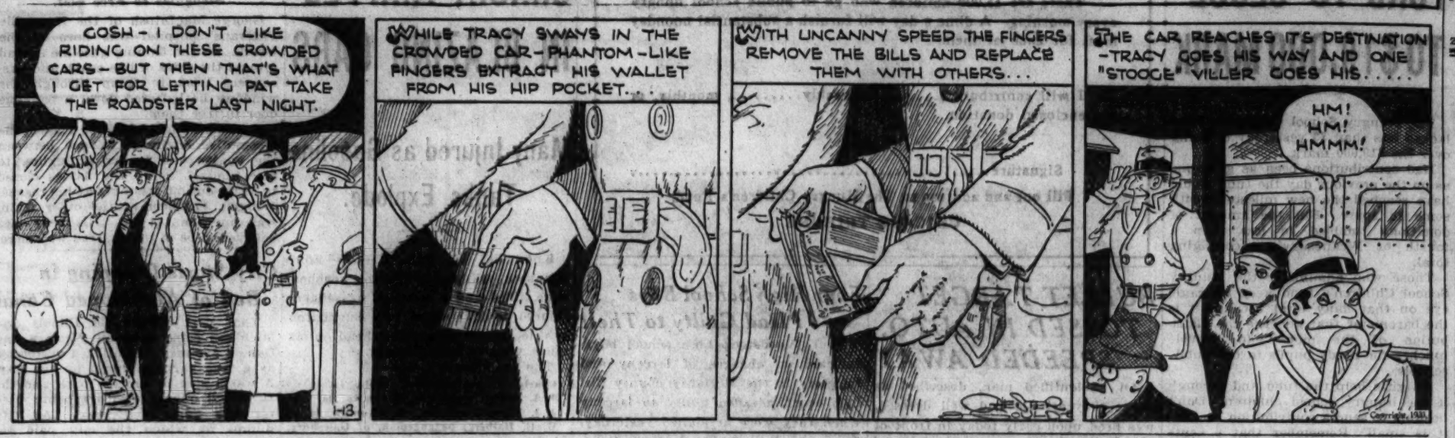
DICK TRACY—The Plant



FRANCE FINDS IT DOESN'T PAY TO JAIL DEBTORS

Nation Loses Money Under Old Law.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Jan. 12.—Imprisonment for debt, which it is popularly believed died out shortly after Dickens' arraignment of it, still exists in France. It not only exists, but flourishes, judging by the number of debtor prisoners.

There were 9,696 of them in 1930, according to Armand Mossé, inspector general of administrative services in the ministry of the interior, who has just reported for that year.

Of this number, 9,569 were debtors to the state.

State Pays to Jail Them.

But imprisonment for debt is flourishing only in the number of prisoners. In point of money the state extracts from them they are a total loss. The 9,569 prisoners were lodged and fed in 160 prisons for the year 1930 at a total cost of $269,091. The state recovered money from only 316 of them, totaling 4 per cent of the total indebtedness, or $10,764. On the other hand it spent 5 francs a day for their upkeep, or $13,728, thereby losing $2,964 on the lot.

But the more interesting section of imprisoned debtors are the 37 persons behind the bars for private debts. Their creditors must pay 10 francs a day for their upkeep. Of this five francs goes to the prison administration as upkeep and the other five francs to the prisoner for extras, such as cigarets, papers, and extra food.

If the prisoner choose he may save the money and take the total savings with him when he is liberated. In one case on record at Nancy a soldier took with him a sum half as large as the one he owed. He paid nothing on the debt.

Rate of Imprisonment.

Under the law of 1867, modified and softened in 1928, the rate of imprisonment for debts is one to five days for $12, five to 15 days for $24, 15 to 30 days for $48, 30 to 60 days for $96, two to four months for $200, and four to six months for more than $200.

As a matter of fact, the judges always orders the minimum sentence. The prison régime for the debtors, furthermore, is an easy one. They need not wear the prison uniform and they may choose the kind of work they want to do.

Those persons who want to eliminate imprisonment for debt as an old fashioned and out of date institution use as their most effective argument the one laid down by Mossé, that it doesn't pay, that the state loses money and that the private individuals, who have their debtors jailed, lose money. The argument of the conservatives on the other hand is that the threat of imprisonment keeps thousands from falling hopelessly into debt.

INDICTED ON CHARGE OF HELPING TO FREE THREE BANK ROBBERS

Ottawa, Ill., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Six indictments were returned against Morris Friedman, alias Morris Brown, 26, Chicago salesman, by the La Salle county grand jury today. Friedman is under arrest here as a member of the gang of gunmen who in June raided the La Salle county jail and freed three bank robbers. Max Marx, Irving Slavik, and Jack Meyers of Chicago have been convicted for the jail delivery and are now serving terms of from one year to life in prison.

Friedman was arrested in Chicago Tuesday. He was identified as one of the gunmen at the county jail here yesterday. Judge Edgar Eldredge fixed his bonds at $150,000 after the indictments were returned.

The grand jurors also returned two indictments against Mike Sperno, alias Mike Mortorano, of Chicago, an employé of a detective organization, charging him with aiding in the robbery at the First National bank in Ransom in October.

Mellon Willing to Listen to Britain on War Debts

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 12.—Andrew W. Mellon, who took up his job again here today as American ambassador, declared he has no instructions on the war debt question and does not propose to make any new advances to the British government. If, however, that government wishes to open conversations, Mellon said he would listen and transmit any message to Washington. Mellon said the financial situation in America now is sound, and that the signs all point to better times.

BOND TRUSTEE IS ORDERED JAILED FOR CONTEMPT

Refuses to Bare List of Creditors.

Russell Firebaugh, president of the Bond and Mortgage company, 11 South La Salle street, was adjudged in direct contempt of court yesterday by Superior Judge Robert E. Gentzel and sentenced to 20 days in the county jail. The action was taken after Firebaugh refused to produce a list of the bondholders of the Fairfield Court apartment building, 4701 North Fairfield avenue, of which he is a trustee.

The defendant posted a $500 bond, which was allowed to serve as supercedeas to keep him out of jail pending an appeal.

Owner Brings Charges.

Firebaugh had been ordered to furnish the list of bondholders after John Traff, owner of the building, charged the trustee had mingled the assets of the building with his own funds, and failed to make payments to the holders of bonds.

Firebaugh had started foreclosure proceedings against the apartment building on the representation that Traff had defaulted on an $8,245 payment on principal and interest of a $160,000 bond issue on Feb. 14. Traff told the court that $3,500 of the payment was principal and the rest interest. He said he had paid $6,377 on Feb. 14, leaving a balance of $1,868.

Many Complain to Court.

"I do this," Judge Gentzel said in sentencing Firebaugh, "on the theory that the maker of these bonds, Mr. Traff, has the right to know the names and addresses of the persons to whom he is indebted. I have had a great many complaints against Mr. Firebaugh by defendants in foreclosure suits. They have said that he mingles the assets of receiverships and trusteeships with his own personal funds. I see no evident reason for Firebaugh to hold back this list."

Firebaugh is said to have millions of dollars worth of real estate under his control, as trustee or receiver in a number of suits brought in Cook county courts. He previously had been ordered to produce the list of bondholders at a hearing before Master in Chancery Louis Behan. At that time Firebaugh refused to comply with the order and the case was referred to Judge Gentzel. He reiterated the refusal yesterday and the contempt sentence followed.

MACKENZIE FINED FOR BOOK BARING OFFICIAL SECRETS

LONDON, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Compton Mackenzie, accused of violating the "official secrets act" in his book, "Greek Memories," was fined $335 today and directed to pay court costs not exceeding $335.

The ruling was handed down at the end of a hearing at old Bailey court during which there was testimony by Sir Ian Hamilton and Rear Admiral William Fortesque to establish the author's loyalty to the crown.

MacKenzie had reversed his plea of not guilty when his trial began today. At the request of the attorney general the proceedings were closed to the public. MacKenzie's book deals among other things with his experiences in the intelligence service.

Antoinette Donnelly Tells How Noted Beauties Keep Charm

An Irwin Pens a Love Story of Kentucky

But Mrs. Wallace Uses Her Maiden Name.

BY FANNY BUTCHER.

"Cotton Cavalier," by John Thomas Goodrich. [Farrar & Rinehart.]

TWO southern novels about young and fair creatures are reviewed today, each with its special interest for Chicago readers, Laetitia McDonald's because Laetitia McDonald is a well known visitor to Chicago and John Thomas Goodrich's because John Thomas Goodrich lives in Chicago.

In a charmingly commendable wish not to confuse the public any more than it is at present confused by the assorted literary Irwins, Wallace, Will, Inez Haynes, Violet, and Florence, all of whose names appear constantly in the public prints, Laetitia Irwin, who is Mrs. Wallace Irwin and known to all and sundry as "Tish" Irwin, chose to sign her maiden name to what I believe is her maiden effort in the field of the novel, although she has had two plays produced on Broadway.

When she and her husband were in these parts last year we all had an infusion of southern charm.

"Young and Fair" proclaims in its title its contents and never once does the author play any tricks on you and prove either aged or unfair in her treatment of the theme. The story is the old tale of the lovely girl who loved a charmer, who proved to be a drunkard and a too-marrying man, a girl who saw, not too late that the less thrilling adorer of her childhood was the destined father of her children. The plot itself would have had a little of the quality of wilted lettuce without Mrs. Irwin's skilled care of it, crisping it up in what is it they call those pans in iceless refrigerators where you put soggy vegetables and from which you remove them restored to life? It's the same old lettuce, but fresh and alluring, and, as Fanny Brice used to say, "You're crazy for it."

There is something aggressively refreshing about "Young and Fair." Try to resist it as you will, you'll succumb to it. It is the story of a charming girl, in delightful surroundings, Kentucky at its most alluring, with blue ribbons, blue grass, and blue blood, and it has a real youth and fairness about it. True, it is a story of "puppy" love, but written with no modern sneers at the blisses and the tragedies of a handclasp or a kiss neither given nor taken.

Jessica is a nice girl and acts like one and, although the boy she loves is the victim of a slight mishap in waking up sober from an unintentional wedding at which, drunk, he was one of the principals, he is always, except once, to her a southern gentleman and a charmer. The reader realizes why the hero and heroine loved each other, which is an accomplishment of the first order these days, when most authors make their readers feel that mutual murder is the logical event on the final page.

And speaking of murder, the jolt in Mr. Goodrich's novel about the young and fair of a small southern college is that very act, although murder is by no means the theme of the book. It just happened in the course of events. But its unusual appearance in a novel about college is perhaps one of the reasons why it won the Campus novel prize for 1932.

Or perhaps it was chosen because it portrays a college so different from the ones in popular fiction, a seat of learning which had everything bigoted and narrow about it in a fashion wholly different from the wide-gestured bigotry which some of our younger novelists have led us to believe is the modern atmosphere of academics.

Blakeley college, the Cotton Cavalier's alma mater, was nobody's mother. She was too desiccated to be anything but an old-maid aunt. If it isn't because the plot has a little unusualness, I don't understand the award, for "Cotton Cavalier" has less of that intangible quality of "appeal" than most books from young pens. It reminds me graphically of Stephen Vincent Benet's novel about college days called "The Beginning of Wisdom" because it so definitely lacks the beauty and the power and the strength of that memorable book from a 23 year old pen.

Mr. Goodrich was 25, I believe, when he wrote "Cotton Cavalier." In my quaint way I consider it a tragedy that a young man who has a spirit and honestly wants to write good novels, which is plain from the internal evidence of "Cotton Cavalier" should have had the false start of winning a spectacular prize with only a so-so book.

Good Morning!

News flash:

Eddie Cantor and not the sunrise is what all the world has been waiting for!

If you don't believe it try and get into the United Artists' theater! [Maybe you can, today—but you waited in line to do it yesterday.]

Like Al Jolson, Mr. Cantor has his do's and his don'ts. Those who DO like him and those who don't. Nobody is merely indifferent to the chap with the dolly eyes and the fish smile. The do's are splitting their sides over "The Kid from Spain"—and voting it a right entertaining musical comedy, with as much plot as most of the genre and considerably more than some. The piece also boasts hordes of pretty girls, whose figures look as if they'd been following Antoinette Donnelly's stretching exercises, some hummable tunes and eye intriguing ensemble numbers. Much of the patter's right bright, too, and you'll approve the direction and the galaxy of charming costumes. . . .

The action starts in the girls' dormitory of a co-ed college where young Mr. Cantor is discovered hiding under the blankets of one of the beds. How he got there, Eddie doesn't know. His bosom friend, Ricardo, does. The two are expelled—after a number of choruses and some funny business in the office of the dean of women.

"Come to Mexico with me!" begs the Mexican, Ricardo. And Eddie DOES go to Mexico—at the point of a bandit's gun. But more of that when you see the picture.

Once over the border, he runs into various brands of trouble and is finally introduced to Sebastian the Second, son of a famous deceased bull fighter. For a lot of reasons it becomes necessary for the fake matador to indeed enter the arena and wave a red flag. . . . Which gives you enough idea of the plot. The bull fight episode is really very funny.

Eddie Cantor is—Eddie Cantor. He is in the best of spirits and yesterday's audience [remember how we used to say optience?] loved him. He has excellent running mates in Robert Young, Ruth Hall, Noah Beery, and Lyda Roberti, that brunette-mannered blonde. Lots of sparkle and humor to Miss Roberti. Minor rôles are capably handled.

We were just about ripe for another musical comedy—and "The Kid from Spain" satisfies.

Stock Receives Medal from Music Group

Head of Bruckner Society Makes Award.

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Jeannette Vreeland sang the same series of works with the Chicago Symphony orchestra last night that she had previously sung on Tuesday afternoon, but the orchestral program was different. Following the performance of Bruckner's Third Symphony, Dr. Martin G. Dumler of Cincinnati, honorary chairman of the Bruckner Society of America, went backstage and presented Mr. Stock with the society's medal, accompanying it with a complimentary speech, in appreciation of what Mr. Stock has done to bring Bruckner to notice in America.

For Bruckner, though infrequently performed, is the subject of a society. The Third Symphony of last night's performance displays him at his most characteristic, with notable themes carefully worked out and built up into the most expert symphonic architecture.

Altogether the symphony served as an excellent introduction to the "Song of the Wood-Dove," from Arnold Schoenberg's "Gurre-lieder," which happens, musically and emotionally, to be a masterpiece. All one needs to know about this work is to hear Miss Vreeland's voice in the recurrent phrase, "Far flew I, sorrow sought I, grief I found," and then to realize that here is one of the great specimens of dramatic music.

A new work on the program was Schubert's "Romantic Overture," opus 34, first written for piano duet, and given its first Chicago hearing in Edgar Stillman-Kelley's orchestration. It was explained in the program notes, a quotation from an article by Dr. Wilhelm Altmann, that Schubert had never orchestrated it because of the imperfect mechanical equipment of the trumpets and horns of his day.

The explanation would seem hardly adequate. Any one who has ever given half a hearing to the "Unfinished" symphony will realize that Schubert was extraordinarily resourceful, both in tone color and orchestral mechanics. The chances are that he ne er orchestrated this work because he never got around to it. But none of these remarks have the slightest bearing on the fact that Dr. Stillman-Kelley has made a highly agreeable transcription and therefore has done a good service to the cause of Schubert.

Absent from Chicago for several seasons, Heinrich Schlusnus, one of the best of the German baritones, returned to Chicago yesterday morning to give a song recital in the Gold room of the Congress hotel instead of the Blackstone hotel, where he had been originally scheduled.

He was preluded by Mrs. Frederick Upham, who made a speech in behalf of the Temple of Music fund now being raised by the Friends of Music, and who showed the best of reasons why the building should be erected. Whereupon Mr. Schlusnus in his turn showed the best of reasons why song recitals should exist.

Even in the morning, when singers' voices are customarily supposed not to have come to their extreme efficiency, he, by quality, range, and persuasive expressiveness, stands among the topmost. By endowment and nature he is more of a lyric than a dramatic singer, and for that reason Hugo Wolf's "Verschwiegene" rather outweighed Schubert's "Erlkoenig"; but the Wolf number and all the other lyric compositions were high points of the performance. Two groups of lieder, a group of eighteenth century English songs, two arias, and a number of encores made up his program.

Spends Winter in the City

Miss Jean Risser, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Henry Risser of Hoopeston, Ill., is spending the winter in Chicago while attending the University School for Girls. Miss Risser, who is to be a debutante next season, arrived in Chicago with her mother after having spent three years at the fashionable Risser school in Rome, which is conducted by her aunt, Miss Elizabeth Risser. A number of Chicago debutantes and subdebs were Miss Risser's schoolmates in Rome.

This Is Friday, the 13th, but 13 Defy Ill Fate

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Today—Friday the thirteenth—thirteen well known Chicagoans who have snubbed Old Lady Luck thirteen times the last thirteen days will sit down to luncheon at 12:30 o'clock at the Louisiane restaurant, 120 East Pearson street, and boast of outwitting Old Man Misfortune.

Sidney Strotz, president of the group which has styled itself the Anti-Superstition society, will brag about his own bravery in setting his left foot out of bed first last Sunday morning and then call upon each one of the members in turn to report their experiences of the last fortnight.

Henry Field will tell that he broke a mirror Tuesday and laughed about it and Graham Aldis will explain that he spilled a whole cellar full of salt last week without bothering to cast any over his left shoulder as a protection against the ill fates.

Wallace Rice, Wheeler Sammons, Joseph Triner, William C. Boyden, J. Clarke Coit, Judge R. Jerome Dunne, Nathaniel Leverone, Wirt Morton, and Alfred M. Bailey will continue the roll call with stories of their experiences walking under ladders, going out in search of black cats, and forgetting to knock on wood when success was the topic of conversation.

Then Secretary Herman T. Powers will wind up the noonday session with the motion that the Anti-Superstition society be continued for fun and not for profit and as an antidote for this thing called depression. For, as Mr. Powers explained yesterday, fear is at the basis of superstition and it's also at the root of hard times.

"We started this society as a joke," he said, "but the last thirteen days we've become so impressed with the idea that fear is the cause of many of our economic ills that we all think it a good plan to make the group a permanent organization. Perhaps in time we will sponsor the formation of Anti-Superstition societies in other cities but never one with more than 13 members.

'Every one will agree that what the country needs most is a positive attitude," he went on to explain. "Less fear and a saner point of view are the big step out of the depression. Certainly it is the devil Fear that has caused nine-tenths of the bank runs."

Sir Walter Scott never visited Melrose Abbey at night because he was afraid of bogies and ghosts. Napoleon had a horror of black cats for the same reason and Peter the Great refused to cross bridges because of unfounded fear.

Our Friday the thirteenth superstition—and it is this that strikes closest

BY JUDITH CASS.

POST-HOLIDAY vacationers are not as numerous this season as they have been in other years, but a few fortunate persons are planning to get away to balmier climes.

The John Bordens, whose invitations to house parties at their plantation near Grenada, Miss., are accepted eagerly by their friends in Chicago and the east, have been having a series of quail hunting parties. Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor, and Mr. and Mrs. John Andrews King of Lake Forest all left on Wednesday to be the Bordens' guests for a week. Next Thursday the Laurance Armours, the Kent S. Clows, and the Earle H. Reynoldses will go down to Grenada for a week's visit.

Mrs. Albert T. Evans and her debutante daughter, Miss Kathryn Evans, who had planned last fall to take a trip around the world after Christmas, have decided instead to go to California. They intend to leave the latter part of January and to motor west leisurely, stopping off on the way wherever they choose before arriving eventually in Pasadena.

Mrs. Stanley Zaring is shopping this week for summer clothes to be packed for the two months' holiday that she and Mr. Zaring and their little son are to have in Florida, Cuba, and Nassau. They have leased a house in Miami and will start south by motor next Wednesday.

Rawsons to Go to California.

Mr. and Mrs. Frederick H. Rawson, who usually spend their winters in Florida, have decided in favor of California this year and will start for the west some time before the end of this month.

Mrs. James R. Offield and her daughter, Miss Betty Offield, will be off, too, before the first of February, to be with Mrs. Offield's mother, Mrs. William Wrigley, at her estate in Phoenix. Mr. Offield will join his family a little later in the season. During the Easter vacation Wrigley Offield, who is at the Choate school, is to go deep sea fishing with his father in Florida, and Mrs. Offield and Betty may go to Florida to be with them then.

Among other Chicagoans in Phoenix at present are Jarvis Hunt, Mr. and Mrs. Burridge D. Butler, Mr. and Mrs. Farley Hopkins, who reside there most of the year round; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Bowen Jr., Mrs. Thomas R. Lyon and her daughter, Mrs. John W. Gary.

Large Crowd at Musical.

The gold room of the Congress hotel was crowded to capacity yesterday for the Kinsolving musical program given by Heinrich Schlusnus. In the audience were many of the Kinsolving patrons who have been attending these musicals for many years at the Blackstone hotel, and all of them seemed to feel as much at home in the new surroundings as they formerly did in the Blackstone crystal ballroom.

There was great enthusiasm voiced for both the program and the acoustics of the gold room and nobody minded the fact that the piano arrived 15 minutes late, after a hurried effort on the part of Miss Kinsolving to borrow a piano from one of the Congress residents. During the intermission Mrs. Frederic W. Upham made a little speech appealing for help for the Chicago Friends of Music, Inc.

Mrs. C. C. Smith of Fort Sheridan was hostess yesterday at a tea following the women's military riding

A Job a Day

Every little improvement we give our home right now helps us—and the other fellow, too.

Because opening, closing, locking and unlocking doors are such common and continual acts from morning until night, it is important that doors have free and unhindered movement. Have all the locks on your doors put in good shape if the doors have sagged or swelled to cause locks to miss recesses in the plate. If the doors stick and are hard to close the hinges may have to be renewed or placed in a different position so that the screws will grip them firmly. Or the wood on the door may be [illegible]ging and you can have a carpenter shave it a little with a plane. It won't take him long to put your doors and locks in tip-top shape.

MINUTE MYSTERY

CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Dr. Fordney is professor of criminology at a famous university. His advice is often sought by the police of many cities when confronted with particularly baffling cases. This problem has been taken from his casebook covering hundreds of criminal investigations.

Try your wits on it! It takes but ONE MINUTE to read! Every fact and every clew necessary to its solution are in the story itself—and there is only one answer. How good a detective are you?

FORDNEY SAVES HIS LIFE.

As Prof. Fordney sat down at a table in the outdoor beer garden of the Hotel Adlon in Berlin, a tall, distinguished man entered, glanced around, and walked over.

"Ah, professor! I understood you were staying here. What a pleasant surprise. May I join you?"

"Yes, do, Herr Schwarz," . . . waiving him into a chair.

As the two leisurely ate there was an alert, watchful air in the manner of Schwarz.

"And don't you sometimes find it dangerous, professor, to so intimately concern yourself in the affairs of others?" he suavely inquired. "That Apache in Paris . . . a close shave as you would say. And did I not read recently where Dr. Regis almost succeeded in removing you from the ah—current scene? Indeed, I should imagine you constantly in danger, particularly in Germany. Wouldn't it be wise, for instance, for you to leave Berlin—say tonight? But here, our hasenpfeffer has arrived."

"You concern, my dear Schwarz, is touching! But you see, I rather like Berlin though I admit a lack of fondness for some of its inhabitants."

Just then Fordney turned to greet a passing acquaintance.

"As you will," answered Schwarz with a shrug. "Have some salt?"

"Thank you," acknowledged Fordney studying the salt shaker handed him. While it was identical with all the others used by the hotel, he knew it was not the one he had used a few minutes earlier.

"Not a very subtle poisoner," he said, pocketing it. "This will mean twenty years for you Schwarz. Attempted murder is a serious business in Germany."

WHY DID FORDNEY SUSPECT SCHWARZ OF ATTEMPTING TO POISON HIM?

[See solution on page 29.]

Marry the Girl Who Chooses You, Is Advice of Professor

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Dr. E. Lyman Cornell of Northwestern university tells young men: "I advise a man to marry the girl who chooses him. As a rule a girl will pick well."

There is nothing left of leap year for the girls to act on Prof. Cornell's advice, but it wasn't intended for leap year advice. It's just as usable this year as last. This subject of the girl doing the choosing is always greeted with the laugh: "She does!"

BUT—does she? Aren't there any number of conventional maids still who wait for the question to be put to them?

Reading the voluminous contributions to my How He Proposed contest, one realizes how often the girl must wait and pray for what seems like an act of God to pry the words loose from the man.

"I thought he'd never propose," is a common confession. "I wished and wished he'd say something," is another. "I made up my mind I'd have to ask him," is another common comment. In seventy-five per cent of the proposals reported they were accomplished through some incident or under some circumstances that forced the words out of the man's mouth. The girls were always on the watchful waiting end of the line.

Well, there'll always be an argument as to whether man should be divested of this last right, or not. But there's no argument as to the advantages of the woman getting the man she wants. She may not always pick well. She often does not. But if she gets the one she wants, it's well enough for her.

On the whole, however, the woman does use her head about her future mate. What may seem like a materialistic attitude is often merely the instinct for security and protection for the children she hopes to bring into the world. In the majority of cases she does not ask for immediate success—but she does want to see the seeds of progress well manifested in the man with whom she throws her lot.

OLD TIME BREAD MAKING ALMOST A LOST ART NOW

But There's a Recipe for Swedish Tea Ring.

BY FLORA MARTIN.

The old fashioned art of making home made bread is one about which many housewives of the modern school of cooking know little. Not a one of us perhaps can forget those Saturday bake days when mother used to turn out loaf after loaf of freshly made bread. And what a treat it was!

Most of us think of bread only as a commonplace food, calmly accepting it as a matter of course in our daily diets. However, the many interesting legends and superstitions that are connected with it put it in a class with other old time foods whose fascinating history makes them food royalty.

Freshness Determines Rank.

Back in the early days of England, according to history, social caste was measured by the freshness of bread. Then only the nobility was allowed to partake of freshly baked bread. Afterward it was distributed to the lower classes. Another tale is told of how many Russian peasants carried bread along with their household wares when they moved for fear that hunger would follow them to their new abode if bread didn't cross the threshold with them.

The bread, of course, with which we are most familiar is our own American variety but most of us have, no doubt, partaken of breads from other lands at one time or another. For instance, the Swedish tea ring is one with which many of us have more than a speaking acquaintance.

Here's the Recipe.

If you've never made it, you might try out this recipe:

½ cup milk, scalded and cooled
¾ cup lukewarm water
½ tablespoon sugar
1 cake yeast
3½ cups flour
3 tablespoons butter
¼ cup sugar
1½ eggs
¼ teaspoon salt

Dissolve yeast and ½ tablespoon sugar in lukewarm water. Add milk and half the flour and beat until smooth. Add butter and sugar thoroughly creamed. Add eggs beaten until light, the remainder of the flour or enough to make a moderately soft dough. Turn on board and knead. Place in greased bowl and set in warm place to rise for about two hours. Roll out in oblong piece ¾ inch thick. Roll up lengthwise and place in a circle on a large, shallow greased pan or baking sheet. With scissors cut ¾ inch slices, almost through dough. Turn each slice partly on its side, pointing away from the center. Should show layers with filling. Cover and let rise until light. Just before putting in oven glaze with egg, diluted with milk. Ice while hot with plain frosting.

WINTER SQUASH, APPLES PROVIDE PALATABLE DISH

Damon and Pythias of the culinary kingdom are apples and winter squash. The cook who enjoys experimenting with flavor combinations soon discovers that between this fruit and vegetable there is an unique and perfect harmony.

Even those members of the family who heretofore have looked askance at squash in any form will be tempted by a savory dish of scalloped winter squash and apples. The following is a reliable recipe:

SCALLOPED WINTER SQUASH AND APPLES.

2 cups boiled or baked winter squash cut in ¼ inch slices.
1½ cups thinly sliced sour apples.
Salt.

Put one cup of squash in a buttered baking dish, cover it with a half of the apples, and sprinkle with ¼ cup of the brown sugar. With the saltcellar sprinkle over this a little salt and dot with two tablespoons of butter. Repeat in this manner with the remaining half of the ingredients, and bake for an hour in a moderate oven [350 degrees Fahrenheit].

With scalloped winter squash and apples as the principal dish, one excellent cooking authority suggests that a balanced meal be completed by adding to the menu a salad of shredded cabbage and cottage cheese, whole wheat bread and butter, and a dessert of baked rice custard, with milk as the beverage for those who prefer it.

An Egg of Less than Two Ounces Is Below Standard

The standard egg is one that weighs two ounces, and a dozen of them, 24 ounces. Premiums are paid for those which pass this standard weight mark and lower prices than the average usually prevail for eggs which may weigh from two to six ounces less per dozen.

Squash Recipes

Repeat until ingredients are used. Then dot with butter and sprinkle with a thick layer [about ½ cup] grated American cheese. Cover and bake in a moderate oven [375 degrees F.] for one hour or until squash is tender.

ACORN SQUASH WITH PORK LINKS.

Use ½ squash for each portion. Wash and seed as many as you need. Cut in halves and place two pork link sausages in each half squash. Sprinkle with a pinch of salt and place in an oven to bake until tender. The oven temperature should be approximately 325 degrees F.

GREAT VARIETY OF SEA FOOD IS AVAILABLE HERE

Refrigeration Makes City Fish Marketing Center.

BY EVERETT SWINGLE.

With the development of refrigeration to its present state of efficiency, Chicago has become one of the major seafood and fish marketing centers of the country. It takes the work of thousands of fishermen in fresh and salt waters to fill the daily fish orders of this and other cities.

Seafoods popular here at present include the oyster, shrimp, lobster, crab, scallop, clam, smelt, sea bass, bluefish, mullet, shad, pompano, mackerel, halibut and flounder. Fresh water favorites are the perch, lake and mountain trout, pike and whitefish.

Wide Field of Choice.

The sources of all these lie in inlets and bays and the open ocean as well as inland lakes and rivers great and small. Off the coast of Newfoundland fishermen strive for catches that will compete with other varieties of fish and seafoods from the Chesapeake bay region, the Gulf of Mexico, private hatcheries, and the Great Lakes.

With all these products of fresh and salt water to choose from, the housewife may suit herself and the tastes of her family. Preparation of seafood is the test of its appeal to the palate. During winter in Chicago lemons owe a large part of their popularity to their use as flavoring for hot servings of seafood.

Variety of Tempting Sauces.

Some housewives have learned the secret of delicate cheese sauces or other garnishments that add much to the flavor of sea food. Perhaps the French are most expert in this. Tourists say they have a sauce for use with each kind of fish served in France. To use the wrong sauce is an epicure's idea of sacrilege.

Color enters into the attractiveness of fish and seafoods. Some hostesses have learned that caviar is of different shades.

THESE RECIPES OFFER CHANGE IN SEA FOOD DISHES

For Instance, There's Shrimp Chop Suey.

BY PHYLLIS HAMMOND.

For the housewife who wants to serve fish in place of meat there are ways of preparation which give a change from the more common methods of cooking. For instance, one may have shrimp chop suey, baked salmon and corn, or deviled crabs.

To make shrimp chop suey brown one cup of diced celery and two small onions chopped fine in two tablespoonfuls of butter. When the celery is tender add one cup of shrimps, one can of bean sprouts, one teaspoonful soy sauce, and one can of mushrooms. This recipe calls for one teaspoonful of salt, but for most tastes this is too much. Serve with rice.

How to Prepare Rice.

In order to make each rice kernel stand out of itself, the following recipe is recommended. Boil hard for three minutes one cupful of washed rice in two cupfuls of water. Place in a medium oven and bake until soft and fluffy.

For salmon soufflé make two cupfuls of thick white sauce. Add one medium sized can of boned and drained salmon and mix. Fold in the beaten whites of three eggs and one teaspoonful baking powder. Season to taste. Cover bottom of a buttered baking dish with a layer of the salmon mixture. Next add a layer of corn. Repeat until dish is filled. Cover with bread crumbs, dot with butter, and bake in a medium oven until puffed and brown on top.

Recipe for Deviled Crabs.

Deviled crabs with hot rolls and coffee make a welcome luncheon dish. Make two cupfuls of white sauce, add two slightly beaten egg yolks, salt and pepper, and one cupful of chopped crab meat. Cook three minutes and add one teaspoon of chopped parsley. Wash and trim crab shells and fill with mixture. Sprinkle with ground bread or cracker crumbs mixed with melted butter and bake until brown.

HOLLAND'S TULIP LANE.

CELERY IS FRUIT OF MAN'S EFFORT WITH WILD PLANT

Experts Keep Light from Stalk to Make It White.

The Greeks may have had a word for it, but celery is essentially a modern vegetable. What else so aptly compannies a cocktail, seasons a soup, flavors a roast or completes a salad?

Crisp, slender, tasty celery stalks require the same description which fills the advertisements of all beautiful modern products. This is as it should be, for celery as we know it is a product of man's ingenuity and nature's generosity.

Experts Work On It.

Left to itself, celery had been growing wild in the meadows of Europe and America when a few decades ago horticulturists took it in hand. These experts presented it, bleached and golden crested, to an appreciative world.

Their method of converting it from its natural coarse brown state to the familiar ivory white tenderness is, with slight variations, still in practice. Young celery plants are set out and banked up with earth, or boards are ranged along the rows to keep out the light. Still a later method is to place the plants so close together that the outer plants protect the inner from light.

At first celery was a seasonal vegetable, but now it is available all the year around, and it is so reasonable this winter that celery hearts are retailing at prices formerly asked for the outer stalks.

Ah! Celery Soup.

No more delicious way of serving celery is known than to slice these tender hearts and fill them with pimiento or some piquant cheese.

6 cups milk.
4 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
2 cups cream.
1 or 2 slices onion.

Break celery in one inch pieces and grate. Cook 20 minutes with onion and milk in double boiler. Remove onion, add butter, flour and seasonings, celery broth, and cream. Cook until smooth and serve.

Here Is Another.

Another favorite is celery au gratin Wash, scrape and cut into one inch lengths crisp celery stalks. Cook these in boiling water until tender; drain off water and put into baking dish in layers. Sprinkle each layer with salt, pepper, and drawn butter. Strew the top layer with bread crumbs, place in moderate oven until light brown.

POTATOES HELP OUT AT COLLEGE.

LIVE ON MILK AND CEREALS IF YOU'RE HARD UP

Ithaca, N. Y., Jan. 12.—When money limits the amount of food, milk and cereals furnish the most health for the money. This is the determination made by Miss Marie Wells, New York State college home economics worker.

Vegetables and fruits are next in importance, according to reports made by Miss Wells. In considering money value, she places the potato first and cabbage next in importance because both are comparatively low in price the year around.

"The most valuable fruit, if only one is to be selected, is the tomato," Miss Wells declares. "After fruit and vegetables come eggs, meats, and, last of all, the fats and sugar.

"In combining these foods for a day's meals, tomato juice would probably appear at breakfast. The juice may be home canned or strained from canned supplies. Prunes are another economical breakfast fruit, provided they are wisely selected. Small prunes are cheaper than large ones and yield practically the same amount of pulp.

"Pork liver is one of the cheapest of meats and other organs are also cheap and high in food value. Potatoes adapt themselves to so many methods of preparation that they are always acceptable. Cabbage and carrots are both given variety if they are served raw occasionally. Puddings of cereal and fruit, and custards are cheap desserts."

● DOCTORS RECOMMEND IT

It's the 50-50 cocktail—half zestful Florida grapefruit juice—half delicious Florida orange juice. Your doctor will tell you that there's nothing better to keep your system alkaline—and that's the only "system" cold and influenza germs can't beat.

To escape colds, just drink a 50-50 three times a day. You'll find it more economical to make it with tree-ripened Florida oranges and grapefruit—they give so much more juice. Richer, better-flavored juice, too. You can always identify Florida citrus fruit by its thin, smooth skin.

TASTY, TANGY TANGERINES!

Florida tangerines are "kid-glove" oranges. The peel comes off as easily! One twist of the thumb—and the Florida tangerine releases its distinctive cover. The rich, red segments come apart like the petals of a rose. Eat them for flavor, for fun and for food-value! Children love them. So will you!

TRY SERVING BROCCOLI PLAIN TO THE FAMILY

And Then Glorify It at Its Second Appearance.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a new Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented weekly by Miss Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 a. m. tomorrow, Jan. 14, for Miss Meade's first market chat.

BY MARY MEADE.

There has always been broccoli—at least it's nodded its green head for so many generations that nobody can remember when it wasn't. But just the same, this interesting green member of the cauliflower family, with its loose heads and delicate flavor is a comparative newcomer in most American kitchens, and there are plenty of meal getters who haven't yet tried it out on an approving family because there seems still to be a shroud of mystery about the ways and means of preparation.

If you haven't introduced broccoli to the family, try it out on them some time this week, first cooked just to perfection "as is," and served up with a smooth, golden blanket of Hollandaise sauce or cheese cream sauce, and then later glorified in one of the more unusual and even more delicious forms in which it loves to step out. Why? First and foremost, because it affords a change from the old faithfuls in the bean, pea, beet, carrot, and spinach line and helps to companify the most simple of affairs. And secondly, we're boosting for broccoli because it is a good source of minerals and bulk, both health builders, and because it does its bit in supplying vitamins which stave off colds, give death punches to infections, and in general build up the tone and huskiness of our bodies.

So let's have it—broccoli in the up-to-the-scratch cooks' most ingratiating ways of serving it!

In buying broccoli, first of all, you are buying a vegetable which, after the first head was harvested, has branched out and produced many loose heads on the same stalk. These heads are likely to harbor undesirable insect tenants, so the trick is to let the stalks stand head first in salt water for an hour or more before cooking to make sure said bugs have departed. Next, separate the heads and slice the stems, leaving part of the stem on each head. If the stems are not tender, pare and then slice them. Cook the broccoli in a large amount of briskly boiling water, adding salt during the last few minutes of cooking. Ten to fifteen minutes should do the trick. To serve most simply, drain and bring to the table with salt, pepper and butter or cream sauce.

But now for some glorifications:

BROCCOLI OMELETTE.

Boil the broccoli until tender in salted water, drain, cool, and then chop the stems and blossoms fine. Chop a strip of bacon and a small onion together and fry till brown. Add the broccoli and toss together until simmering hot. Have blended together two well beaten eggs, two tablespoons of milk, and a seasoning of salt and paprika. Add the eggs, stirring well, and then let cook until a golden brown. This is delicious served with chili sauce.

CREAMED BROCCOLI SOUP.

Or how about something new and green in the soup line? Simmer a good sized head of broccoli, cut in the usual fashion, in two quarts of water to which you have added a small piece of smoked ham for flavor. Let it sink to itself over a low fire for two hours, then season with salt and cayenne pepper and add a tablespoon of minced onions and a minced clove of garlic which have been fried together. Boil up and then strain the soup, puréeing the broccoli through the sieve. Add one-half cup of coffee cream and serve very hot with toasted croutons.

BROCCOLI AU GRATIN.

Cook the broccoli in salted water till tender. Cut fine. Mix approximately two cups of the vegetable with one-half cup of grated American cheese and place in a buttered casserole. Cover with a cup of savory rich cream sauce and top with a sprinkling of grated cheese and toasted bread crumbs. Bake half an hour in a moderate oven and brown the top, if need be, under a broiler flame.

NEW RICE DISH MORE NOURISHING

When Viscount Makoto Saito, premier of Japan, second from right, sat down to a banquet recently in the Chuotei restaurant in Tokio, he was greeted by a piece de resistance of uncleaned or rough rice quite different from the usual fluffy white rice familiar to Oriental diners. The dinner was served by the Tokio Dietetic laboratory, which has been carrying on experiments on the food value of various types of rice and has reached the conclusion that uncleaned rice—that which has not been freed from its brown outer chaff—holds much more nourishment than the polished, cleaned variety, the mineral and vitamin content lying to a great extent in those parts which are polished off in the more refined rice products. FIRST POTATOES GROWN IN BERLIN SERVED IN 1649

Wine Poured Over Before Cooking.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The "Lustgarten," proud center of Berlin—surrounded by the former imperial palace, the cathedral, the old museum with its Ionic portico of eighteen columns, and a branch of the River Spree—once was a potato field, ancient records disclose. But even then it was no ordinary potato field, for it was the first in the "Mark Brandenbury."

Kaiser a Horticulturist.

In the days of the Grosser Kurfuerst," nearly two and a half centuries ago, the Berliners had to send to Brunswick, Hamburg, Leipzig, and Erfurt for even their most simple vegetables. The sovereign, a keen horticulturist, summoned experts from Holland, and thanks to his exertions a model vegetable garden was established on the spot where political parties now delight to demonstrate in force—when the police permit them.

Here is one of the recipes from those good old days for cooking potatoes. First boil them soft, and skin them when they are cold. Pour wine over them, and cook them again with butter, salt, mace, and similar spices "Then they are ready," says the old cookery book. Unfortunately, the kind of wine to be used is not stated—apparently that was left to personal and unfettered taste.

Cut Them Up with Onions.

Another good way of serving these delicacies grown on royal soil in the Lustgarten was to "cut them up with onions and vinegar and fry them equickly." In 1682 potatoes had progressed so far that a culinary expert writes "many eat these white truffles just for a change, but they are quite nourishing and one can eat them as a regular food. Nowadays, it is quite easy to provide them."

WHITE CAKE WITH HICKORY NUTS.

½ cup butter.
1½ cups granulated sugar.
1 cup chopped hickory nuts.
1 cup cold water.
2½ cups pastry flour.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
1 teaspoon almond extract.

Cream the butter and sugar thoroughly. Alternately add the flour and the water, leaving out a small quantity of the flour to be sifted with the baking powder. Beat for 2 minutes, first adding the flavoring and then the mixed baking powder and flour. Fold in the beaten whites of eggs. Add 1 extra tablespoon of flour sifted over one cup of chopped hickory nut meats.

HOW TO USE YOLKS AFTER BAKING OF ANGEL FOOD CAKE

Considering food value of eggs, angel food cakes are not a luxury, but may appear often on the menu, according to Miss Aneta Bendle, extension nutritionist of Purdue university. Then comes the question of how to utilize the egg yolks that are left over. There is always the boiled salad dressing, but even after that is made there are still many egg yolks left.

The following may give the housewife a few new suggestions:

CUP CAKES.

1 cup cake flour [sifted].
Grated lemon rind.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
¼ cup milk.

Cream butter, add the sugar gradually and cream until very light. Add egg yolks and beat well. Add flour that has been sifted with the baking powder alternately with the milk. Add lemon rind, turn into deep cup cake pans that have been well greased, bake in a quick oven [400 degrees F.] until done.

MAPLE PARFAIT.

1 cup maple sirup
2 cups cream [whipped].

Beat eggs slightly, add sirup and cook over hot water until slightly thickened. Cool. Fold in the whipped cream. Freeze, using eight parts of finely broken ice to one part of freezing salt.

JELLIED CUSTARD CABINET PUDDING

5 egg yolks slightly beaten.
2 cups milk.
1-3 cup sugar.
¼ teaspoon salt.
1 tablespoon gelatine.
1-3 cup milk.
Apricots, fresh or canned.

Heat the eggs with the milk and sugar until they thicken slightly. Add salt, and flavoring if desired. Add the gelatine that has been softened in cold milk for five minutes or longer. Stir until dissolved. Line a mold with lady fingers or strips of sponge cake dipped in the custard. Add custard, sweetened apricots [drained if canned ones are used] and cake sections in alternate layers and allowing the custard layer to harden in each instance before the other materials are added. Chill until firm.

BACON AND CHEESE OMELET.

6 eggs.
½ teaspoon salt.
¼ cup evaporated milk.
¼ teaspoon paprika.
Pepper to season.
1 cup grated cheese.
6 slices broiled bacon.

Beat the eggs slightly and mix with the milk, salt, pepper, and paprika. Cook the diced bacon in a hot frying pan until brown. Pour in the egg mixture and cook slowly until firm. Spread the cheese over the omelet and place in a hot oven for 2 minutes; fold, turn out on a hot platter and garnish with the broiled bacon. Serve at once.

TO OVERCOME SALTY TASTE.

Slightly thinned cornbread batters, biscuit dough, and even simple cakes, as well as waffles, may be baked successfully in the waffle iron.

READERS SEND THEIR RECIPES FOR FRUIT CAKE

Answer Requests for New Formulas.

Numerous requests for fruit cake recipes have been received by THE TRIBUNE cooking editor and several readers have sent in recipes. Here are two:

1 lb. butter
1 lb. granulated sugar
8 eggs
1 lb. flour
1 oz. ground allspice
1 oz. ground cinnamon
½ oz. ground ginger
½ oz. ground cloves
½ oz. ground mace
6 oz. candied citron peel
2 oz. candied orange peel
1 oz. candied lemon peel
1 lb. seeded raisins
1 lb. sultana raisins
2 lbs. currants
¼ pint molasses
¼ pint nonalcoholic brandy flavor

Cream butter and sugar well together. Add eggs one at a time, beating well. Pass flour and ground spices twice through a fine sieve and add to mixture of eggs, sugar, and butter. When half mixed add fruit peel, raisins, currants, molasses, and flavor, all of which have been soaking over night. Finish mixing and put in paper lined baking pan of such a size that cake before baking is about 2½ inches thick. Pan should have double lining of well buttered strong paper to prevent too much color in baking. Bake fruit cake very slowly in oven at a temperature of about 200 degrees F. Usually about 2½ to 3 hours are required.

How to Prepare Fruit.

These directions for preparing the fruit should be followed: Wash currants and raisins in hot water, drain well, and dry in oven. Cut up citron, orange and lemon peel into ¼ inch dice. When currants and raisins are dry add cut up fruit peel and mix well with molasses and flavor. This mixture must soak overnight. As it is a very important part of the preparation of this fruit cake, careful attention should be paid to this procedure.

2 cups brown sugar
1 lb. raisins, seeded
2 tablespoons lard
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon cloves
2 cups boiling water
1 rounded tsp. soda
1 tsp. boiling water
3 cups flour, sifted

Mix together the first four ingredients and add the two cups boiling water. Put on stove and allow to boil 3 minutes. Cool the mixture thoroughly. Add soda which has been dissolved in 1 tsp. boiling water. Add the sifted flour and blend thoroughly. Put in pans which have been lined with oiled paper, and bake in a slow oven at least one hour.

NEW USE FOR WAFFLE IRON.

A pinch of brown sugar in soup that is too salty will overcome the salty taste and give no taste of sweetness.

13 NEW GRAPE VARIETIES NOW GROWN IN EAST

Thirteen new varieties of grapes all of which possess some of the fine qualities of fruit which characterize the European varieties, are included in a list of new fruits developed by fruit specialists in the east. These 13 new grapes are deemed the best of more than 20,000 seedlings from numerous crosses.

Among the new kinds are five white, four red, and four black varieties. The white varieties are the Brocton, Golden Muscat, Ontario, Portland, and Seneca. The reds are the Dunkirk, Hanover, Keuka, and Urbana. The blacks are Fredonia, Sheridan, Watkins, and Wayne.

Household Hints

When soup is too salty, put a piece of raw potato into the kettle for a few minutes to absorb some of the salt.

Taste WILL Tell!

A SONG of praise will rise from those who are served with fresh cranberry sauce at any meal. It is that cheery ruby red sauce that makes other foods taste so perfect.

"10-Minute" Cranberry Sauce (Stewed Cranberries)

1 pound or quart (4 cups) cranberries, 2 cups water, 1½ to 2 cups sugar. Boil sugar and water together 5 minutes; add cranberries and boil without stirring (5 minutes is usually sufficient) until all the skins pop open. Remove from the fire when the popping stops, and allow the sauce to remain in vessel undisturbed until cool.

Turn those clouds Inside Out!

YOU can gain a fuller, richer enjoyment of life by keeping in tip-top health. For health and happiness go hand in hand.

A frequent cause of poor health is constipation. It clouds your waking hours, and dulls even the sunniest disposition. Yet it can be overcome by eating a delicious cereal.

Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN furnishes "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. ALL-BRAN also provides twice the blood-building iron of an equal amount by weight of beef liver. The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that in leafy vegetables.

Two tablespoonfuls of ALL-BRAN daily will prevent and relieve most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with each meal. If not corrected this way, see your doctor.

Think how much better it is to enjoy this food in place of taking patent medicines—so often harmful and habit-forming. Serve as a cereal or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"When you're healthy, you're happy"

"How you feel — and how well you look — depends largely upon the food you eat. Be sure your diet is balanced — with sufficient 'bulk' to promote regularity."

W. K. Kellogg

Colleen Moore Has Part with Jackie Cooper

Ready to Work After Four Years of Idleness.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Colleen Moore and Jackie Cooper are to be teamed in "Lost" at MGM. Miss Moore has been on contract the better part of a year waiting for a story to be selected and she heaved a great sigh of relief when told she could finally get ready to put on grease paint again. Colleen hasn't been before a camera except for screen tests, for nearly four years. Lenore Coffee is writing the story, which is laid in a modern American city.

Joan Crawford has taken to bringing Jacques, a 140 pound St. Bernard dog to the MGM studio with her. She has a special canine dressing room [dog house] fixed just outside her own dressing room on the lot where she is starring in "Today We Live," with Gary Cooper, Franchot Tone, Tad Alexander, and Louise Closser Hale. Howard Hawks directs.

Joan plays an English girl ambulance driver in the film and there are airplane battles, sea sallies by torpedo—shooting speed boats and everything else in the way of thrills that MGM's studio military experts could think of.

Norman Reilly Raine, who writes magazine stories about "Tugboat Annie" is one of the writing crew whom MGM has recently brought to the Culver City studio. He was brought here to shape his own stories into screen form for Marie Dressler.

Alan Mowbray has impersonated George Washington so many times as an actor that he says "it was a great relief to me to learn that I am at last to play a Briton which I am." He's English in "Our Betters," at RKO, in which Constance Bennett is starred.

G. B. Stern [a woman], writer at RKO, collects canes. She went both to Richard Dix and to the studio prop room to secure the promise of the ivory headed cane which Dix is carrying in his present film, "The Great Jasper." The ivory head of Dix's cane is carved in a likeness of Lillian Russell.

Hollywood is an abode of collectors, even if some of the collectors collect only headaches and phone numbers. For instance, the film colony is probably the only place in the world where two persons can be found who have made a hobby of years out of the collection of penguins. Stuart Palmer, writer, and Roland Young, actor, are the two. Their penguins are all carved, some of wood, some of metal, some of stone. There are any number of collectors of old fire arms and carved elephants.

Diane Wynyard will take a long term Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer contract to England with her when she leaves, Jan. 27, "so that the home folks won't forget me." She is due back here June 1, and will appear in a London play before she comes back. Her MGM contract was awarded the peppy English girl on the strength of only two film appearances, one in Fox's "Cavalcade," which received its premiere here tonight and the other in "Rasputin and the Empress" with the three Barrymores for MGM.

BARTER AND SAIL

By HENRY C. ROWLAND

SYNOPSIS.

Capt. Hiram White sails his four master ship, the Abigail White, in search of a ship filled with pearl oysters, sunk by a French captain before the world war in a lagoon in a South Sea island. Arlette Mordecai, the French captain's granddaughter, has brought him complete instructions for finding the ship. Arlette is accompanied by an English woman of title, known as Ladybird, in his crew are Adam Eden, an unemployed engineer, an unemployed French chauffeur named Raoul, Roberta Millbank, and Peter Cavan. Roberta's father died after his bank failed and Peter was his trusted employe. Benny, a cook, hires up for his keep. Ladybird, who is a naval officer's daughter, is made mate. Henery Shepard, backer of the venture, fills the boat with a cargo of his own choosing and makes profitable trades at ports en route to the island where the sunken treasure craft is located. Capt. Hiram, Adam, and Peter take turns diving for the oysters. They have them all aboard when they are beset by a ruffianly crew of a strange yacht, headed by Capt. Derring who turns out to be Ladybird's husband and aware of the sunken treasure. He demands the oysters and the diving rig. Peter, knowing the oysters contain no pearls and that the girls must be protected, advises giving them up, which Roberta interprets as wellowness. Capt. Hiram agrees with Peter. Derring boards the four divers and orders his yacht to tow it out to sea, where the shell is transferred. Then Derring starts trouble and is thrown overboard. Before he can reach his boat he is attacked and killed by a shark. The crew again study Mordecai's directions and discover a secret code and that the pearls taken from the oysters are hidden in a cookstove on the sunken boat. But now they have no diving rig. They return to the lagoon and manage to raise the treasure ship's bow where the cook house is located. There is danger of the cookstove breaking loose. Diving seems their only chance. Roberta, the only expert swimmer aboard, dives and gets the pearls.

INSTALLMENT XLVII.

MORE TREASURED THAN PEARLS.

Peter reached down and clutched Roberta under the shoulders.

"Look out," she panted, and thrust the object she held over the gun wale. It was a glass topped preserve jar that would hold a quart.

It rolled into the bottom of the boat. Peter scarcely glanced at it. His heart was leaping. Not at this bottled fortune with its glowing lustrous globular contents, but at the contact of Roberta's soft wet skin. It seemed to him that his heart would burst.

She was too breathless to speak. Peter shifted his hold, got her under both arms, raised her higher, then bowed his head and kissed her. It was not what may be called a distinguishing kiss; neither that alone of lover or brother or friend or father. All of these ingredients were therein contained and in full measure. He was sobbing violently. There were no tears, but the spasms threatened to suffocate him.

"I — I — thought — I'd lost you —— "

"O, Peter, we've got them, we've got them, the pearls——"

"Damn the pearls," Peter panted. "You can have my share."

"Peter, we've got them—we've got them, the pearls!"

Their words were inaudible in the uproar coming from overhead. Then Benny's raucous voice rose above the general hubbub.

Peter acted on this suggestion. In the shouting of his heart he had forgotten about Corporal John Shark. He swung Roberta up over the side and into the boat, she aiding with her hands clasped behind his neck.

He started again to kiss her, then suddenly remembered Roberta if not the daughter of a hundred earls was one of a past line of commercial barons and he and his forbears had been their henchmen.

Peter had never at any moment lost sight entirely of this rift between them. No European hierarchy could more have impressed one of its humble vassals with a greater sense of his inferiority than was Peter impressed with that curious serfdom in his consideration of Roberta. It was not an inferiority complex because it was only in his relationship to her.

The clamoring above had subsided a little. Raoul had seized Arlette and they were dancing an improvised tango around the forecastle.

Adam was executing an eccentric pas seul. Henery was wiping his eyes that rheumed under emotion. But old Benny was declaiming sonorously one of the psalms of David with a few Shakespearean interpolations.

Finding this inadequate he delivered himself of an extemporaneous prayer of thanksgiving and of praise. In this the burial service at sea was inverted a little.

"The Lord has took away and the Lord has given back, blessed be the name of the Lord," he chanted.

Roberta looked up and laughed. She called to the old cook. "Why not work in some of the marriage service, Benny?"

"Time enough for that, Miss Bobbs. This here is a praise meeting to give thanks. And it ain't primarily for gettin' them blasted pearls."

Roberta went up the ladder and promptly came in for more kissing.

Everything was suspended for a general jubilee. Everybody talked at once. Roberta glowed. She was glad to have got the pearls, but her heart warmed even more at the conviction that it was the salvage of herself when they feared her lost that made these indomitable people act like joy frantic school children.

Capt. Hiram was the first to get himself in hand.

"Well, I guess there's nothing more to keep us here longer, shipmates," he said. "Let's clear away the gear and get ready to go out when the wind drops, and the tide starts to go come sundown."

Adams said to Peter: "If Bobbs hadn't come up I'd have stuck my fool head between the windlass and the chaincable, when it was coming in. For having asked her what shade of yellow it showed when a man advised knuckling under a pirate and then walked into the muzzle of his shotgun. Say, Peter, why did you do that thing?"

Peter said simply: "He wanted to get Capt. Hiram first . . . and you all needed the skipper a lot more than you needed me."

The big Abigail got on her way again. The move of greatest importance was to put their pearls in a place of safety without risking them to the hazards of the sea any more than could be helped.

To make best use of the prevailing winds Capt. Hiram decided to head for Samoa, which was not far.

He said that night to Peter when they were alone on deck. "We've been so blessed that I'm almost scared. It might surprise you to know what really comforts me the most."

Peter thought that he could guess but did not venture to. In this he was wise because the captain did not refer to Ladybird as Peter had expected. Instead:

"What I mean is, Peter, the way things have worked out to put us all on the same footing. It isn't often that treasure hunting ends like that even when successful."

"Which also is rare, captain, except in fiction."

"Yes. And it is almost always followed by blood or at least bad feeling when the final balance is struck. But here there's no need. It's nothing short of a miracle how everybody thawed out some part of the frozen assets that everybody held."

"I haven't done much, skipper."

"O, keep still. It was you that came to the conclusion that the pearls were somewhere else than in the shell. Your arguments were clear and logical and convincing."

"Then it needed old Benny to dope out the acrostic 'trouve perles poele!'"

"Yes. And then Adam had the ingenuity to see how the lighter could be raised. But even before that if Benny hadn't let drive with his hatchet and you backed his play so's it ended by beavin' that sea jackal overboard we'd never have got that far."

"No, not all of us," Peter said soberly. "Everybody did their shot right down to the time Bobbs made us look like a bunch of Henery's chickens."

Wig and Powder Club Meets Today.

The Wig and Powder club's small but fashionable membership of 30 women who meet every fortnight for luncheon and a discussion of plays, will meet today at the apartment of Miss Irene Wilson at 200 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Grant Laing is chairman and Mrs. William L. Hodgkins vice chairman of the group of debutantes who will sell programs at the lecture to be given by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt a week from tomorrow night at Orchestra hall.

The committee includes Miss Louise Dewey, Miss Marjorie Goodman, Miss Barbara Eldridge, Miss Jean Schweppe, Miss Mary Reed, Miss Lydia Swift, Miss Mary Senior, Miss Nancy Traylor, Miss Laura Thorne, Miss Honore White and Miss Jean Wingfield.

The Illinois League of Women Voters, which is sponsoring the lecture, has had many inquiries as to whether the lecture might be broadcast, and on wiring Mrs. Roosevelt about the matter, learned that her broadcasting is done under contract, so it will not be possible to have this lecture go out over the radio.

Wedding Plans of Miss Riach.

Only the immediate families will be present at the wedding of Miss Margery Riach, daughter of the William Murdoch Riachs of Evanston, to Isaac Leonard Ellwood II., son of Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Perry Ellwood of De Kalb and Lake Geneva, to be solemnized a week from tomorrow at 4 o'clock at the residence of the bride's parents. Half an hour later there will be a large reception at the Evanston Woman's club.

The bridegroom's sister, Miss Patience Ellwood, will be Miss Riach's only attendant, and William Baker Jr. will be best man for Mr. Ellwood. Miss Riach has asked six young women, Miss Jane Bradley, Miss Dorothy Dunham, Miss Jane Lawrence, Mrs. Burnham Fisk [Martha Seabury], Mrs. Lawrence Nelson Jr. [Suzanne Bradley], and Jeanne Street to pour at the reception tea tables.

Mr. Ellwood and his bride are to reside on the large cattle ranch near Colorado, Tex., which he inherited from his late grandfather, the first Isaac Leonard Ellwood. They will motor through the south and west on their honeymoon.

Yesterday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Paul Schulze Jr. gave a cocktail party for the bride and bridegroom-to-be, preceding a dinner that David Cochran Jr. gave for them at the South Shore Country club. Miss Jeanne and Miss Katherine Street will give a luncheon and shower for Miss Riach today at their Winnetka residence.

Tomorrow evening William Baker Jr. and Frank Mayer are to be hosts at a bachelor dinner for Mr. Ellwood. There will be about 30 guests, most of them members of the Lake Geneva Yacht club. Tomorrow evening Mr. and Mrs. Luke Bradley and their daughter, Miss Jane Bradley, are to give a large tea for Mr. Ellwood and Miss Riach.

On Tuesday of next week Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Nelson Jr. are to be hosts at a dinner and bridge party and on Thursday Mrs. A. A. Newman will give a dinner at the South Shore Country club. On Friday evening, following the wedding rehearsal, Herbert Bagg, who moved to Chicago recently from Baltimore, will give a dinner for the wedding party in his apartment at 999 Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. C. S. Reed to Give Tea.

Mrs. Charles S. Reed of 12 Scott street has invited members of the Boys' Shelter club to tea at her residence on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Robert F. Carr, who has sent out invitations to a dinner-dance to be held on Saturday, Jan. 21, at the Saddle and Cycle club, will return from Florida on the 20th.

Mrs. Victor C. Sanborn of Lake Forest, who sailed last fall to visit her brother, John W. Kirkland, at Johannesburg, South Africa, spent Christmas at Fort Elizabeth with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. G. F. M. Ennis. She plans to return by way of South America, leaving South Africa around the first of February and arriving in Lake Forest about the middle of March.

Maj. and Mrs. Raymond Hardenbergh of Governor's Island, N. Y., who usually spend part of every winter with Mrs. Hardenbergh's mother, Mrs. Lorenzo Johnson of Winnetka, at her Santa Barbara residence, are not going to the coast this year. They do plan, however, to come west soon to see their new grandchild, the infant son of Lieut. and Mrs. John F. R. Seitz [the former Helen Hardenbergh] of Fort Snelling, Minn. The baby was born last Saturday.

Arthur T. Aldis departed on Wednesday to join Mrs. Aldis at Winter Park, Fla. Mrs. Aldis went south in early December.

Latin School Boys to Present Play.

The Chicago Latin School for Boys, impressed by the successful manner in which the pupils of the fifth form presented a play during the Christmas holidays, has decided to let the third form boys do likewise at Easter time. The boys will select their own play and make all the arrangements for staging it themselves.

The executive committee of the Chicago Smith College club will meet tomorrow at 1 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. A. H. Barber in Hubbard Woods to discuss plans for the Smith booth at the World's Fair. The membership is to be divided into small committees, each with its own chairman, to facilitate contact with each member.

The Lake Shore League of Women Voters will meet on Monday at 4 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. Edwin L. Brand at 1512 State parkway for a discussion of "Proposals for the Reorganization of Local Government in Illinois" by Edward O. Griffenhagen. The lecture will be the last in a series of three.

You Can Select Exercises Best Suited to You

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

When one is confronted with a lengthy series of exercises, one naturally asks: "Do I have to do all of them?" "Do I need all of them?"

Of course, I don't expect you to do all in this series. You need the exercises that are corrective for your particular silhouette ill. Some one else needs exercises for her individual trouble. It is necessary to offer a number to meet all needs, as you can see.

Your legs, for instance, may not be what you'd like them to be. Another's bust and arms are heavy, legs O. K. Another has abnormally thick thighs, and so on. You choose the best exercises for your particular need, and practice them. And then add a couple of allround beneficial exercises—that is, ones that will keep you from going flabby, will stir up the circulation and keep you young.

To get any benefit from exercise you must give ten minutes a day to it. Five minutes is better than nothing, if done every day. But ten isn't much to ask for a lithe, young body, now is it? You can make up your own chart from the exercises I'm giving you here, so you have ten minutes all round good corrective and setting up work.

If you'll write and tell me what's the matter with you personally, I can, of course, map out your daily exercise program for you, if you feel unqualified to do it yourself.

But here's an exercise today that all can take with profit to the whole body and it can be practiced in stages, according to the muscle development. It's a leg reducer, primarily, but you can see yourself how the whole silhouette line gains from it.

Stand first with the hands down at the sides, feet together. Count one, raising the arms forward and up over the head at the same time extending the right leg backward, toe touching the floor. Count two, return to original position.

Repeat ten times, legs alternating. Now, when you get limbered a bit, stretch the leg further back before the toe touches the floor. And for the final step in this exercise bring the heel back up to touch the lower back.

This Is Friday, the 13th, but 13 Flout Ill Fate

home today—has its origin in fears concerning the number "13" as well as the day Friday. In Scandinavian mythology there are twelve aesir or demigods. The old legend is that Loki—cruel and evil—came among them, making the thirteenth. Soon he was recognized as the chief author of human misfortunes and hence the number "13" came to be looked upon as an omen of bad luck.

This is one version. Another explains that the Valkyres or Virgins who waited upon the heroes in Valhalla were thirteen in number. Still another story, the most popular perhaps, relates that there were thirteen persons at the Last Supper with Judas the thirteenth guest.

Just as old as the fear of the number "13" is the fear of the day Friday. "Friday's moon, come when it will, it comes too soon."

The crucifixion of Christ on this day is given by some as the origin though others advance the theory that it is a day of dread because Adam and Eve partook of the forbidden fruit on Friday.

But be this as it may, cast your fears aside this Friday the thirteenth on the strength of the findings of the Anti-Superstition society. And then, too, take confidence in the fact that Columbus set sail from the port of Palos, Spain on Friday—that he sighted land on Friday—that the Pilgrim fathers set foot on Plymouth rock on Friday—and that George Washington was born on Friday.

Shoe Fashions Require Study This Season

Careful Shoppers Choose Footwear Wisely.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

You'll have to be shockproof when you saunter in to see the first rather breath taking previews of what the most brilliant shoe designers have done in their working hours and spare time.

Footwear is something to reckon with this year . . . the average shopper who used to buy shoes with half of the mind on shoes and the other half on frocks and hats, can no longer divide the brain area. You'll need every thing you have, if you would choose wisely and well.

Fashionable footwear, if the promising shoemakers win, is going to be as important as anything else you spend your shekels for, and twice as important as some of the things you casually buy. It's a complicated assortment that will greet your eye this year.

In the first place, if you have any strong antipathy for reptiles, you'll either argue yourself out of it, or be duly conservative and stay wth the usual leathers and fabrics. Reptile skin decorates the smartest shoes, from the all-snakeskin models to the tricky patchwork affairs that are combined and contrasted with plain kidskins. And you'll see plenty of beige and gray snakeskins patched with intricate patterns of black, blue and brown kidskins.

Some unusually good looking gray snakeskin street oxfords are available with swanky square gray handbags to match. The gray wave that practically inundated the world last fall is still sweeping the fashion world and you are going to see more gray than ever before, so say the stylists.

Something else you are going to see, wear, and probably cheer for, are the many distinctive fabric pumps, tie oxfords and other smart models for street wear . . . some fascinating black materials are banded with shining black patent leather, and the patent leather outlined with just a faint tracing of white. These fabric pumps are the smart answer to what to wear with the sheer wool one piece black street frocks that every well dressed fashionable wears almost like a uniform. You are promised these fabric shoes in gray, beige, and brown, as well as navy blue, the gray, however, with restraint, as nothing is as hard to match as the many shades of gray.

Gun metal street pumps are stunning . . . they glisten and shimmer like a true black pearl and they do wonders toward giving you a cinderella size pedal extremity. And the smartest thing you can wear with these fashionable shades of gun metal gray are stockings of grege, a combination of beige and gray that is perfect with all tones of gray, black, and blue footwear.

Just now you can find some evening pumps that will make you gasp over their loveliness . . . you can find tinted pumps of silk, satin or moire, with tiny bows and heels colored to match.

There are some white sandals with scarlet heels, some pale green pumps with cinnamon brown bows and heels and the luscious flowered silks contrasted with guy velvets . . . all intriguing evening slippers for the many vivid dinner and dance frocks in the new midseason collections.

Jacket Ensemble from Molyneux Pocket Trimmed

BY BETTINA BEDWELL.

PARIS, — [Special.] — Molyneux steals the pockets that decorate the soldier's coat and uses them to trim a jacket and frock in his midseason collection, thus making a new trimming style that is going strong in Paris. It has become quite the thing for the dressmakers to tuck pockets into odd places on coats and dresses. Bruyere puts them under the arms. The pockets one sees are usually set in, but the couturiers take care you shall know they're there by trimmin' them in bands of shirred stuff, buttoning them at the top, and putting them under highly visible flaps.

The pocket trimmed suit from Molyneux is one of his smartest and is shown today. It is made of a pale gray woolen material, and the jacket looks quite military, with its straight front closing and its four pockets, two at the breast and two just below the waistline in front. To make sure they'll be seen Molyneux puts both flaps over them and buttons on them.

The dress that goes with this suit jacket is shown in the background. It also is trimmed with four pockets, two breast pockets and two on the hips, all trimmed with flaps and buttons. The dress is otherwise simple with plain sleeves and a high round neckline.

Church to Quit Passing Plate for Collection

No Contributions to Be Asked in Services.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

The passing of the collection plate, decreed by church tradition, is to be abolished in St. Luke's Episcopal church, 743 South Western avenue, as a depression measure. The elimination of the formal collection, which will take effect next Sunday, was announced by M. E. Nickerson, senior warden of the church, after action at a meeting of the vestry in the church last night.

The plan was suggested by the Rev. Dr. John Crippen Evans, rector of the parish, Mr. Nickerson said, and followed a recent statement by Angus S. Hibbard, Chicago capitalist, in which he urged that under present conditions it would be advisable to abandon the collection plate so that persons out of work who could not contribute might feel more at ease in attending services.

According to the plan adopted by St. Luke's vestry, alms boxes will be placed at the entrance of the church. Persons attending church may, if they wish, place a contribution there either on entering the church or on leaving it. No one will be asked to contribute, however.

It is the belief of St. Luke's that the donations to the church will tend to be increased rather than decreased by the new plan making contributions purely voluntary.

"It is more in keeping with the true spirit of the church not to solicit offerings in services, but to leave giving at that time to the individual conscience," Dr. Evans said. "The person who can give will give more freely, perhaps, if he is not asked, either by form or otherwise, to give. At any rate, the person who cannot give should not be made to feel any humiliation or embarrassment for his situation."

St. Luke's, one of the historic churches of the west side, is in a neighborhood sorely afflicted by the depression, Mr. Nickerson said.

"Nevertheless, the church is expanding, its attendance increasing and its activities broadening," he said. "We have discovered how to make church dollars go a long way. So we need only a modest budget.

"At present we are redecorating the interior of the church. The total cost to date has been $12. Paint was donated to us by manufacturers, and members of the church have volunteered to do the painting. The $12 expense was incurred in plastering and repair work.

"It is the vestry's belief that in the present times of depression the church is needed more than ever. Our attendance in all activities of boys and girls has increased from 35 to nearly 100 in the last four months. We have weekly meetings in the church for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts. On another night in the week we have junior choir practice in which boys and girls take part and, beginning next week, there will be lessons in tap dancing. Other forms of supervised recreations are being sponsored by the church."

Tell Progress in Treating of Bone Diseases

Orthopedic surgeons from widely separated sections of the country gathered yesterday in Thorne hall on McKinlock campus of Northwestern university to discuss the treatment of bone diseases. The occasion was the annual joint meeting of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons and the Clinical Orthopedic society.

Throughout the day prominent surgeons lectured briefly before their colleagues on subjects such as arthritis, back pains, foot troubles, spinal cord tumors, and other ailments.

Dr. E. W. Ryerson, retiring president of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons and professor of orthopedic surgery at Northwestern university, presided at yesterday's meetings. Other meetings will be held today at Thorne hall and at the Billings Memorial hospital, after which there will be a banquet at the Lake Shore Athletic club.

At a night meeting Dr. W. C. Campbell was elected president of the academy to succeed Dr. Ryerson. Other officers elected are Dr. Philip D. Wilson of Boston, vice president; Dr. Philip Lewin of Chicago, secretary, and Dr. E. B. Mumford of Indianapolis, treasurer.

The American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons has been in existence only a year, but the parent organization, the American Orthopedic society, was founded in 1887. The older society is limited to about 130 members, who have had long experience in bone surgery, Dr. Ryerson said, whereas the academy has been organized to give the younger orthopedic surgeons an opportunity to exchange views and to maintain the high standards of their group. There are about 500 reputable orthopedic surgeons in the United States.

Mother-to-Be Wants to Learn About Baby Care

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: This is the first time I have come to you for any aid, as I had no children and found it unnecessary. But with the knowledge that some day I might have one I read your column daily.

"Now that in five more months I expect a baby I am, to be most frank, terribly afraid—not of having the baby so much as what to do when I get it. How to take care of it, how to feed it, when to feed it, how to give it a bath, and when not to.

"Perhaps you have some book I may read and so gain some knowledge before the time arrives, so that I may be prepared and be competent enough to care for an infant.

"Also I would appreciate your giving me some information on how to care for myself so that I may have a healthy child. You can believe me when I say I would be very grateful for any consideration you may show this letter."

For the benefit of young mothers-to-be who want what the young mother of the letter asks for, I have made up a set of booklets and leaflets which meet these needs. It will take at least 6 cents in postage and a large envelope to send this to you. Suppose in asking for it you call it the "Before Reading-Set" and I shall know what you mean.

NELSON REPORTS ON 140 CLOSED BANKS IN COUNTY

Gives His Figures to New State Auditor.

Financial statements of 140 closed banks of Cook county were turned over yesterday to the new state auditor, Edward J. Barrett, by his predecessor, Oscar Nelson, whose term of office expired last week. The statements showed the condition of the banks in receivership under Mr. Nelson's jurisdiction on Dec. 31, 1932.

As analyzed by Mr. Nelson, the report shows that the public liability of the 140 banks has been reduced $64,702,954 by payments to depositors and other creditors and that there is $5,138,644 in cash in the hands of receivers, nearly four million dollars of which is tied up by court proceedings and not available for payments to depositors.

Depositors have been paid $18,900,215 in common dividends, $8,910,397 in preferred dividends, and have received $13,487,630 in offsets. Bills payable of $23,404,711 were paid to recover collateral of greater value, the report states.

Statement by Nelson.

"It was my endeavor to keep receiverships under the eye of the depositors and at the same time name receivers not associated with the persons from whom collections had to be made," said Mr. Nelson. "There are more than 300 depositors' committees working with the receivers all over the state. Very few complaints were received from these committees. Depositors' organizations formed to collect money from the depositors were not recognized. Others were given full recognition.

"The cost of liquidation is always highest just after the closing of a bank. This is especially true with regard to legal expense where the closed bank has a large trust department. These trusts must be transferred as quickly as possible. This can be done only with the consent of every interested person and only under the strictest safeguards.

"All receivers are on a salary basis, the salaries being based on the amount of assets and averaging less than $200 a month. I know of no other class of receivers who are paid such an inconsiderable part of the money which they are called upon to handle. All attorneys are on a per diem rather than a fee basis."

The report calls attention to the fact that had the receivers and attorneys each been allowed only 5 per cent of the money actually collected their fees would have amounted to $6,678,990 instead of the $2,266,520 they received.

Herbert A. Eadie, for twenty-five years night superintendent of the Evanston postoffice, yesterday married Miss Marie Travis of Evanston at Waukegan. Eadie is 61 years old and his bride 39. The marriage was a surphise to his friends and family. Eadie was a widower.

CHARLES W. MORSE, 77, WHO WON AND LOST MILLIONS, IS DEAD

CHARLES W. MORSE

Bath, Me., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Charles W. Morse, colorful owner and loser of fortunes, reckoned in millions of dollars as a financier and shipping magnate, whose career of ups and downs included a term in the Atlanta penitentiary, died at his home here today of pneumonia at the age of 77.

Mr. Morse had been ill a week, but it was thought he had passed the crisis and would recover.

He was married twice.

Mr. Morse had a picturesque carrere. Born in Bath, Me., in 1856, he saved money earned as a candy "butcher" on river steamboats to pay his tuition at Bowdoin college, when his father declined to send him there.

After his graduation in 1877 he became interested commercially in ice, persuaded his father to go into partnership with him and by 1891 controlled the ice business of New York City.

Soon after his first marriage Mr. Morse established a close friendship with Tammany Hall. With John F. Carroll and W. H. Gelshenen he gained control of the Garfield National bank.

Eighty-one steamers, comprising 6 per cent of the nation's mercantile marine in 1908, shortly came within his control.

Mr. Morse entered Atlanta prison Jan. 3, 1910, under a 15 year sentence for grand larceny and perjury in connection with his financial transactions, which were aired when the National Bank of North America in New York City, of which he was vice president and a director, crashed in the panic of 1907. President Taft released him Jan. 1, 1913.

REJECT $100,000 FOR FURNISHINGS OF BLACKSTONE

The only bid, $100,000, for the personal property and good will of the Blackstone hotel, was refused yesterday in the court of Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson by David Meyer, attorney for the Continental Illinois National bank, holder of a $273,000 chattel mortgage. Yesterday was the last day for filing bids under the decree of sale entered by Judge Wilkerson on Jan. 5.

Attorney Nathaniel Rubinkan, representing the Metropolitan Life Insurance company, holder of a $1,616,000 first mortgage on the hotel building and real estate, made the $100,000 offer. Judge Wilkerson suggested that former patrons might bid on the furnishings at an auction, for sentimental reasons. He advised the lawyers to reach an agreement and report back to him.

LAWYER FIRES AT OFFICE ROBBERS, BUT AIM IS POOR

Attorney Benjamin H. Vanderveld fired several shots yesterday afternoon at two robbers who entered his office on the eleventh floor at 64 West Randolph street, but his aim was poor and the pair escaped with $45.

The attorney stepped into his office to find his clerk, Walter Pacanowski, and a client, James Forbes, lying on the floor. One of the bandits was searching them. The other ordered Attorney Vanderveld to lie down also. He chose a place near his desk, one drawer of which contained a pistol. Pacanowski gave up $5 and the client $40.

When the bandits started to retreat Vanderveit seized his weapon and pursued them to the hallway, firing.

"MOIST THROAT" FOUND SECRET OF COUGH RELIEF

Your throat and bronchial tubes are lined with millions of pores like tiny bottles continually supplying moisture to the delicate tissues . . . until you "catch cold."

Then these "bottles" get plugged up, phlegm accumulates, affording dangerous germs a breeding place. Your throat feels hot and dry. Tickling, irritation and coughing set in.

Your cough will be cured only when the flow of the natural fluid is increased, loosening the phlegm so that it can be expelled. Many cough "remedies" contain numbing drugs which merely deaden the nerves . . . but don't get at the root of the trouble.

PERTUSSIN, a scientific remedy, which doctors have prescribed for many years, is the extract of a famous herb which opens the tiny glands, stimulates the flow of the throat's natural moisture and brings quick relief. It helps nature heal that cough from the inside out.

When you feel that warning dryness take a few spoons of PERTUSSIN. It's absolutely safe. Sold at all drug stores, 60¢.

HEAD OF DAIRY FARMERS LOSES ELECTION FIGHT

McQueen Beaten as Kane County Director.

Will C. McQueen of Elgin, dairyman who has been president of the Pure Milk association since it was formed in 1929 as a cooperative sales agency for the dairymen supplying Chicago and its suburbs, was defeated yesterday for reelection as director from the Kane county district of the association. The successful candidate was Arthur Hartman of Hampshire, who polled more votes than the total received by McQueen and the third candidate, Joseph Leis of Aurora.

McQueen's defeat as a director means that he must relinquish the presidency of the Pure Milk association, since he cannot be an officer without being a director. The election of his successor will be held on March 10.

Hartman, the newly elected director, is president of the farmer owned milk company at Hampshire, which handles some 65,000 pounds of milk daily for the Chicago market.

He was one of the first men in his community to support a program of testing dairy herds for tuberculosis and is said to have taken an active part in raising the standards of quality in milk production in Kane county.

The defeat of McQueen followed two weeks of campaigning in which nearly 200 farmers canvassed every dairyman in the district for votes or proxies. The outcome of the vote was said to be a protest against the action of the Pure Milk association's officers in accepting a reduction in the prices paid to dairy farmers when the retail milk price in Chicago dropped from 11 to 9 cents a quart last December.

Two candidates for the presidency of the milk association, which has a membership of 16,000 farmers in 30 counties and represents a $35,000,000 a year business, are already in the field to succeed McQueen. They are Charles Schmaling of Delavan, Wis., now vice president of the association, and John Case of Naperville. The election will be held in Chicago.

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The revamped Canadiens whipped the Chicago Blackhawks, 4 to 2, in a National Hockey league game tonight before a crowd of 9,000. The defeat sent Chicago further into the cellar of the United States division as the Canadiens advanced within 2 points of the fourth place club in the Canadian division.

Play was fast and rough with the Canadiens scoring three times in the first period and Chicago once. Each scored once in the third period.

Hawks Trail Early.

The Canadiens' starting line worked smoothly at the outset, while Chicago's efforts were mainly individual rushes. The Canadiens went into the lead in the fourth minute when Johnny Gagnon stick handled past Abel and Graham to beat Gardiner from close in. The Canadiens had come down the ice four abreast, Sylvio Mantha passing to Gagnon.

Chicago tied the score while Mantha was in the penalty box. Doc Romnes drove the puck into the net from the midst of a scramble in front of Hainsworth. The Canadiens retaliated immediately when Mantha took a pass from Morenz, rushed in on Gardiner, and scored. Gardiner vainly protested his view was obstructed.

Abel and Larochelle were penalized for fighting behind the Chicago net and shortly thereafter Gagnon got his second goal, making the score 3 to 1, on a pass from Mondou. Play then became fast and fairly even until the end of the period.

Play Gets Rough.

Chicago started the second period with McFadyen serving an unexpired penalty. Both teams were backchecking closely and most of the plays were broken up early. Joliat drew a minor penalty for holding and Cook was penalized, leaving each team a man short.

The game began to assume the fast, rugged pace of the first period. Chuck Gardiner made two spectacular saves and play promptly became very rough.

Chicago played furiously but not many of its shots got as far as Hainsworth until Burke was given a minor penalty. The Canadiens golfed the puck up the ice as Thompson, Couture and Mackenzie rushed in and the period ended scoreless.

Hawks Get Another.

The teams staged alternate rushes as the third period opened. Morenz streaked through for a hard drive, which Gardiner blocked out. Chicago appeared to have an edge on the play, particularly when Carson was penalized and the Blackhawks sent four men down the ice.

Thompson whipped in a tricky high shot which Hainsworth saved, but Cook, Gottselig and McFadyen went up abreast to give Hawks their second goal. Cook rushed in on Hainsworth, slipping the puck into a corner of the net.

With two minutes to go, Pit Lepine broke through to clinch the game, beating Gardiner with a bullet shot from 10 feet out. Gagnon and Joliat assisted.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Everything, including the betting, which was at 6 to 5 with the champion as favorite, indicated an even scrap with the issue more likely to be decided on points than by a knockout punch. Whether it will measure up to some of the sensational featherweight championship battles of the past is problematical and only the fight itself will disclose the answer.

First One Goes Two Days.

Surely it cannot equal the first fight at which a world's featherweight championship was decided. That one took place at San Francisco in 1889 when Del Hawkins fought Freddy Bogan. Their battle opened in midafternoon and for seventy-five desperate rounds they whaled away at each other. Darkness necessitated putting the fight over until the next afternoon, when Hawkins knocked Bogan out after sixteen more rounds.

Can it come up to that battle not long afterwards down in Kouts, Ind., when Ike O'Neil Weir, the Belfast Spider, fought Frank Murphy of England in defense of the title? This one went eighty rounds to a draw. The money at stake was $1,500, so each boy must have taken down $750 for the day's work.

Dixon in Great Battle.

There have been many famous featherweight championship struggles. In one George Dixon whipped Nunc Wallace in London in eighteen rounds and in another Dixon schellacked Carl McCarthy in Troy, N. Y., in twenty-two rounds. These two previously had fought seventy rounds to a draw in Boston.

Again there was that fight in New York when Frank Erne took the title away from Dixon in twenty rounds. In the one that followed Dixon regained the championship, taking it away from Erne in twenty-five rounds. These last two took place back in 1897. In 1901, at Hartford, Conn., Young Corbett knocked out Terry McGovern in a single thrill packed round.

Then McGovern and Corbett advanced to the lightweight class and Abe Attell took over the featherweight title. He ruled the roost until 1912, when Johnny Kilbane of Cleveland knocked him out in a memorable 20 round fight in Los Angeles.

Criqui Whips Kilbane.

The fight for the cherished featherweight crown continued in all its fury. A 20 round draw in California between Kilbane and Johnny Dundee was no tea party.

It was Eugene Criqui who finally dethroned Kilbane, taking the title over to France with him after he had knocked Kilbane out in 6 rounds at New York. Another high spot in featherweight championship affairs came when Dundee brought the title back to America with a thrilling 15 round victory over Criqui in New York.

It is no wonder the fans who cheer the cauliflower idols expect much of a featherweight championship scrap, when they have grown accustomed to engagements of the caliber related above.

Groceries Stop Dundee.

After Dundee took the championship the featherweight crown was kicked around with wild abandon. Dundee gave it up because he got fat. Louie Kid Kaplan won a tournament and was recognized as champion. Then Kaplan couldn't resist beefsteaks, potatoes, and gravy, and outgrew the division. Came another tournament and Tony Canzoneri emerged as the champion. He was whipped by Andre Routis of France, who not long afterwards lost the title back to Bat Battalino of America.

Battalino had to surrender the championship on account of increased weight. Another tournament came along to establish a champion. It was held in Detroit last spring. From out of the melee came Tommy Paul wearing the crown last May. He will defend it for the first time tonight.

Paul, a rugged hard punching kid of Italian parentage, is 23 years old. He was born in Buffalo. He may be

Here's How to Train for Silver Skates Without Ice

Jaffee Tells Exercises for Development of Stamina.

Northwest Club Eyes Eckersall Trophy in Tribune Meet.

This is the third of a series of articles on ice skating by Irving Jaffee, holder of three Olympic championships and the world's professional title, designed to aid all entrants in The Tribune's Silver Skates Derbies, to be held at Garfield park Jan. 21 and 22. Jaffee won the New York Daily News' Senior Silver Skates in 1926, the Olympic 5,000 meters title in 1928, the Olympic 5,000 and 10,000 meter races in 1932, and the world's professional championship two weeks ago. He also holds the world's amateur record for the mile. Readers wishing to obtain any information in ice skating should send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Irvin Jaffee, Chicago Tribune Sports Department, Tribune Tower.

BY IRVING JAFFEE.

The city skater's constant discouragement by the weather man, which many entrants in THE TRIBUNE'S Silver Skates Derbies at Garfield park on Jan. 21 and 22 probably have encountered, is nothing new to me, for I have done most of my training around New York City, where lack of ice is no more of a rarity than it is in Chicago.

Even when I could not skate during my training sessions I always strove toward physical perfection, for I have found that the condition of your body is of the utmost importance in all athletic competition.

I have represented the Athletic Association of the New York Curb Exchange, where I am employed in New York City, and, like most boys and girls entered in the Silver Skates, I had to attend to business during the day in addition to attending business college at night, but that did not discourage me.

Tells of Daily Routine.

Some of the stunts I did when I trained for the eastern United States championships at Newburgh, N. Y. you boys and girls can practice in mild weather.

I had to get to work at 9 a. m. daily. I usually took the train, a ride of a half hour or so. In the morning I would arise a half hour earlier than

Triner Is Only CandidateSure of Boxing Post

Joseph F. Triner of Chicago, certainly, and Packy McFarland of Joliet, probably, will be two of the three members of the Illinois state athletic commission when Gov. Horner gets around to appointing a new boxing board.

This was indicated last night by information obtained from a source close to the governor. Gov. Horner has given no consideration to any one besides Triner and McFarland.

Triner, as was announced in THE TRIBUNE several weeks ago, is expected to receive the chairmanship, and may even replace one of the present members before Gov. Horner completes his task of slecting a new board. His appointment probably will be announced Tuesday. McFarland, a former lightweight boxer and at present the director of the Catholic Youth organization's boxing activities in the Chicago area, has had considerable support and the governor is known to have given his candidacy favorable consideration.

If McFarland is the second appointee, as now seems most probable, the third post is believed to lie between Gen. John V. Clinnin, the present chairman, and George F. Getz, the third member of the board.

MANGRUM'S 141 HOLDS LEAD AT AGUA CALIENTE

Paul Runyon in Second Place with 143.

AGUA CALIENTE, Mex., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Ray Mangrum, steadying after a bad seven on the first hole, a par five, finished the second round of the $7,500 Agua Caliente open golf tourney today with a card of 72, even par, for a two day total of 141 and a lead of two strokes over the field.

While the 22 year old professional from Waco, Tex., was holding the lead, two other youngsters put the veterans in eclipse. Paul Runyon, 24, from White Plains, N. Y., matched Mangrum's first day score of 69 on his second round and jumped into second place with 143. A stroke behind him with 144 came Archie Hambrick, 23 year old Zanesville, O., professional.

Diegel, Wood Trail.

At the half way mark none of the old guard appeared in particularly threatening positions. Leo Diegel, Agua Caliente pro; Craig Wood, the Deal, N. J., giant, and Tony Manero of Greenwich, Conn., were tied in fourth position with cards of 146, five strokes behind the leader.

Fay Coleman, Los Angeles professional, joined the hole in one club on the third tee. The ball hit dead for the pin on the 167 yard hole, struck the apron of the green and trickled into the cup. He finished, however, with a 76 and a two day total of 154, far back in the ruck.

Horton Smith slipped from a stroke under par yesterday to a 76, four over today, when his irons quit working. Harry Cooper was another of the veterans who dropped back, adding 75 to his first day 74 for a total of 149. MacDonald Smith found many of the greens out of reach of his brassie and took a 77 for a total of 152, with 31 players in front of him.

The field will not be trimmed this year, and all who care to can play until the finish Saturday. More than a dozen players gave up voluntarily today. Scores for the first two days:

Detroit Wins Over Montreal Maroons, 4 to 0

Detroit, Mich., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The Detroit Red Wings whipped their only unbeaten opposition of the National league hockey season tonight, shutting out the Montreal Maroons, 4 to 0, in a rough game before a crowd of 10,000.

In two previous meetings the Maroons won. Tonight, however, they were outskated and outplayed from the start.

Goodfellow, Evans and Sorrell scored in the first period, and Voss in the second. The game was unusually rough throughout, although only nine penalties were called.

BRUINS BEATEN, 3-1.

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—The New York Rangers dropped Boston out of a tie for first place in the American division of the National Hockey league tonight by defeating the Bruins, 3 to 1. The victory left the Rangers and Detroit sharing the lead.

The game, fast and rough, was climaxed by a series of protests in the third period, an injury to Ott Heller of the Rangers and a goal scored into an unprotected net after Manager Art Ross had removed Goalie Tiny Thompson to put a sixth forward into the attack. Heller crushed into the Boston cage as he went after the puck.

OTTAWA, Ont., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The New York Americans defeated Ottawa, 5 to 2, tonight and moved into undisputed possession of second place in the international division of the National Hockey league.

The Americans took a two goal lead in the second period and then outscored Ottawa, 2 goals to 1, in the third period to assure victory. Jackson and Starr each scored two goals for New York. Touhey scored twice for Ottawa on unassisted efforts.

Ponzi Takes Billiard Lead from Rudolph

Colleges Drop Crew Race at Poughkeepsie

New York, Jan. 12.—[Special.]—The Poughkeepsie regatta, held annually on the Hudson, has been canceled by the Intercollegiate Rowing association this year because of economic reasons. This decision was reached after a meeting of officials today.

At the session were representatives of Cornell, Columbia, Navy, Pennsylvania, and Syracuse. According to Maxwell Stevenson, chairman of the board of stewards of the association, the regatta will be resumed in 1934.

It will be the first break in the regatta series since the war. No races were held in 1917, 1918, and 1919. The regatta was first held in 1895. Participating in the first regatta were Cornell, Columbia, and Pennsylvania.

California won the varsity race in last year's meet. Several days ago it announced it would not send a crew to the meet because of financial difficulties. Wisconsin withdrew last year.

WHITE SOX BUY GEORGE MURRAY, DALLAS PITCHER

George Murray, a right handed pitcher, has been purchased from the Dallas, Texas league team by the White Sox, Harry Grabiner, vice president of the Sox, announced yesterday.

Murray, who is 32 years old, has had major league experience with the Boston Red Sox and the New York Yankees. He won 23 games and lost 15 with Dallas last year.

Grabiner announced that Lester Tietje, a young right hander obtained from Davenport in the Mississippi Valley league, had been sent to Dallas in addition to cash.

MISS KOLSTAD ARRIVES IN CITY FOR SKI TOURNEY

Drum and Bugle Corps Meets World Champion

Miss Johanna Kolstad, women's world champion ski jumper, arrived in Chicago last night to appear in the central ski championship tournament at Cary, Ill., Sunday. It will be Miss Kolstad's first American appearance.

A drum and bugle corps of 65 pieces and 25 male skiers who will participate in the tournament welcomed the champion and escorted her to the Morrison hotel, where she was the guest of honor at a reception.

Miss Kolstad will find the American style of ski jumping strange, for she will see a tournament conducted on transplanted snow and a man made scaffold for the first time.

Snow Is Coming.

Six carloads of snow are en route to Cary now. Members of the Norge club who superintended the loading report it is what a skier terms "sugar" snow. It does not stick to the runners and if the temperature remains low enough it will retain its quality. The snow had to be shipped 350 miles.

Two young skiers arrived yesterday from Ishpeming, Mich., on foot, having hiked the distance of more than 160 miles. They are Bruno Saare and Roy Farsburg, who will seek the class B championship. Farsburg is regarded as a leading contender for the title, but his club could not afford to send skiers in minor divisions.

85 Entries Received.

Roy Mikkleson and Casper Olmen, two leading contenders for the central championship, will arrive today. Olmen has held the central title three times. Mikkleson is one of the three members of the American Olympic team who will compete. Two others are Lemoine Batson of the Norge club and Lloyd Ellingson of Madison, Wis.

A check of the entries received last night revealed that more than 80 skiers have registered. This number will have to be reduced to 50 so that the tournament, which begins at 1:30 o'clock, will not continue beyond dusk.

Special trains will be run over the Northwestern line to Cary Sunday, leaving the Madison street station at 7:55 a. m. and 10:05 a. m. Automobilists can reach the slide by taking any street west to River road, north to Des Plaines, then on to the Northwest highway direct to Cary.

How Champion Skater Trains Without Ice

my usual time to do a few exercises before going to my office.

Here's what I do: On arising each morning I would stand in front of an open window and go through a routine of stretching and bending exercises. First with my hands on hips I would rise on my toes, stretching my arms out sidewards and then drop down on my heels, bringing the arms down again. This is great for ankle, thigh, calf and chest development, as you will no doubt agree after you've tried this trick twenty-five times or so. Next I would bend and touch my toes, knees always stiff. This is a great developer for a strong back, always essential for the finish of a hard race.

How to Develop Legs.

Then I would place my hands on hips, bend the knees and stretch arms forward. This exercise is a great developer for the legs and gives you the same action as when you are striding on the ice. As a finale before my shower and breakfast, I would lie on my back on the floor and kick up toward the ceiling, hands on hips to balance myself. This exercise also is great for sprinters, as it loosens up all muscles of your legs.

I would have a good substantial breakfast of cereal, soft boiled, rather than fried eggs, toast, whole wheat preferably, and cocoa, tea or milk after which I would be off for work.

Just 25 Minutes.

All this routine did not take more than twenty five minutes, which allowed me an extra five to ten minutes of the half hour I allotted myself each morning. So instead of riding directly to my station, only a few squares from my office, I would get off the train several blocks away for a good brisk walk which would help digest my food and afford me a good limbering up out in fresh, cold air.

Tomorrow I will take up the remainder of this daily routine right up to bed time, and will attempt to give the 12 year old boys a few hints on dieting and training exercises.

Paul Defends Title in Bout with Miller

the sort of featherweight champion who will rule the division for many years. Making weight does not bother him. He scales around 125 pounds all the time. He hopes to weigh 125½ pounds when he enters the ring tonight.

Fights Miller Three Times.

His battles against tonight's challenger have been the most disappointing in his career. He has fought Miller on three occasions. Each was a 10 round bout. Twice Miller got the decision and in the other scrap, waged in Paul's home town, the latter was awarded the verdict by a narrow margin.

There is no question but that Paul has improved since those fights. Miller, who also is a young fellow, has also improved, his admirers claim, and they must be confident he will give a dazzling account of himself for the betting was at even money most of the time yesterday. Then the Miller backers became somewhat scarce. The result was that Paul became the favorite by a small fraction.

A crowd of from 12,000 to 15,000 will see the referee toss the crown up in the center of the ring and watch the two little men start scrambling for it. This indicates a gate of not much more than $25,000. Ticket prices are away down in line with the depression, even though a world's championship is at stake.

Four Other Bouts.

Martin Levandowski, Grand Rapids vs. James J. Braddock, New York, ten rounds. Heavyweights.

The fighters weigh in at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Punch throwing starts six hours later in the Stadium ring.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

BASKETBALL.

CONFERENCE basketball has started out to shatter belief that there will be a marked decrease in attendance at all sporting events in 1933, owing to the depression. Crowds so far have exceeded expectations, several times reaching capacity. Whether this is because of reduced admission prices or because of opinion that the race is better balanced is any one's guess. It's probably a combination of both.

With no team having played more than two games, only three remain undefeated—Illinois, Wisconsin, and Ohio State. That number, you will note, does not include the defending champion, Purdue, which went through the 1932 season with 11 victories and one defeat, the latter by Illinois on its home floor, 28 to 21, in the second game of the season. Purdue reversed the verdict at Lafayette later, 34 to 19.

If the Boilermakers accord any importance to precedent, their loss to Northwestern Monday night was on the latter's home floor, also by a margin of seven points, 35 to 28, and also in their second game of the season.

Incidentally, the first four ranking teams of the 1932 season [Purdue, Northwestern and Minnesota tied for second, and Michigan] already have suffered reverses in the two contests played.

Expert opinion, in advance, in which we do not profess to participate, picks Purdue, Northwestern, Illinois and Ohio State as the leading contenders. Yet there is not a squad in the whole ten, except Chicago, which is not given a chance of being in the running, or at least of being among the leaders. One coach tells us any team that finishes with a record of nine and three will win or tie for the title. That's how closely he figures it.

In the games we've seen so far, the provision against stalling has added to the interest. We're not enough of a technician to have opinion of the three second pivot rule. Anyway, it's a great sport to watch between two fives of anywhere even caliber and that's just what these Big Ten outfits give promise of being.

But Rentner Wasn't There.

It strikes us as rather a good joke that the groom wasn't there. It had been intended to present Pug Rentner THE TRIBUNE's white gold football watch fob for the Northwestern player most valuable to his team between halves of the Northwestern-Purdue basketball contest Monday night. Being of a retiring disposition, The Wake had suggested to Director Tug Wilson there be no advance publicity as no publicity was needed to attract a crowd to the game itself.

Well, in the first place, Mr. Wilson thought we had the token and we thought he had it. It was located during the afternoon in THE TRIBUNE sports department. During the confusion some one forgot to tell Pug about the presentation. So as The Wake stepped down from his perch to unleash a few oratorical confusions between halves, Tug met us with "Pug isn't here." The "most valuable player" was, it seems, on the job which is helping pay his college expenses. Rentner will receive the token some other time, possibly next Monday night.

Monte Parke Boots in Four Straight Firsts

New Orleans, La., Jan. 12.—[Special.]—Apprentice Jockey Monte Parke, leading rider at the Jefferson Park meeting, rode four consecutive winners in the last four races today. He scored astride Abe Furst, Cresta Run, Morheart, and Allegretto.

Cresta Run, C. V. Whitney's 3 year old Mad Hatter gelding, returned to form under a careful ride by Parke in the six furlong feature race to triumph by a head over F. P. Letellier's Marie Jean, with Mrs. S. F. Murphy's Modesto six lengths back in third place.

Favorite Likes Mud.

Racing under poor weather conditions but perfectly suited to the muddy going, the Whitney horse went to post a well backed favorite. Seven 3 year olds contested the event.

Cresta Run was content to stay back off the pace in the early stages of his race. Marion T. and Ozit dashed to the front and vied for the early lead, but their efforts were too much in view of the track conditions, and they dropped back out of contention after the first half mile.

Parke Goes to Work.

Parke stirred up Cresta Run as the field neared the home stretch and his mount responded gamely to move up with a rush and pass Ozit. Marie Jean also made her move in the stretch and she cut down Cresta Run's lead as the field approached the wire, but Parke rode Cresta Run out and he just managed to maintain a slight advantage throughout the closing strides.

MUD PUPPY STILL AWAKE IN WINTER FISHERMAN FINDS

BY BOB BECKER.

When a winter fisherman cuts a hole through the ice on a lake near the town of Fox Lake, Ill., and expects to catch a perch or a crapple and instead hooks a mud puppy he has a right to be surprised. This is what happened to one angler a few days ago when he was tending a number of fishing lines dangling through the ice.

In some localities fishermen are quite apt to snag a salamander or mud puppy during the warm months when they are after a string of fish. But this catch in the Fox lake territory is the first in which we have heard of a mud puppy visiting an ice fisherman's bait.

The wholly aquatic mud puppy which we have in Illinois is quite a large salamander. Although it is fairly common, not many facts about the relations of this salamander with the fish fauna of this region have been secured by the scientists.

He Doesn't Hibernate.

During the summer time fishermen who are using worms on their hooks for bait will catch these funny looking mud puppies, which have queer gills and other odd features. Possibly they are wholly carnivorous, but that has not been proved definitely as far as we know. Maybe they are caught by large game fish and eaten and thus furnish a source of food for pickerel and other species. Anyway, it looks as if the mud puppy in lakes is not a long distance sleeper during the winter as some of its relatives are.

Although all of the salamanders in Chicagoland are rather ugly creatures, inasmuch as they resemble lizards, there isn't any form of wild life more interesting than these scaleless amphibians because of the way in which they complete their life cycles. For example, the tiger salamander, which is fairly common in Chicagoland, often is found by gardeners during the summer because this species likes to get down in the soil. Any amateur gardener who digs up a curious creature that looks like a "spotted lizard" (with yellow spots) can be pretty sure that he has a salamander.

Some Never Grow Up.

In the fall they begin to migrate to ponds or marshes where they hibernate during the winter. This boring into the ponds for the winter hibernation also puts them where they are ready to lay their eggs as soon as spring comes.

One of the outdoor games which we had to play at one time during school days was to hunt the clusters of salamander eggs and bring them into a laboratory. This hunt came in March. We found the masses of eggs, three or four inches in diameter, attached to weed stems in shallow water. From these eggs hatch the larvæ which remain in that form for several months. Then they may lose their gills and become adult salamanders.

But the spotted salamander can pull a quick one and fool you by failing to make the scheduled transformation into the gill-less form. Instead it may continue as a larva with gills, breed in that form, and never "grow up." This ability to be one thing or another is one of the reasons why the salamander is such a fascinating creature to the scientists.

20 Teams Will Enter U. of C. Swim Today

Twenty high school swimming squads, the largest total in the history of the meet, will enter trial rounds of the ninth annual University of Chicago swimming meet this afternoon and evening at Bartlett gymnasium. Finals will be held tomorrow afternoon.

The entry list is composed of Austin, Crane, Englewood, Evanston, Harrison, Hyde Park, Lake View, Lane, Maine Township, Morgan Park, Morton, Parker, Rockford, Roosevelt, Schurz, Senn, Thornton, Thornton Fractional, Tilden, and University High.

Fancy Diving Is First.

Preliminaries in the fancy diving event will begin today at 4 p. m., followed by trials in the 220 yard free style at 5. Trials in the other six events will start at 7:30. The meet will be the first to use the new national rules.

Three City league teams, Schurz, defending champion, Tilden, and Englewood, and two out of town schools, Thornton Fractional and Rockford, are regarded as the strongest contenders for the team title. Admission of both junior and senior swimmers to the same events may alter the ratings, however. Schurz and Tilden were tied for first in the city meet held at Bartlett pool Dec. 10. Englewood, despite the disqualification of its relay team, placed high, and with the addition of its strong juniors, headed by Gercas, who set a new 40 yard record, will be much stronger in today's meet.

Relay Teams Strong.

Schurz, Englewood, Maine, Tilden, and Rockford all have relay teams that are within a tenth of a second of each other in best times. Tilden also has Hickey, who set a new meet record in the 220 last year and who is expected to go after the 100 yard mark this year, and Juell, one of the chief contenders in the 220. Ogilby of Rockford and Prorak of Thornton Fractional are also outstanding in the free style events.

Rieke of Schurz will defend his championship in the back stroke. Hutton of Rockford has been covering the breast stroke distance in the fast time of 1:16.

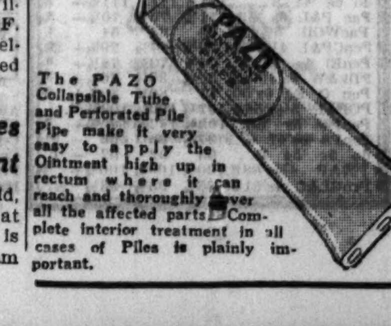
AT LAST! PILES ACTUALLY REDUCED WITHOUT SURGERY!

Now it is possible to do more than merly soothe Piles. Now it is possible actually to reduce the swollen or enlarged blood vessels, which Piles are, without the need of an operation. Now, for the first time, a home medicinal treatment is available which not only stops the pain and itching of Piles, but at the same time actually shrinks the enlarged veins.

Pazo Ointment is a complete and effective treatment for Piles because it does three things. It soothes the sore and inflamed parts. It heals the irritated and torn membrane and tissue. It shrinks or reduces the swollen blood vessels. Thus, it not merely relieves Piles, but actually tends to correct the condition as a whole. The relief you seek is supplied in Pazo Ointment—and the method of application. (See picture below.) Thousands say that Pazo gave them the first real relief they ever had from Piles. Thousands say it saved them the need of a painful operation. One trial of Pazo will convince you that it is YOUR relief, too! All drug stores sell Pazo Ointment in the Collapsible Tube with Special Pile Pipe, complete for 75c. Try it today.



Perforated Pile Pipe Attached to Collapsible Tube Makes Application Correct and Easy.

The PAZO Collapsible Tube and Perforated Pile Pipe make it very easy to apply the Ointment high up in rectum where it can reach and thoroughly cover all the affected parts. Complete interior treatment in all cases of Piles is plainly important.

PRICE ADVANCES IN HOG MARKET PROVE MILDER

Light Cattle, Yearlings Perform Better.

Price improvements in the hog market yesterday were milder and confined mostly to the light and medium weights. Heavy butchers were inclined to drag, with an occasional show of weakness evident in the plainer types. While price gains were not up to the expectations of the bull side of the trade, the clearance was thorough, only penholders and picked over stock going over unsold. The extreme top for sorted 160@210 lb averages reached $3.35, showing 5c gain, while the general average price remained unchanged at $3.15.

Advances of more than 5c were seldom found in the hogs weighing 250 lbs and less, while the majority of stock above this weight cashed at Wednesday's quotations. There was a slight falling off of quality yesterday, the run carrying a bigger quota of the 200@250 lb averages of medium to good quality and fewer of those that graded choice.

Cattle Make Progress.

Light cattle and yearlings made good progress toward higher prices again yesterday, the biggest gains coming in the common to medium grades weighing under 1,000 lbs. The scant supply of good to choice grades were sold steady, but nothing comparable to the $7.35 kinds here Wednesday were offered yesterday. The highest sale was $7 for some choice 1,075 lb yearlings, with a comparatively small quota eligible to more than $6 because of the plainer quality of offerings.

Best action was found in the cattle selling downwards from $5.50, provided they were light enough in weight to suit this particular demand. Light steers and yearlings have been headed upward all week and show gains of 25@50c compared with the close of last week. Much of yesterday's supply was of the class showing this gain, the bulk of total offerings selling within a range of $4.25@5.75. Most heifers are selling 75c above the low point of last week. Some are $1.00 higher.

Lambs Close Higher.

Lambs dragged through the first half of yesterday's session with buyers and sellers in grips over prices. Toward the close the bulk changed hands on a mostly 10@15c higher basis, top natives to city butchers going up 20c to $6.60, which equals the highest mark since Nov. 28. Fed westerns near the end of the day sold at $6.50 and below. Yearlings and matured sheep were scarce and steady, one lot of 135 lb old ewes going for slaughter at $2.75.

A report yesterday indicated that 5,239,000 sheep and lambs were on feed in the principal feeding states Jan. 1, a decrease of 900,000 head, or 15 per cent, compared with a year ago. It was the smallest number on feed Jan. 1 in several years.

URGES WISCONSIN BLUE SKY LAW FOR LISTED STOCK

Governor Calls Exchange Rules Inadequate.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Jan. 12.—Gov. A. G. Schmedeman today recommended in his message to the state legislature that securities listed on the principal stock exchanges throughout the country be made subject to the same blue sky regulations as other securities sold in the state.

Under the present law issues listed on the New York, Chicago, and Boston Stock exchanges are exempt from such restrictions. They may be sold in Wisconsin without the special sanction of the public service commission.

A new regulative act has been prepared at the request of the governor and will be presented to the legislature.

"If this bill is enacted," Gov. Schmedeman declared, "it will no longer be possible to list securities on the exchanges for the sole purpose of evading the securities law."

He told the legislature that the new act would eliminate the distinction between class A and class B securities and require registration of all securities before they are sold in the state.

"The standards which dealers and agents must observe should be much more definite," the governor continued. "The securities division must be given power to investigate reorganizations, loophole of the present law through which many worthless securities now escape all scrutiny.

"Another important addition to the law would be the power to enjoin fraudulent acts in connection with the sale of securities."

HIGH PRESSURE SELLING CALLED BLOW TO TRADE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12.—David Sarnoff, president of the Radio Corporation of America, spoke tonight at the forum conducted by New York university and the Investment Bankers' Association of America in the New York Stock Exchange building.

"We cannot produce in the blind faith of an inexhaustible demand," Mr. Sarnoff said. "Profitless prosperity is but the mirage of success.

"What does it profit an industry to pile up enormous sales totals in any one year if by doing so it undermines the market for the following year?"

Banks Outside the Loop Re-elect Officers, Directors

Bank elections yesterday failed to show a single change in the directors or officers of the institutions holding their annual meetings. The Austin State, Thornton State, Berwyn Trust and Savings, and Amalgamated Trust and Savings held meetings of stockholders.

CANADA'S WEALTHIEST MAN URGES MERGING OF RAILROAD SYSTEMS

MONTREAL, Que., Jan. 12.—(AP)—Unification of the two Canadian transcontinental railways was advocated today by Sir Herbert Holt. He spoke at the annual meeting of shareholders of the Royal Bank of Canada.

He also warned that if efforts to get cooperation by the newsprint manufacturing industry are unsuccessful, the provincial governments would have to take steps to conserve Canada's natural resources and prevent the collapse of that industry.

Sir Herbert said of the coming general economic conference that "news of the world indicates a gradual increase in stability." He added that while "prophecy continues to be dangerous, my feeling is that present indications point to the initiation of substantial recovery in 1933."

Sir Herbert said a union of interests was necessary between the Canadian National and the Canadian Pacific. He declared fear of a monopoly was groundless, as there is no reason to suppose that supervision by the board of railway commissioners would cease.

In the newsprint industry, he asserted high-cost mills were not now operating, and in spite of drastic economies that industry faced the difficulty of covering its actual operating expenses before provision for any interest or depreciation. In these circumstances a continuation of price cutting methods was not in the interests of the people of Canada, particularly the workers in the woods and mills.

PRESSED STEEL CAR IS PLACED IN RECEIVERSHIP

New York, Jan. 12.—Julius S. Rippel, a banker of Newark, and L. E. Herman, a Jersey City attorney, have been appointed receivers for the Pressed Steel Car company, the $48,000,000 railroad equipment company which ranks as the third largest manufacturer of freight cars in the United States.

The petition for the appointment of receivers alleged that the company last year lost money "at the rate of $100,000 a month" and that the corporation had failed to meet the maturity of $3,600,000 in bonds, due Jan. 1 last, offering instead $250 cash for each $1,000 bond and promising to pay the balance of $750 in ten years.

Stork Line Head Outlines Plan to Eliminate Waste

"Economy will be affected by elimination of waste, enabling us to produce better merchandise at the level of today's prices," A. G. Feldman, president of the Stork Line Furniture company, told 45 department heads at the annual dinner meeting of the company at the Bismarck hotel last night. This was the key point in the 1933 program.

Foreclosure Can Be Avoided.

TO THE EDITOR: In August, 1925, I purchased a forty year old two flat property for $8,750 encumbered with a first mortgage of $3,500 at 6 per cent interest and a second mortgage of $3,000 at 6 per cent interest. To date I have paid $6,250 cash, the second mortgage is paid in full. The first mortgage has been reduced from $3,500 to $2,500. The first mortgage was renewed and is due in 1934. Taxes, assessments, and interest have been paid to date.

Among the improvements I have made is a hot water heating system which naturally increased the value of the property. Due to low rental and reduced income I asked the mortgage holder the advisability of reducing the interest rate from 6 per cent to 4 per cent temporarily. In this way I could pay the carrying charges, which would insure the investor's principal. The party representing the mortgage holder appears to be reluctant to entertain such a proposition.

Should I let the mortgage holder foreclose and how long will I have to redeem? If the mortgage holder refuses to reduce the interest rate what is the next step which would at least give me a fighting chance to pull through and help save my life savings. I have only been able to work part time and hardly able to meet household expenses. One flat has been empty for over a year.—M. S.

ANSWER: Foreclosure procedure is as follows: A bill of foreclosure is filed. A week or ten days later you receive a notice to appear in court or before a master in chancery. At that time your case is heard and the court determines whether or not you shall have possession of the property during the period of redemption or if a receiver should be appointed. The court also sets the date of sale, approximately three months hence. You then have twelve months in which to redeem the property from date of sale.

If there is a judgment creditor you receive an additional three months' time. At the time you are ordered to appear in court the judge or master decides, usually by the amount of your equity, whether or not you shall keep possession of the property without paying rent. In the majority of foreclosure cases this is not true.

When foreclosure is inevitable we recommend the following "Lease with Option to Purchase" plan: The owner quit claims the property to the mortgage holder immediately. In return the mortgage holder gives the owner a lease for 12 or 18 months with free rent, depending upon the amount of his equity together with an option to repurchase the property for a specific amount during that period of time.

This protects the mortgage holder's investment and does not burden the owner with unnecessary penalty charges. Care should be taken to have a good attorney draw up the "lease with option to purchase" papers.

FEELING AMONG ROADS ON R. F. C. LOANS IS MIXED

Hold Requirements Should Be Held.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12.—Quite in contrast to the prevailing belief that the present session of congress will enact legislation liberalizing the collateral restrictions of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in connection with loans to railroads, well informed rail officials now hold that there is little likelihood of such action.

In fact, notwithstanding the arguments put forth by important figures in the railroad field, including E. G. Buckland, president of the Railroad Credit corporation, and despite the fact that the Association of Railway Executives recommended such legislation in its seven point program for improvement of the railroad situation, there are not a few carrier officials who are not in favor of the proposal.

"House of Cards."

In the belief that relaxation of the collateral requirements is an improper method of approaching the railroad problem, since it contemplates only an encouragement to the weak carriers to increase further their debt burden, one conservative railroad official holds that such methods would only result in the erection of "a house of cards" necessitating a future day of reckoning.

Since the proposal to relax the collateral requirements of the Reconstruction Finance corporation in the case of loans to railroads was first made, opposition to the plan has been steadily growing, not only in legislative but also in conservative banking circles, it is held by competent railroad authorities.

Basis of Loans.

Under the plans as proposed by the Association of Railway Executives, the railroads would be permitted to borrow on the basis of their future ability to repay rather than on the amount of collateral which they have available at the time application for the loan was made.

At the moment, at least, a part of the carrier officials are much more interested in the proposals to revise the bankruptcy laws in a way to facilitate voluntary reorganizations than they are in methods to encourage further borrowings from the governmental credit agency.

Railroad Shares Braced by Earning Reports.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12.—The news from Washington was not so much to Wall street's liking today and the balance of stock market speculation veered once more to the selling side. Pressure was not pronounced in any direction, however, and declines were largely of fractional caliber.

Prospects of passage by the house of the farm allotment plan was the chief concern of the market community. Brokerage spokesmen expressed the opinion that the measure would find the sledding more difficult in the senate and the "extra session" would find it forgotten in favor of some other plan. However, the ardor of its backers was enough to make the rank and file cautious for the time being and to further slow up the so-called new year's advance which got away so promisingly.

Wheat Drop a Factor.

The drop of a cent a bushel in wheat was a bearish factor of the day. Farm implement shares in particular showed themselves sensitive to this development, Case selling off more than 2 points from its early morning high and International Harvester giving up about half as much. Both issues finished below yesterday's close after an early show of strength.

Railroad shares were braced by additional November earnings statements which, though showing net figures mainly in the red, recorded a distinct improvement over the dispiriting figures for the first few months of last year.

The annual report of the R. J. Reynolds company made the tobacco shares look better and losses of the group as a whole were slight. Reynolds common held unchanged and the B stock moved against the trend for a small gain.

Outstanding weak spots were Proctor & Gamble and McCrory Stores A, B and preferred shares. Selling of the first named company's shares reflected concern over its dividend.

Rubber Shares Improve.

Rubber and tire company stocks made a strong bid for market leadership and gains of from a fraction to more than a point were the rule in the shares of the Goodyear, Goodrich and U. S. Rubber companies. While the latest statistics indicate that consumption continues to decline in the United States, the demand abroad is said to be picking up. Brokerage letter comment guesses that the rubber industry is rapidly becoming stabilized.

There was another flurry of buying in the shares of the Brooklyn-Manhattan Traction company and rumors of an impending fare rise were revived. One report had it that the increase was "slated" for this spring or summer.

1933 Plans Outlined at Rumford Baking Meeting

The annual sales convention of the Chicago district of the Rumford Baking Powder company was held at the Drake hotel yesterday. Frank N. Willing, who recently succeeded Dan B. Kelly as manager of the Chicago district, welcomed William L. Sweet, executive head of the company; Clarkson A. Collins Jr., general sales manager, and J. William Atherton, president of Atherton & Currier, Inc., New York advertising agency. Mr. Collins outlined the company's promotion proposals for 1933 and asserted that newspaper advertising would continue to be stressed.

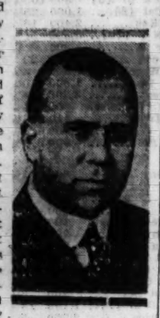
LIGHT INDUSTRY ORGANIZES NEW, FRANKER GROUP

Organization Draws Up Strict Rules.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

Companies comprising 85 per cent of the electric light and power industry in the United States yesterday junked the National Electric Light association and announced the formation of an entirely new organization to be called the Edison Electric institute.



W. J. HAGENAH. [Moffett Photo.]

In a statement released last night the new organization took great pains to point out that the move was made so that the industry might divest itself of "all semblance of propaganda activities; that it assume an attitude of frankness and ready cooperation in its dealings with the public and with regulatory bodies, and that complete and frequent financial reports be made by all companies."

Doing Own Housecleaning.

Apparently determined to do its own housecleaning in the industry, the new Edison Electric Institute has adopted a constitution which seeks to eliminate many of the practices that have recently caused criticism of utilities.

No mention is made of Samuel Insull, but the Insull influence is believed to have been responsible for many of the acts of the old National Electric Light association which aroused the greatest condemnation.

It was Samuel Insull, assisted by his brother, Martin, who is generally credited with having moved the N. E. L. A. into politics. Previously the N. E. L. A. had been strictly a statistical and trade organization.

In August, 1931, it was recalled, there was a rift in the internal organization of the N. E. L. A. when three "Morgan" companies, United Gas Improvement, Public Service of New Jersey, and Philadelphia Electric company, withdrew their membership.

Fight Insull Domination.

No reasons for this action were offered by officers of the withdrawing companies, but it was generally believed that their retirement was a protest against the reported efforts of the Insull interests to dominate the association.

It was pointed out that Samuel and Martin Insull, with their penchant for being active in local, state, and national politics, had been attempting to draw the N. E. L. A. into politics against the express desire of the majority of the membership, especially eastern companies.

Out of this rift arose the many rumors, never substantiated, to the effect that "Morgan was after Insull." These persisted in market gossip until the Insull structure collapsed.

George B. Cortelyou, president of the Consolidated Gas company of New York, and now serving as president of the National Electric Light association, has been elected president of the new Edison Electric institute, according to the statement yesterday.

Chicagoan Vice President.

William J. Hagenah of Chicago, vice president of the Byllesby Engineering and Management corporation, is vice president; Bernard F. Weadock, executive secretary, and Edward Reynolds Jr., treasurer. All of these officers hold similar position in the N. E. L. A.

The governing board of 24 includes James Simpson, chairman of Commonwealth Edison, Peoples Gas and Public Service Company of Northern Illinois; William Chamberlain, president of the United Light & Power company, Chicago, and John J. O'Brien, president of H. M. Byllesby & company, Chicago.

All of these men yesterday were reported to be in New York attending the meeting of the association.

The determination of the members of the association to police the industry is seen in a paragraph of the constitution which provides that the membership committee shall have authority to "consider and investigate the business practices of any company member and to expel, suspend or take any other disciplinary action against any member guilty of a violation of proper or ethical business practices, or for failure to furnish information as required."

Three Important Revisions.

Other important provisions of the constitution are the following:

The company members shall from time to time and not less than annually publish financial statements, including balance sheets, showing gross and net income, operating expenses and surplus accounts, which statements shall be certified to by independent firms of certified public accountants who shall have audited the books of the company.

All statements and data furnished to consumers, stock exchanges and stockholders; all information designated for public dissemination and all reports to governmental authorities shall be accurate and clearly indicate their source.

All contracts between any member companies which involve the furnishing of management, supervisory, purchasing, construction, engineering or financing services to operating electric utility companies shall be so drawn and so operate in practice that the charges to the operating company shall be reasonable and commensurate with the value of the services rendered and the fair cost thereof to the company furnishing the services.

Speaker Shows "Other Side" of Technocracy

New York, Jan. 12.—(AP)—Technocracy's "other side" a 37 per cent jump in American patents granted during the last two years of depression many of them promising increased employment—was described to the New York Electrical society tonight by Dr. H. C. Parmelee, vice president of the McGraw-Hill Publishing company. He referred briefly to technocracy.

"New developments of technology," he said, "such as technocracy deals with, do not mean unemployment but more employment, new life to trade so widespread that we cannot see the limits.

"In 1931 we issued 51,000 patents, which was 6,000 more than in 1930. And last year we issued about 62,000 patents, which was about 11,000 more than in 1931. This striking annual increase of patents issued during depression years in evidence of a drive on the part of inventors and manufacturers to bring new things into trade and commerce.

Carry On Research.

"Another indicator is a recent survey showing that manufacturers, large and small, have recognized the necessity of maintaining their research and development staffs and have been loath to curtail activities of these departments during the depression."

Dr. Parmelee enumerated 38 new products of science to illustrate, demonstrating some of them to the audience. Of particular importance, he said, are two of them, colored aluminum and copper sheeting thin as paper. Aluminum with its colors a part of the metal, so that they remain unchanged when bent, cut or mashed, he credited to the research laboratories of the Aluminum Company of America.

Cites New Invention.

The Anaconda Copper company produced the method of making endless rolls of copper paper, and this material, he said, will be useful throughout the world to resist corrosion in virtually all circumstances wherein copper is a good rust shield.

Other new products included runless stocking. Glass bricks and bricks light enough to float, new farm machines, whirling boilers, cotton houses, metalized wood, steel houses, metal sprays, glass blackboards, automaton bridge table, creaseless fabrics, devices for the deaf and new foods.

URGES ENDING OF 'SOAK THE RICH'; FOR SELF-HELP

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12.—Business was depicted as on the upward grade out of the depression tonight by William Guggenheim, capitalist and president of the Benjamin Franklin Institute of America, in a speech at the University of Pennsylvania clubhouse.

"We must remember that only through business activity," he said, "can government receipts be increased. It is time to begin to encourage capital to come out of hiding to seek profitable investment and employment. This encouragement can only be accomplished through legislative means. abandonment of a policy to soak the rich. For in such encouragement we are enabled not only to be generous to the poor, but to be of genuine help to them.

"In the old pioneer days, which have unhappily passed, our people did not seek to be fed with a spoon. They had the stamina, given the opportunity, to go out and work for themselves. With excessive welfare work animating the minds and actions of many of our good citizens we are preparing our people for a state of anemia that may indeed become pernicious before the disease has run its course.

"Let us pray, therefore, for a return of that old condition of less government in business and more business in government, and, thereby, turn our country back to our people."

CHICAGO OBTAINS $544,122 TO PAY ON BOND ISSUE

City Controller Szymczak yesterday informed the holders of $15,036,000 of City of Chicago 1933 refunding bonds that the city has available $544,122 with which to redeem a portion of the bond issue at par plus accrued interest. The bonds, which pay 6 per cent and mature in 1938, are those which the city sold recently to avoid a default on Jan. 1 of bond and interest payments. The bonds are noncallable, for which reason the controller only advertised that the city can take up a portion of the issue at this time.

On Dec. 16, 1932, the city council passed an ordinance providing that all delinquent taxes paid on the levies for bond and interest for the years 1928, 1929, and 1930 should be placed in a special trust fund for use only in redeeming the 1933 refunding bonds. It was the accumulation of $544,122 in this fund within a month's time that led the controller to offer to take up some of the bonds.

Rail Tax Aids Competitors, Says Expert

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The railroads and the pipe lines are the only forms of transportation in the United States which stand on an independent economic basis. All others —motor transportation, waterways, and aviation—receive subsidies in one form or another from government.

This statement was made by Dr. C. S. Duncan, economist for the Association of Railway Executives, in a talk yesterday before the Traffic club at the Palmer house on "Transportation Issues."

Dr. Duncan, estimating that the country now has some 65 billion dollars invested in transportation, stated that we now have a huge surplus in this vital service, and warned that if traffic cannot sustain all of them some form must yield.

Much Property Untaxed.

The railroads are private property used in the public service, he stated, and as private property they are taxed. On the other hand, waterways are built and supported out of general taxes, the country has spent around 10 billion dollars in the last ten years on highways, and aviation receives subsidies either in mail contracts or through governmentally operated and owned landing fields.

The highways are built and supported through public funds derived from taxes, Dr. Duncan continued, and they are used in part for private gain. As public property they pay no taxes for the support of government. Further, the railroads as private property must secure funds from the money market, for which they must pay a return. On the other hand, the highways get their funds from taxes and do not have to pay any returns.

Calling this "an intolerable situation," Dr. Duncan asked for an analysis of the operating costs of transportations system making use of properties provided by public funds, in order to find a fair differential between the various rates.

Subsidies Shift Charges.

"A subsidy to a transportation agency means the elimination of some element of cost that should be charged against the value of that service," the speaker averred. "It means the shifting of a charge to somebody else, since the cost must be paid. It means a lifting of a part of the burden of cost which should be borne by him who is served by this facility."

Dr. Duncan held that the railroads are bearing huge unwarranted burdens, since they must pay huge tax bills to help support those agencies which are taking business away from them.

RAILWAYS FIGHT FEDERAL PLAN OF RAIL PENSIONS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Representatives of the railroads will appear before the senate interstate commerce committee tomorrow to oppose enactment of railway employes' pension bills now before that committee.

They will cite the $200,000,000 deficit of American railroads in 1932, saying the proposed legislation would put in jeopardy the solvency of practically every railroad in the country.

The roads, it will be argued, are voluntarily paying more than $36,000,000 a year in pensions to superannuated and disabled employés. Former Attorney General Herman L. Ekern of Wisconsin, representing the National Pensions association, which is the organization of railroad employés favoring the Hatfield rather than the Wagner bill, was before the committee during the entire session today. The Hatfield bill does not provide for a reserve fund. By implication the Wagner bill does.

BRITISH GOVERNMENT BLOCKS LIGGETT SALE OF BOOTS DRUG CHAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Jan. 12.—The big deal by which the shareholdings of the Boots Pure Drug company, which has the biggest chain of drug stores in Britain, was to be transferred from the American United Drug company, owned by the Liggett interests, to a British group has been held up by interference of the treasury, which fears that transfer of an amount stated to be about $23,000,000 might seriously upset the sterling-dollar exchange.

Legally, the treasury has no power to interfere, but without its approval the stock exchange committee would refuse to list the stocks or permit the new issue of British capital which is relied upon to raise the money for the purchase.

The matter has been referred to Neville Chamberlain, chancellor of the exchequer, who is consulting banking authorities and the promoters of the deal.

URGES FEDERAL INQUIRY INTO ILLINOIS LIFE CO.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Investigation of the failure of any corporation which has received a loan of more than $50,000 from the Reconstruction Finance corporation and went into receivership within three months later is demanded in a bill introduced in the house today. It was presented by Representative Hamilton Fish [Rep.] of New York. The attorney general would make the investigation and report to congress before March 1, especially on any irregularities, false or fraudulent statements.

"I believe an immediate investigation by the department of justice," Mr. Fish said, "should be undertaken into the failure of the Union Indemnity company and its affiliates, the Illinois Life Insurance company, and the Frisco railroad receiverships. I do not want to charge fraudulent practices against any of these companies and others in the same position without a thorough investigation, but I believe that there is sufficient reason for immediate and searching investigation to ascertain the facts and to institute criminal proceedings, if necessary."

TRY TO FORCE INFLATION BILL BEFORE SENATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12. — (AP) — Threats to block all other legislation to force consideration of currency inflation and hunger relief were made today on the senate floor and in the lobbies. There also was talk of invoking cloture rule to break the filibuster against the Glass banking bill, now led by Senator Long [Dem., La.], who today entered his third day.

Senator Wheeler [Dem., Mont.] interrupted Long's filibuster to say that unless legislation to inflate the currency is enacted he would be "perfectly willing to stop all legislation until congress wakes up to the necessity of doing something."

The Montana senator, also opposed to the Glass bill.

"This congress has not done a single thing to aid the country," Wheeler added. "Unless something of this kind is done the country will face a very critical time. In some parts of the country, where the courts don't dare to serve processes, nothing but anarchy prevails."

Close Steel Contract on Golden Gate Bridge Job

San Francisco, Cal., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The contract for $10,694,000 worth of steel for the $30,000,000 bridge across the Golden Gate was signed here today by representatives of the bridge district and the McClintic-Marshall corporation. Corporation officials said much of the steel will be fabricated in the San Francisco plant of the Bethlehem Steel corporation, giving employment to hundreds.

Mexican Pete Addition in East to Cost $500,000

Foster-Wheeler Corp. Gets $123,100 Navy Contract

The Foster Wheeler corporation has received a contract from the navy department for boilers, oil burners and automatic control equipment at the navy yard, Mare Island, Cal., aggregating $123,100, it was announced.

Judges Uphold Rates to Limit Utility's Profit

In a decision given yesterday three federal judges held that rates prescribed by the Illinois commerce commission for the Kankakee Water company, which would yield a probable return of 5.17 per cent on investment, were not confiscatory.

The decision denied the Kankakee company, which is owned by the Consumers Water company of Portland, Me., the right to charge a rate higher than that set by the commerce commission. The company had asked for a temporary injunction to restrain the commerce commission from enforcing rates that would limit the company to the 5.17 per cent return.

Judge Evan A. Evans of the Circuit Court of Appeals and Judges James H. Wilkerson and Walter C. Lindley of the District court gave the decision. One paragraph read:

"Under the existing generally depressed industrial and financial conditions, indicating a greatly abnormal condition both generally and locally, all of which appears in the record, we are not warranted in finding that the probable return of 5.17 per cent upon the valuation, furnished by the commission's prescribed rates, is confiscatory. In this connection we have considered the evidence of present return in industrial enterprises of other character and that of similar utility companies, as well as the fact that plaintiff makes no claim and furnishes no evidence that new capital is at present needed in its business."

WRIGLEY, OWENS, AM. MACHINE VOTE DIVIDENDS

Distribution of the regular dividends to the stockholders of the William Wrigley Jr. company and the Owens Illinois Glass company was authorized yesterday by the directors of the companies.

The Wrigley directors declared three monthly dividends of 25 cents each payable March 1, April 1, and May 1, to stock of record of the twentieth day of each month.

The usual quarterly dividend of 20 cents a share was authorized by the American Machine and Foundry company. International Cigar Machinery company, a subsidiary of American Machine, voted a dividend of 37½ cents. Both are payable Feb. 1 to stock of record Jan. 21.

Parish, president of the Missouri-Kansas Pipe Line company, now in receivership, was granted in the Supreme court today in a suit of W. G. Maguire and Company, Inc., of Chicago to recover for bonds and stock belonging to it, alleged to have been converted by Parish to his own use and retained. The defendant, who was indicted recently on the Maguire company's complaint, lives in East Orange, N. J., and the attachment was granted for that reason.

RESERVE SELLS $38,500,000 OF FEDERAL BONDS

Reverses Its Former Credit Policy.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—Reversing an open market policy which it adopted a year ago in an effort to stem deflation and swell the stream of credit, the federal reserve system sold $38,500,000 worth of government securities in the week ended Jan. 11.

Announcement of the reversal in policy came today from the federal reserve board when reports were made public showing that the 12 reserve banks had cut their holdings of governments from $1,851,000,000 on Jan. 4 to $1,812,000,000 on Jan. 11.

Assurances were given today, however, that the selling would not assume large proportions and that it would aim only to stabilize the excess reserves of the member banks, through which the open market operations seek to influence credit, at their present level.

Offsets Other Factors.

In effect, the selling of governments will endeavor to exactly offset two forces which have been forcing the member bank excess reserves upward. The return flow of gold to this country and the return of money to the banks from circulation. Selling of $38,500,000 of governments during the last week failed to accomplish this end, as $25,000,000 of gold was shipped into this country and $80,000,000 returned from circulation, forcing the total reserves up $60,000,000 to $2,574,000,000.

All of the reserve banks joined in the selling during the past week. The Chicago Reserve bank sold $4,660,000 worth of governments and brought its total holdings down to $257,550,000. Meanwhile, reserves of member banks in the Chicago area, contrary to the trend in the rest of the country, dropped $6,400,000 to $415,303,000.

See Enough Loan Funds.

Behind the reserve system's reversal in policy is the conviction that with excess reserves of the member banks at their present level the country has enough loanable funds. In substantiation of this point of view, federal reserve experts call attention to the extremely low interest rates on government securies: one issue of bills sold at a rate of only .09 per cent.

The problem now is to convince bankers that they should risk their money on a 5 per cent commercial loan rather than give it to the government for .09 per cent, the officials say.

The reversal in open market policy marks the end of a movement which began about a year ago. In February the reserve system, deciding that the time to check inflation had come, began purchasing governments in the open market at the rate of about $25,000,000 a week. Continuing these mild operations through the spring, the system brought them to a climax by buying governments at the average rate of 100 million dollars a week for six weeks in the early summer.

Holdings All Time Record.

After completing this great effort, the system slowly ceased to buy any governments. Already their portfolio was at an all time record, $1,851,000,000. They held on to all of these federal securities until last week. Now, rather than selling them, they will let them run off at their maturities as long as that method does not drive down the total of excess reserves in the member banks. If the reserves begin to dwindle, the banks might again commence buying operations.

RESERVES AT NEW HIGH

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 13.—Although the federal reserve system reduced its holdings of United States government securities $38,522,000 in the week ended on Wednesday the cut, which was the first important change since Aug. 17, did not quite balance the week's retirement of $80,000,000 of money from circulation. Consequently, member bank reserves over requirements reached a new high at about $650,000,000.

The system reported a rise of $49,177,000 in its gold reserves, a decline of $2,951,000 in its loans to member banks, and a drop of $255,000 in its holdings of bills bought in the open market.

Federal reserve note circulation was down $50,632,000 in the week and deposits rose $57,095,000; the ratio of reserves to note and deposit liabilities combined advanced to 64.1 per cent, against 63 per cent a week ago.

Loans on stock and bond collateral made to brokers and dealers by reporting member banks of the federal reserve in New York City fell $13,000,000 in the week to a total of $381,000,000.

U. S. Debt Cut 1919 to 1930; Up Since Then

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—The Roosevelt administration will take over from the present régime a public debt of about $21,000,000,000 March 4. That will be about $3,000,000,000 less than that inherited by the Harding administration in 1921, according to treasury figures today, although in 1930 the debt was reduced to about 16 billions.

The gross debt at the end of December was $20,805,556,791. In view of recent treasury financing, there were no indications of a substantial change before March 4.

Peak in August of 1919.

The peak of the debt was Aug. 31, 1919, with $26,596,701,648. By the end of June, 1920, that had been reduced to $24,299,321,467 by cutting down the general fund balance about 1 billion dollars.

The debt had been cut to $23,977,450,552 at the end of the 1921 fiscal year, four months after the Republicans reassumed the reins of government.

Balancing of the budget was then accomplished and provision made for the orderly retirement of the debt. Through the sinking fund, principal payments on foreign obligations, and surplus accounts the debt was cut to the minimum of $16,185,309,831 by the end of the 1930 fiscal year.

Grows with Deficit.

Since that time it has been climbing steadily as the result of the tremendous increase of expenditures over receipts. The largest debt reduction accomplished after 1921 was $1,131,309,333, in 1927, when there was a United States treasury surplus of more than $607,000,000.

Secretary Mills faces a total of $1,308,627,650 in refinancing before the end of the administration. This includes $828,693,650 in certificates of indebtedness and $541,934,000 in bills. Of the certificates, $144,372,000 mature Feb. 1, $660,715,000 March 15, and $33,606,150 in anti-hoarding certificates on the same date.

Mills May Act on It.

While the March 15 financing falls in the new administration, it was regarded possible that arrangements for it would be made by Secretary Mills, in view of the short time the new treasury régime would have in which to act.

The new treasury administration will receive the obligation for refinancing of $2,624,995,000 in notes, certificates, and bills. The notes amounted to $1,006,130,000, certificates to $1,318,865,000, and bills about $300,000,000. The certificates, bearing rates from three-fourths of 1 per cent to 2 per cent, mature before the end of December of the current year, and the bills within the next four months, while note maturities are scattered through 1934 and 1935.

CHICAGO POSTAL REVENUE FALLS OFF FOR MONTH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 12.—(AP)—The postoffice department announced today that Chicago's postal receipts for December were $4,515,478—a decrease of $684,385, or 13.6 per cent from the same month in 1931.

Total receipts for 50 selected cities showed a decrease of 5.24 per cent, while receipts from 50 industrial cities were down 6.86 per cent.

At Springfield, Ill., receipts last December were $73,219, an increase of $2,897, or 4.12 per cent.

HOLDS 10 JUDGES CONTROL 20% OF COUNTY REALTY

Attorney Cites Flood of Receiverships.

BY AL CHASE.

One-fifth of the property in Cook county is being administered by ten judges because of the flood of foreclosure and receivership actions, according to John W. Brabner-Smith, attorney, who spoke on "Receiverships" last night before the Evanston Young Republican club, at 1612 Orrington avenue. Mr. Smith, who was one of the directors of a study of mortgage foreclosure practices in Cook county conducted by Northwestern university law school, the first report of which severely rapped master in chancery practices, said that nowhere in America are there so many receiverships in proportion to foreclosures as in Chicago.

JOHN W. BRABNER-SMITH. [TRIBUNE Photo.]

He stated that even the chancellors admit that receivership is a temporary, inefficient and uneconomical method of handling property, resulting in forcing surrounding property into foreclosure also.

Well Managed; Fees Double.

"Most of the well managed receiverships are where the receiver has hired expert real estate managers to operate the property," said Mr. Smith, "but in those cases both the receiver and the manager get fees and the receiver's job consists chiefly of hiring an attorney to take the manager's report into court."

Mr. Smith, has just returned from New York, Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, where he has compared methods and costs of foreclosure with those in Chicago for the report now being prepared.

"Chicago's real estate is probably in worse condition than that of any other large city in this country," he said. "Philadelphia's is very bad; New York and Detroit also are in bad shape. Pittsburgh real estate is comparatively well off. Although the tax situation is a principal factor in this, nowhere are there as many receiverships in proportion to foreclosures as in Chicago."

Bondholders Waking Up.

Mr. Smith had this to say about the best method of effecting a reorganization: "When an insurance company has a defaulted mortgage, it first goes to see the owners of the property. When a bondholder fails to get interest, he goes to see everybody but the owner.

"The bondholders gradually are waking up to realize that their best bargain can be made directly with the defaulting owner."

"The bondholders forget that the owner doesn't know who the bondholders are, and is invariably refused this information by those who know but wish to muscle in on a reorganization."

WHEAT PRICES DECLINE; LOSE ABOUT 1 CENT

WHEAT PRICES IN GOLD

Do No. 2 Manitoba	.37⅞	.38⅛

Do No. 2 Manitoba	.54⅞	.54⅞

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

A number of local professionals who had thought they saw signs of a bull market developing in wheat sold out their lines yesterday and caused a break of 1⅝@1⅝c from the early high point. Pit brokers said it was hard to trace where all the wheat sold had gone to and generally expressed the belief that scattered buying had accounted for the bulk of the absorption which has been in evidence on all the recessions for several days. The finish was at the bottom, with net losses of ⅝@1c. May closed at 49⅛@49¼c, with July at 48⅜@48½c, and September at 49¼@49⅜c.

With the domestic allotment bill scheduled to be balloted on in Washington during the day there was unusual caution shown on both sides of the wheat market early, which in part accounted for the erratic action of prices. It took relatively little buying or selling to make sharp changes.

American Wheat at Premium.

While many operators express the belief that a higher level of wheat prices will be witnessed ultimately, the great disparity which prevails between Chicago May and the price of No. 2 Manitoba cash wheat in Winnipeg, 11⅝c per bu at the close yesterday as indicated by the table giving the figures computed on a gold basis, is causing considerable hesitancy in taking the buying side until there is improvement in the European demand.

Selling of wheat futures in Chicago against purchases at Winnipeg by spreaders tended to increase the weakness in the former, but the Canadian market had an easy undertone a good part of the day. The close there was ⅝@⅞c lower, with no export sales of consequence indicated. Houses with eastern connections bought May and sold July here, widening the difference between the old and new crop months to ⅝c at the last, against ½c on Wednesday. Trade gossip indicated the buying and selling was to close spreads made some time ago. Liverpool closed ⅛@¼c per bu lower.

Claim Corn Sold for Export.

Rumors that small lots of American corn had been sold for export prevailed in the grain trade yesterday and were a factor in advancing the May ⅝c over the previous close to 28¼c, the best price since Dec. 2. However, the sales lacked confirmation and the market eased later with wheat, closing ⅛c lower to ⅛c higher, with May at 27⅞c, July 29¼c, and September 30⅝c.

Bids for cash corn at the gulf were reported as within 1c of a working basis, and there were inquiries received by local handlers for cash corn from seaboard export interests.

Oats were firmer early only to react with corn later and close ¼c lower, with May at 17½c and July at 17⅞c. Commission houses were buyers while the elevator interests sold. Further buying of May rye against sales of wheat were in evidence, the former being taken at 13c discount. The finish was at net losses of ½@1¼c, with May 36¼c and July 35⅝c. Barley lost ⅝c, with May at 28½c, favorable news from Washington regarding the beer bill being without effect.

BUTTER SHARPLY LOWER

Butter and egg futures declined abruptly on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday, butter losses being 1@1¼c or $192 to $240 per car. Eggs closed from ¼c to 1⅜c lower. Selling in butter started at the opening as a result of bearish production news and gained headway when the storage figures also proved bearish.

The centralizers reported production 2 per cent greater than last year and the four markets showed a net inward movement of stocks 265,000 lbs greater than last year. Liquidation was heavy with new selling in the February. While covering and new buying came in on the decline, the buying was not active enough to hold the market. January fresh first eggs dropped rapidly as a result of increasing fresh supplies and a weak spot market. Sales: Butter, 194 cars; eggs, 47 cars. Deliveries: Butter, 20 cars. Prices follow:

COTTONSEED OIL.

NEW YORK, Jan. 12.—(AP)—COTTONSEED OIL—Bleachable was irregular today with the January position higher on covering and trade buying while the rest of the list was easier under liquidation promoted by the easiness of lard and the late reaction in cotton and grains. Final prices were 3 points higher for January and 4 to 5 points lower for other active positions. Tenders on January were twelve contracts. Sales were eighteen contracts, equivalent to 2,700 brls. The census report placed the consumption of oil during December at 184,208 brls, against 245,180 in November and 205,594 in December, 1931. Visible supply, 3,081,000 brls, against 3,013,318 in November and 2,549,668 in December, 1931. The consumption report was considered bearish and may have accounted for some of the selling, as the trade was expecting a disappearance of 225,000 brls. Bleachable spot closed 3.75c, January 3.78c, March 3.88c, May 3.96c, July 4.06c.

SMALL TRADE IN LARD; PRICES RANGE LOWER

A stronger tone in the hog market was not sufficient to prevent an easing of prices for lard, owing to the limited supply of buying orders, and a little more pressure to sell. The close was 7½c lower on January, and 5c off on other deliveries. Loose lard was said to be offered more freely at $3.75, with regular at $4.30, and leaf at $3.75.

Bellies were 5c higher on January and 5c lower on May, with cash lots $3.87½. Cash trade in meats was fair with some packers asking higher prices.

Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d higher. Export clearances of lard were only 19,600 lbs and of bacon 150,000 lbs. Pork loins were higher at 6½@9c. Prices follow:

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Jan. 12.—The bond market maintained a strong tone today but the recent pace of the rise was stepped down somewhat.

Softness developed among United States government securities, which was taken in some quarters to reflect the fear that the forthcoming federal reserve statement will show a decline in government holdings.

Losses in the government list were limited to small fractions, but were spread evenly between various maturities. Liberty fourth 4¼s, refunding of which is being actively discussed in Wall street, were fractionally lower.

Domestic Liens Slower.

Domestic corporation bonds slowed down considerably from the rapid pace which was set yesterday. Though gains still were predominant, rail issues again led the advance, followed by miscellaneous industrials.

A further vigorous advance in German bonds featured dealings in the foreign section. The government 7s and 5s mounted to new highs since the fall of 1931. In a few reich issues gains extended to more than 5 points. Among these were Saxon Mortgage Institute 6½s, Silesia Electric 6½s and others.

South Americans Gain.

High grade rail and utility bonds again attracted most of the buying in the over the counter market. Gains in these divisions were most pronounced in Burlington 5s, Duquesne Light 4½s, Long Island debenture 5s, issues of the Pennsylvania Railroad and others.

Consolidated Gas Co. of New York.

I would appreciate information on Consolidated Gas of New York, both common and preferred.—Miss M. F.

Consolidated Gas company of New York furnishes gas and electricity to the greater part of New York City and Westchester county, N. Y. It is one of the largest utility organizations, serving one of the most densely populated areas in the world.

About one-fifth of revenues is from sale of gas. The balance is almost entirely from sale of electricity. About 31½ per cent of electricity is taken by domestic and small commercial consumers, about 37½ per cent by industrial consumers, about 16½ per cent by other utilities, and 14½ per cent is used by the company itself or lost in transmission. About 80 per cent of gas sold is purchased by domestic consumers and about 20 per cent by industrial consumers.

Operating revenues for the first nine months of 1932 were $172,349,000 and net income was $43,459,000, or $3.03 per common share. For the corresponding 1931 period operating revenues were $179,686,000 and net income was $50,006,000, or $3.59 per common share. Sales of electricity declined 1.7 per cent from the corresponding 1931 period and gas sales declined 2½ per cent, a smaller decline than that reported by the industry as a whole. Gross revenues declined about 4 per cent because of rate reductions.

Operating revenues for 1931 were $242,408,000, against $238,758,000 the year before, $230,997,000 for 1929, and $212,595,000 [not including New York Steam corporation acquired at a later date] for 1928. Net in 1931 was $68,174,000, or $4.94 per common share, against $69,262,000, or $5.06 per common share, for 1930. Net for 1929 was $66,312,000, against $59,553,000 for 1928. The decline in 1931 from 1930 in the face of increased gross was due to increased interest charges and taxes.

As of Oct. 31, 1932, current assets were about $84,000,000 and current liabilities were about $38,000,000. Cash alone was $17,000,000.

On Dec. 31, 1931, funded debt was $312,768,000. There were outstanding 2,099,249 shares of $5 cumulative no par preferred and 11,476,527 shares of no par common. The common pays $1 a quarter.

Large volume of sales for domestic uses has been instrumental in maintaining stability of operations. The tie-up with Niagara Hudson Power has given it a source of additional demands when they develop. There is always the possibility of further rate reductions. The company has found that reductions in rates have usually increased demand.

Both the preferred and common are high grade.

Miscellaneous.

MEN.
On account of the steady progress and growth of our company we are in a position to take on a few additional men from time to time; the requirements for these positions are quite reasonable so that the average man of good habits and clean cut appearance will stand a fair chance of being employed.
This company has been uniquely successful throughout this depression—in fact, 1932 was our third successive record sales year. In line with our steady gains in business the earnings of our men are higher; not only are more men earning $50.00 and $75.00 a week but in recent months we have issued many weekly pay checks running between $100.00 and $250.00 throughout the entire country. These earnings, of course, are generally made by more experienced men, but there are exceptions where new men have quickly advanced themselves to the higher incomes.
Similar positions are available in our local office to a few more men who are qualified to learn this work, and who would be satisfied with earnings of $125.00 monthly while learning, provided they saw opportunities for increases with experience; the men accepted for these positions will be given a very thorough course of training free of charge.

SOLUTION TO FORDNEY SAVES HIS LIFE

The salt shaker handed Fordney by Schwars was WARM. He knew, therefore, that Schwars had it in his pocket hoping to substitute it for the shaker on the table, which was naturally much cooler to the touch.

His only reason for doing so would be to poison Fordney. It was found to contain arsenical crystals which would have poisoned the professor had he salted his food with the shaker.
